WHITE MOUNTAINS KEARSARGE VILLAGE, N. H.

THE SUMMER RESIDENCE of Mr. FRED I. PRATT, at the foot of Mt. Kearsarge, one and one-half miles from North Conway, and over 100 feet higher elevation, IS FOR SALE.

It is most charmingly situated, being entirely surrounded by lofty mountains. It consists of about 20 acres, extending into the celebrated Cathedral Woods, the grandeur of which cannot be surpassed by anything of the kind in the country. It is a direct line through the magnificent stretch of lofty pines, you reach the Intervale Station, on the Boston & Maine Railroad, and in close proximity to all the hotels of the Intervale Section, so popular with the summer tourist. The house has all the modern conveniences, the purest of mountain spring water, bathroom, electric lights, cemented cellar, with large Smith & Anthony furnace, sealed overhead eleven rooms, including seven large chambers, and large store attic; fine piazzas on all sides, three open fireplaces, and all the luxuries of an up-to-date house. Connected with and belonging to this property is the finest howling alley in the State. Two regulation alleys, fine large casino, covering 1200 feet, 14 feet wide, finished in hardwood, (laminated and polished), with floor prepared for dancing, and a grand big fireplace capable of accommodating a four-foot log. The location cannot be surpassed for fine mountain scenery, and being within 60 miles of Portland and but 14 miles from Boston, make it the most accessible location in the mountain region.

This property, including the furnishings, is in perfect order. Kearsarge Village has facilities for easy communication with the whole country, being supplied with Post Office, telephone and long distance telephone, daily newspapers, and all the accessories incidental to a typical New England town.

MEMORIAL DAY

Perfect Weather and Impressive Services at Cemetery

Excellent Speeches at Post Dinner in Temple Hall Newtonville

Charles Ward Post 62, with the accompaniment of perfect weather fittingly observed the orders of the National Department, on Wednesday in the celebration of Memorial Day. During the morning the local cemeteries and that at Mt. Auburn were decorated, and a graceful tribute to those lost at sea was given at Newton Lower Falls, where flowers were cast into the Charles River while Rev. Mr. Cole read selections from the Scriptures and Past Dept Commander W. A. Wetherbee read a poem, "The Tribute Bearer."

The exercises of the afternoon began at Newton Centre where the members of the Post, 92 in number, were given a lunch at the engine house, on invitation of Newton Centre friends.

The procession formed at one o'clock near the Rice School and marched in review before Mayor Warren and the city government in front of the telephone exchange on Beacon street, thence through Beacon and Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery.

The parade was as follows: Platoon of police under Lieut. Soule.

Mayor Warren was the first speaker, introduced as a "man of action rather than words," and was received with three rousing cheers and a tiger.

Mayor Warren said that this was the day of all others which belonged exclusively to the Grand Army, and he would but express the deep gratitude of all the people for the heroic deeds of those who had died and those who were still living.

Lieut. Col. Robert B. Edes, the chief marshal, expressed his thanks for the honor of the post he had filled during the day and thanked the various organizations which had paraded for their promptness and soldierly bearing.

In introducing the next speaker, Commander Haynie said in part: "We have with us this afternoon, a friend and fellow citizen who has already ravished this Post, not only by the manner but by the matter of his speech. He is not a man who exhausts his subject and himself at every effort, but is one who suggests a region of thought, a dim vista of imagery, an oceanic depth of feeling, beyond what is compassed by his sentences. As you will soon see, the thoughts he so eloquently utters only surprise you of the nearness of a world whose thoughts are unuttered. I have the great pleasure of presenting our Associate Member Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson."

CHIEF MARSHAL

Chief Marshal Lieut. Col. Robert B. Edes, Lieut. Col. W. L. Sanborn, Adjutant General, Brig. Gen. W. B. Emery, Chief of Staff, aids and Associate members of Chas. Ward Post.

Swift's Band.
Clad in Guard, Co. C 5th Regt. M. V. M., Capt. G. F. Guilford.
Chas. Ward Post 62, Commander Henry Haynie.
Post Drum Corps, George P. Flood, leader.
11th Co. Corps Coast Artillery, Capt. F. L. Whiting.
J. Wiley Edmunds Camp 31 S. V., Burt Moulton, Commander.
Thomas Burnett Camp, S. W. V., Mrs. Cunningham Tent, D. V., City Government.

Arriving at the cemetery, the exercises took place around the Soldiers' Monument, under charge of Commander Haynie. Post Chaplain Putnam offered prayer, and was followed by the reading of the orders of the Day and Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Past Commander Wetherbee. A pleasing innovation was the singing by a group of young girls from the Mason school, under direction of the Master, Mr. Copeland. The girls were provided with small flags and their young voices, and the waving flags made a pleasing combination. Taps were sounded by Chief Bugler Williams and Rev. Mr. Birney of Newton Centre then delivered the oration. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Cole and the procession reformed and wended its way to the Post Hall at Newtonville, a stop being made at the High School to allow a photograph to be made of the Post.

The dinner was served at Temple Hall, Commander Haynie presiding. Seated at the head table were Commander Haynie, Mayor Warren, President Carter, and Aldermen White, Stone, Beck, Doherty, Hunt, Cabot, Bosson, Weston and Converse. Lieut. Col. Edes, Major Barnes, Lieut. Wilson of the Cavalry, Sergt. Major Harold Daniels, Chief Bugler Geo. Williams, Hon. G. D. Gilman, City Solicitor Slocum, City Clerk, Col. Kingsbury, Assessor L. E. Coffin, Overseer of the Poor Fowle, Representative J. F. Lathrop, Rev. A. L. Hudson, Rev. T. L. Cole, Past Commanders Patten, Hyde and Sweetland, Senior Vice, W. H. Partridge, Past Commander J. H. Wentworth, S. V., ex-aldermen G. H. Melken, Reuben Forknall, Walter Chesley and C. S. Ensign, Seward W. Jones and John F. Payne.

An excellent menu was served, the ladies of Mrs. Cunningham Tent acting as waitresses and the dinner being enlivened with music from the band. In opening the post prandial exercises, Commander Haynie said: While at Harvard a certain illustrious American was not the off hand eloquent speaker he is now. One day he was trying to repeat a poem in public, and he got as far as the line: "When Greece, her knee in supplication bent," and there he stuck. Three times he said, "When Greece, her knee in supplication bent," and each time he failed to get on. Then one of the fellows shouted out, "Teddy, suppose you grease her knee once more, and then perhaps she'll go." Gentlemen and comrades, here's to a comrade soldier, the President of the United States. The toast was acknowledged by the entire company rising.

As you will soon see, the thoughts he so eloquently utters only surprise you of the nearness of a world whose thoughts are unuttered. I have the great pleasure of presenting our Associate Member Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson. Rev. Mr. Hudson said that any occasion which brought together so many kinds of people must be of value. He saw here the young men who had expressed a willingness to defend our country; citizens who thus far have had no occasion to test their patriotism; and veterans who had experienced that which is good in them. There was never a time when the United States needs more touch with you veterans and draw inspiration from your presence and deeds, and they would be equally ready to emulate the sacrifice and the nobility of your actions. They are ready for camp and field to fit themselves for their country's service, and feel that loyalty for country, to give their lives and all that is good in them. ## BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

The Committee on Railroads reported Tuesday the long anticipated merger bill, so called, and the legislature will now have an opportunity to do a little clean legislation in a clean manner. This matter is perhaps well known in a general way and needs nothing more than a passing notice by way of explanation.

The Boston & Maine R. R., being a Massachusetts corporation, is deprived, under the law, from buying the stock of Street Railroad Companies, a privilege which foreign railroad companies enjoy and are now exercising. This bill, if it becomes a law, grants to the Boston & Maine the same rights now taken advantage of by the New Haven, the New York Central and other railroads now entering Massachusetts and engaging in the transportation business here. The Boston & Maine is therefore obviously laboring under a great disadvantage, and Massachusetts is asked to relieve by legislation an unfair condition. The Boston & Maine is clearly a New England institution of great value and possibilities. In its last annual report, it says, that:

"Of the 2,286 miles of road now operated as the Boston & Maine R. R., all except 122 miles in the State of New York, and 38 miles in the Dominion of Canada, lies within the States of Massachusetts, Maine and Vermont. It is therefore distinctly a New England enterprise, and the results of its operation for any considerable number of consecutive years furnish not only reliable data upon which its own business vitality may be satisfactorily determined, but in like manner epitomize and illustrate the growth and virility of the varied and extensive New England industries, upon which its stability and prosperity so largely depends."

Some idea of the magnitude of the volume of the transportation business of this industry can be gathered from the fact that the total earnings from operation for the year 1905 were over thirty six millions of dollars, and it is worthy of note that its operating expenses for the same period, were nearly twenty-seven millions. By this last item, it will be observed what it is worth as an industry to the community it serves. Of course the Boston & Maine has always had its enemies, the same as had every railroad industry now operating in the Commonwealth, but these enemies, being long largely to the class that has for its motto, "When you see a corporation, hit it," but the thinking, observing citizens see the value of the Boston & Maine as a great transportation industry in New England, and take pride in its prosperity for they realize that if one twentieth of the wealth of the United States is within fifty miles of Boston; one fifth of the savings of the American people is in the Massachusetts Savings & Co-operative Banks; and that New England has more varied industries than any other like territory in the country, it is exceedingly important that the transportation facilities should not be hampered by denying just and needed legislation.

It will be recalled that several years ago, the Boston & Maine petitioned the legislature for authority to purchase the shares of stock of any railroad corporation whose lines were operated by that company. President Tuttle testified that although at the time he was connected with the New Haven road, he considered that the leasing of the Connecticut River road to the Boston & Maine was the wisest thing that the latter road ever did, and that the New Haven was after the Connecticut road, and wanted it for the purpose of draining Northern New England into New York City, whereas the road had always drained into Boston, and under the Boston & Maine management, would continue to bring northern New England to the Boston port. The wisdom of the Boston & Maine in securing the Connecticut River has been demonstrated continuously since that time, and the value to Boston of that transaction can hardly be over estimated. This instance, together with the leasing of the Fitchburg, and other transactions, is cited as showing the far reaching policy of this Massachusetts corporation in its promotion of the interests of New England.

The Massachusetts legislature commends the open and above-board manner in which the Boston & Maine road has always asked legislation, and it will hardly deny this latest petition for a right which is so palpably just and fair.

Has the House applied the "sliding scale" to its career? For the first time within the recollection of any living man, the name of the old Commonwealth has been disgraced by one of her servants, who has resorted to the low and debasing conduct of a thug in the corridors of the State House while he was serving as a legislator. It was only last week that it was said in this column that one of the conditions which always confronted the legislature was the presence within its membership of an element which should never be members of a law-making body. Before the ink was dry that printed that proposition, a member of the House, whose name has been unfavorably mentioned with the Bucket Shop Bribery matter, demonstrated the truthfulness of the assertion, by making a personal assault upon another member, accompanied by an oath; generally those things go together, and disgracing the fair, but dimming, name of the Massachusetts legislature. The next day the assailant came into the House, made an apology and was answered by Speaker Cole, with the guarded expression, "The House will receive the member's apology." Generally that is not a final disposition of a matter. Representative Mock received the blow from Gethro's fist, and Gethro's apology will hardly end the incident. The House received the apology which can never overtake the cowardly act of the day before, as the news of it covered the continent before the apology was thought of.

The question was asked the other day, "Who is the leader of the Senate this year?" and for once, it was not a difficult question to answer. As the session has advanced, the fact has become more and more apparent that the Senate would be entirely without a leader, except for the presence of Senator Dana. In most instances, nothing would be more natural than to consider that the presiding officer would be the leader of a body, but oftentimes such is not the fact, in the upper branch. As one looks over the Chamber and follows the daily routine, he fails to discover a man who can command any considerable following, and perhaps it were better so. It is possible that there is more liberty of action and freedom of thought where there is an absence of a leader. Certain it is, that a man can hardly tell how a matter is going to land until it has been finally disposed of in the only "House of Lords" that Massachusetts possesses. A bill in the Senate is a good deal like a piece of paper in the windy streets of Boston, its course is mighty uncertain, and as Judge Ames says, full of all subtlety. President Dana labors under a disadvantage in being obliged to come down from the Chair and assume control of affairs, but there seems to be no help for it, and the query arises, what will be done when the Senator from the first Middlesex District is not found in his accustomed place. But "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Lawson and Moran say that they have been thwarted. Then the investigation has not been altogether a failure, for, if it has covered the tracks of some members, it has uncovered the ways of the Trinity, even though the House has not brought that precious group before its bar. By the way, how would it do to put over the entrance to the Star Chamber, that passage from the prayer book. "And left undone those things which we ought to have done."

EDGAR J. BLISS.

Y. M. C. A.

At this season of the year it is the desire of every boy to get out into the woods and away from the conventionalities of the cities. In this, the Young Men's Christian Association state camps offer splendid opportunities. One situated on the Maine coast half way between Boothbay and Rockland, and the other in the Berkshire Hills; just beside the little town of Becket. It is to the latter that most of the Newton boys will go. And at the present time this city stands at the head of the list as having the largest camping delegation in the state, and the applications are still coming in. Owing to the fact that the camp will be limited to one hundred boys a week during this season there is likelihood of some being left out and placed on the waiting list; unless the names are received at once. The party will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Ward, Boys' Work Director of the Y. M. C. A., and anyone desiring further information may communicate with him at the association office.

The camp is situated on a two hundred acre farm in the prettiest part of the Berkshire Hills and faces on Rudd Lake, a body of clear crystal water about the size of Wauban Lake and entirely surrounded by hills. The lake affords excellent opportunities for swimming, sailing, and rowing. For the fellow who has as yet not learned the art of swimming there is always on hand during regular periods an instructor, whose duty it is to help and encourage and of the one hundred and sixty-two boys who were present last season, not one returned home who was not able to swim. Camp rules are not irksome and only such as are necessary to safety are made. The boys are expected to act for the best interests of the entire camp, and it is in this spirit that prevails throughout the entire season. The boys sleep in tents, five boys and an adult leader, but the meals are furnished in the mountain Lodge. Here also is the Fire-Place reading room and library. On stormy evenings is the general rendezvous and gathered around the mammoth fireplace for marsh mellow roasts or an evening "sing" are scenes not soon to be forgotten. Time never drags there is always something "doing." In the morning the camp duties (for each fellow has his share of the work to do), trips into the woods, boating, swimming and games. In the afternoon comes the athletic sports and the base-ball games between the teams of the camp league. While at night comes some of the pleasantest times of all, when gathered around the big fire on the campus for the stories, "jolly," talks, and the like. For the boy who has been to camp it is not necessary to go into the details and for the fellow who has never felt the subtle call of the woods it can not be explained, it can only be realized.

"Have you smelled wood smoke at twilight? Have you heard the birch log burning? Are you quick to read the noises of the night? You must follow with the others, for the young men's feet are turning To the camps of proved desire and known delight." Kipling.

Descriptive booklets may be had on request.

The first athletic meet for Sunday school teams of this city will be held under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C. A. at the Newton A. A. grounds at Newton Centre on June 2nd. There will be ten events and it is expected that a majority of the 35 schools of the Newton will be represented.

Entries will close with the physical director LaRose of the Y. M. C. A. on May 28th. The events will be for boys ranging from 12 to 21 years in age and will be run off in three classes. For boys from 17 to 19 there will be a two hundred yard dash and a running high jump. Boys from 15 to 17 will compete in a 100 yard dash and a running broad jump. For boys of from 12 to 15 there will be a 50 yard dash and a 50 yard sneaker and high shoe race. As an extra event for boys from 19 to 21 there will be an 880 yard run, while for boys more than 19 there will be a 440 yard banana race.

The sneaker and high shoe race promises to be great sport. In the first event street shoes of the competitors will be mixed in a heap at the 25 yard mark. The contestants will run 25 yards in sneakers, find their street shoes and then run 25 yards to the finish. In the banana race the fruit will be placed in bags, and at various places around the track. The competitor finishing with the most bananas in his possession wins the race.

Mass. Press.

Members of the Massachusetts Press Association were most hospitably entertained on Monday by the United Shoe Machinery Company at their immense factory at Beverly. The party travelled from Boston in a special car, provided by the Boston & Maine Railroad Company and were left at the door of the factory, which is some distance from the Beverly station. The plant of the Machinery Company is entirely modern in lay out and equipment, and was constructed under a committee of which Mr. Walter B. Trowbridge of this city was chairman. Its cost was approximately $1,000,000, and notwithstanding it was only occupied a year ago, work has already begun on an addition which will add 60 per cent to its capacity. The Company manufactures the various machines used in the manufacture of shoes and last week turned out 325 complete machines, and usually averages an output of 60,000 parts. It employs over 2500 hands, mostly men and its weekly payroll is rising $30,000. To the average man, the one thing which appeals irresistibly to the mind, while peering through what seems miles of iron, surrounded by hundreds of machines of various kinds and uses, is the immensity of it all, and an increasing admiration for the wonderful results of the human brain. Here, for instance was a machine, which given a sample shoe last, at one end, would turn out an exact duplicate at the other from a shapless lump of wood. The revolving knives which did the work travelling at a speed which defied the eye to follow. At another place pieces of steel, to be planed were held in place by an electric magnet, thereby eliminating the awkward and time consuming clamp. The screw making machine, which automatically turned out 1800 complete screws, with thread, and slotted head, from straight pieces of steel rod attracted much attention.

The Company provides excellent bathing and toilet facilities for its employees, an emergency hospital, where 15 or 16 are treated daily for minor accidents, and a lunch room, where a course dinner is furnished for 20 cents to several hundred each day. The women and girls have a well lighted resting room, and lockers and bathing privileges like the men.

The Association were entertained at lunch and then taking a special car provided by the Boston & Northern Company went to Beverly where the courtesies of the city were extended by the Beverly Board of Trade, and the Beverly Historical Society. A visit to the finely equipped plant of the Beverly Evening Times was a feature of the day which appealed to the newspaper men present and Brother Albert Vittum was warmly congratulated upon the splendid facilities at his disposal.

Dramatics.

An artistic and financially successful three act entertainment was presented by local talent, in Waban hall last Saturday afternoon and evening. Although but a short time had been spent in its preparation, it deserves to rank high among the excellent theatrical performances by which the town has gained a considerable reputation in the past. No little credit is due to the individual members of the cast, and to Mr. J. E. Heymer, who directed. The opening act was the excellent old comedy "Box and Cox" and the actors Mr. N. M. Buffum and Mr. E. H. Robinson with Miss Marion Leslie Knott earned sincere praise for a well balanced and humorous presentation. "Two College Tramps" was then given by children under the direction of Mr. Robinson the cast including Master Irving Heymer, Master Fred Williams, Miss Katherine Oakes, Miss Dorothy Winchester and Miss Evelyn Comer. All showed careful study and training and acted with considerable ease and expression.

The final sketch, a farce "The fellow who looks like me" was acted by Mr. H. Stewart Bosson and Mr. G. M. Angier, both favorites as comedians, assisted by Mrs. T. N. James. Needless to say the applause was hearty and continuous throughout.

Miss Bertha Cook was at the piano.

Horse Show.

The third open air horse show of the Chestnut Hill Club was held on the chest grounds on Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill last Wednesday afternoon and, as usual, was the society event of the season, attracting a large audience of representative people.

An enjoyable program was carried out and the awards by the judges, Francis W. Lee, George S. Mandell, Arthur Steadman, A. Vignolles, Dr. H. L. Morse and Gen. Francis Peabody Jr., met with universal satisfaction. Newton people were well represented in the distribution of ribbons, Mr. E. S. Webster being second and Mrs. L. A. Shaw fourth in the event for pairs of horses, Walter W. Weld, first, Miss Caroline L. Fessenden, second and Miss Nora Saltonstall fourth in the children's pony class, W. W. Weld first, and Miss Saltonstall second and third in the children's jumping event, Miss Emily W. Stearns, first in ladies' saddle class, Mr. A. W. Weld, third in the tandem class, Mr. E. S. Webster, fourth in the gentlemen's saddle, W. W. Weld, second in the jumping pony event, Mrs. E. S. Webster, first in ladies' single horse in harness, Mr. R. M. Saltonstall, first, Mr. G. L. West, second and Mr. F. W. Stearns fourth in the gentlemen's single horse in harness.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

The Claflin Guard Dramatic Club gave a minstrel show in the Needham Town Hall, Tuesday evening in aid of the San Francisco Relief Fund. It was a great success.

The company turned out with full ranks on Memorial Day on their annual tour as escort to the Charles Ward Post G. A. R. The performance of this duty by the Guard is always a pleasure, and they never showed to better advantage than on this occasion, as, under command of Capt. Guilford, they swung down Beacon street with a strong military stride, heads erect, their highly polished brasses and equipments glistening brightly in the sun, and with perfect alignment, they passed in review before his Honor the Mayor. After the exercises at the cemetery, the column moved down to Newtonville where the parade was dismissed. The company after having a picture taken in front of the High School, moved down to the armory where they partook of a sumptuous repast through the courtesy of Charles Ward Post.

Members of the company are organizing a baseball team which will probably give a good account of itself during the coming months.

The Shirt Waist Party to be held on Friday evening June 8th promises to be very successful.

The interest in the Trip to Ottawa is unabated and the company is working hard to perfect themselves in their company work, which is already most satisfactory.

Base Ball.

The game Wednesday morning on the Cedar street grounds between Newton High and Brookline High in the Preparatory league, virtually settled the championship in Newton's favor, as that team won by score of 4 to 1. The feature of the game was a triple play, Brookline at bat, with men on first and second and none out seemed sure of at least one run. The ball was hit towards Hobart at second, who reached it in time to put out the man running to that base. By quick fielding the man running to first was out and as the runner from second attempted to reach home he was put out at the plate. The play won the hearty approval of the thousand or more spectators.

Herrick-Cooley.

The Auburndale Congregational church was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday evening, when Miss Grace Frances Cooley, the daughter of Mr. William H. Cooley of Auburndale, became the bride of Mr. Olin Fisk Herrick of the same village. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. E. E. Strong, the church being beautified by arches of bridal wreaths over the aisles and a screen of greens from Alabama, potted plants and palms before the pulpit.

The bride was gowned in cream white satin, with Irish point lace and wore a tulle veil with a wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers. She was escorted to the church by the arm of her father, and preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Julia D. Cooley of Auburndale, dressed in light blue mouseline de soie, over light blue silk, with coronet and bouquet of white sweet peas, the bridesmaids, the Misses Harriet S. Fiske of Middletown, Conn., Helen M. Manro of Auburn, N. Y., Marian Herrick and Anna L. Tower of Auburndale, gowned alike in white over pink silk and with coronets and bouquets of pink sweet peas, and the ushers, Messrs. James G. Herrick of Boston, Theodore S. Cooley of Auburndale, Samuel F. Crowell of Roshdale and Ashbury H. Herrick of Cambridge.

The party was met at the church by the groom accompanied by his best man, Mr. Franklin S. Durstin of Washington, D. C.

A wedding reception followed at the Cooley residence on Central street, Mr. and Mrs. Herrick being assisted in receiving by Mr. W. H. Cooley, Miss Cooley and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Herrick.

The receiving party stood in front of a bank of evergreen and bridal wreaths and the dining room was attractive with wreaths and pinks.

Dog Show.

In spite of the inclement weather of the last two days everything will be in apple pie order for the Dog Show, to be held at Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, on Friday and Saturday next. Judging will commence promptly at 10 o'clock in three large rings on the croquet ground, and the judges, exhibitors and dogs will be protected from the expected heat by a large marquee tent. Judges Mortimer and Oldham will arrive from New York Thursday and spend the night at Auburndale starting in with their work Friday morning and continuing straight on through their respective breeds. The grand special prize offered by Spratt's Patent, (America) Limited of $50 in gold will be judged directly after luncheon on Friday the first day of the show.

The Boston Terrier judging, the most prominent feature of the shows in New England, at the special request of many exhibitors, breeders and fanciers of this popular breed will commence promptly at 10 A. M. Saturday June 2d, with Walter H. Hanley (cup). Judging of the all round special by all the judges present will be the feature of Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Reggie Vanderbilt's Old English sheep dogs will be there and the showing of cocker spaniels excels any dog show of the season. There are 100 entries of Boston terriers and Mr. Hanley the well known Providence polo player will find them more difficult than a back hand ball. The show is in aid of that splendid charity the Floating Hospital.

NEW ENGLAND A SCENIC PARADISE

Rich in Rivers, Mountains, Lakes and Sea-Shore.

New England's wealth of scenery comprises every variety, spacious and verdant meadow lands, watered by beautiful rivers and streams; miles and miles of thickly covered forest fields; rich agricultural districts, lofty and pier piercing mountain peaks and the most magnificent stretch of seashore to be found in the country. The vacationist who seeks a haunt for a rest of a week or two can be sure of suiting his desire in the collection of New England Resorts. The lakes and rivers of New England, crystal like sheets, shining like silver jewels amidst their verdant surroundings, offer every inducement which richness of scenery, opportunity for pastime, and pure atmosphere can confer. The rivers, which include not only the beautiful and rolling Connecticut and the winding Merrimack but scores of other streams of lesser volume but none the less beautiful, these are the haunts or rather the pathways for the enthusiastic camper or cottager, who finds his fun during the summer season in paddling a canoe. The mountains of New England are her grandest possessions. In Massachusetts, old Greylock, Saddle Back and the Hoosac and Berkshire peaks are a perfect elysium during July and August for summer guests. In New Hampshire the towering summits of the grand and gorgeous White Mountains can be appreciated only by the person whose good fortune has led him to select this region as his vacation place. The wonders of the famous Crawford Notch and the superb scenery and marvelous handiwork of Nature, viewed in the Profile Notch, together with the sumptuous luxuriant hotels and their surroundings, are alone sufficient to advertise this section as the "summer resort" of America; but then the healthful atmosphere and altitude of these resorts have made them also the most invigorating and exhilarating of vacation places. The seashore of Northern New England stretches from Boston Harbor to Eastport, Me. It is one long succession of ideal coves, wave-washed cliffs, smooth and sandy beaches, and, clustered everywhere, the liveliest and jolliest of summer gatherings; Gloucester, Rockport, Marblehead, Magnolia, Manchester by the Sea, Hampton, Salisbury, York, Peaks Island, and famous Bar Harbor are among the number.

New England has also other attractions besides the lake, river, seashore and mountain places. She has a bevy of historical wealth, attractions which are to be found nowhere else in such number and with such interesting associations on this continent. Lexington, Concord, Cambridge, Waltham, Newburyport, Medford, Portsmouth, York, Me., are a few of the places "where history was made." And although Northern New England has much to boast of, she does not lay claim to all as almost every traveler, who has journeyed west from Boston via the Fitchburg route or traveled east to Boston via the same route, will agree. Western Massachusetts, indeed that whole intervening space from the Charles River to the banks of the Hudson, possesses scenery and attractions of superior merit. The vacationist who plans a visit of a week or two during the coming season, can do no better than to write to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine R. R., Boston, enclosing thirty-six cents in stamps for a set of beautiful portfolios, containing the best of half-tone reproductions of views in these regions, size, 6 x 4, and delightfully bound with artistic lettering in gold on the covers of each book. These books of these "Lakes," "Mountains," "Lakes," "Seashores of New England," and "Picturesque New England," and "The Charles River to the Hudson."

The Olympic Games.

Mr. Gordon Allen of Waltham Street West Newton, who was present at the Olympic Games at Athens writes to the New York Evening Post as follows:

Athens, May 2.—Only those of us who have been in Athens several months realize how changed the whole city is by the games. The thousands of visitors who have been coming in for a month past are responsible for much of the change, of course, filling up the streets and the sidewalk cafes, and making a Babel of tongues such as one hears if he sits at a cafe in Paris and listens to the crowd as it passes—very different from the usual state of affairs here when Greek and French are the only tongues heard. The visitors are by no means all Europeans and Americans—Cretans and Asia Minor Greeks, in their picturesque costumes of loose blue trousers (so baggy that the seat of the trousers is not as low as the ankles), bolero jackets, and Howard Pyle pirate bandannas would round their heads, are seen everywhere, with ugly-looking clubs in their hands and knives in the open pocket of their big leather belts; the peasants from Macedonia, Thessaly, and Albania, in snowy linen skirts and rep caps, swing along disdaining to show by staring that this is their first visit to a city.

The Athenians themselves are picturesque enough until they begin wearing "store clothes"—the lower class still wear the fustanella, the knee-skirt or kilt, with, I have forgotten how many, yards of stuff in it, and the scarlet cap and tasseled shoes which form the national costume; the women wear dresses of white wool, covered with heavy blue and green or yellow-and-red embroidery. Everywhere are smart officers, in shiny boots and tight-waisted jackets—they seem to have nothing to do but to strut about the squares and the sidewalks, and as a matter of fact almost outnumber the soldiers. Instead of one second-class band, which plays during the winter on fine Sundays in the square in front of the King's palace, there are now all sorts of music, from an excellent Italian opera troupe down to street pianos, playing Turkish music—a most surprising combination when you hear it for the first time.

THE MARATHON RACE'S IMPORTANCE.

All the year the games have been the great topic of conversation. The Americans won so many prizes in 1896 that the Athenians expected them to carry off everything again this year—except the Marathon race, which the Greeks had set their hearts on; they would have been quite content to lose everything else if they could have won that again.

The Death of the King of Denmark, throwing the court into mourning so soon before the games, put a damper on the enthusiasm for awhile, and for a long time it was feared that King Edward and Queen Alexandra would not come. So there was great rejoicing when it was announced that the King and Queen were on the way, and also the Prince and Princess of Wales, journeying home from India. Prince Louis of Battenberg had arrived a few days before, with three of the squadron which visited America last autumn. When King Edward's yacht and the four cruisers with him were nearly due from Corin, the Battenberg squadron steamed out fifteen or twenty miles to meet them, and accompanied them to Phalaron Bay, each ship firing a salute of twenty-one guns, the marines standing at attention in white helmets and scarlet coats, while the band played "God Save the King." King George met them at the pier, and they drove to the palace between cheering crowds.

ROYALTY'S VISIT TO THE SCHOOLS. The next day the English and American Schools of Classical Study, which are together, somewhat out of the city on the slopes of Lycabettus, were visited by the royal party—the two Kings and Queens, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the Crown Prince and Princess of Greece. They visited the British School first, and then sent word over to the American School that they would like to come. The director was in Delphi, so the four young men who live at the school had to receive them, and do the honors of the house. King Edward was very informal and appeared much interested in the school, admiring the marble staircase in the hall, and the quiet library.

Queen Alexandra, who was simply dressed in black, with a shade hat instead of the usual bonnet, impressed one by her gracious manner—it is a state word, but it applies. She was enthusiastic over the beautiful garden, and the view from the marble-columned balcony out to Lycabettus and the sea. The Greeks are not over-fond of kings, and there is usually little or no enthusiasm when King George drives through the streets, although personally he is liked very well. But when he and Queen Alexandra passed down the middle of the big stadium the other day to open the games, followed by King Edward and Queen Olga and all the princes and princesses, the crowd looked like a crowd in our American stadium at a Harvard-Yale game, when the team comes on the field—cheering, clapping, and waving their hats, while the band played alternately the Greek national air and "God Save the King."

If you have never seen the Athens stadium it is hard to realize its size; it holds twice as many people as the one at Harvard, and the soldiers around the top look like a row of black-headed pins against the sky. The bright plumes of the officers among the crowd and a few brilliant costumes from the country made almost the only apparent difference from any similar crowd at home, though one missed the pretty girls who always make our crowds so attractive.

About the most picturesque feature of the games was the way the winners were indicated. Above a score-board somewhat like the boards used at home, were three tall flag-staffs, for first, second, and third place in each event. A sailor wig-wagged with two red flags from the centre of the stadium to the men stationed at the flag-staffs, who ran up the three flags, while a bugle played—it was very seldom that the American colors were not on at least one of the poles, and sometimes they were on all three.

It is needless to tell what a good showing the American team made in all their events; they also did a service to good sportmanship by starting the applause for an Austrian who entered in the weight-lifting. There had been a rumor, sprung by two Greeks, that this Austrian had lifted weights for money in Constantinople, and though it was not true, the crowd on the first day hoisted and whistled and hissed in a most disgraceful manner when the man appeared for the two-hand lifting. It made him very nervous and excited, and he was beaten by a Greek. After the result was announced, the Austrian lifted the same weight five times, to show that he had not really been beaten. The next day, when he came on again for the one-hand lifting, there was a strong feeling that he had not been fairly treated, and he got a tremendous ovation, started by the American team. The Austrian won easily.

They have been illuminating the Acropolis at night. An irregular line of fire, marking the top of the great rock, is for half an hour the only thing that shows above the lights of the city. This turns yellow, green, violet, and red, and then the Parthenon flashes out above in the searchlights, as if made of white-hot metal. One feels that it is a pity to play the limelight on the Parthenon, of all things—it is best seen either glorious and golden-yellow against the deep Greek sky, or cold in the moonlight—it is hard to say when it is the finest. Nature's own limelight is so wonderful in Athens—the violet light she throws on Hymettus at sunset, or the rose-color which tints the snowy marble of the stadium just afterward—that there is no need to help with artificial means. But the crowd who have come for the games do not see these things, and will go away happy in knowing that Archie Hahn won the hundred, never realizing that for two weeks they have been in the most beautiful land of the world.

Whist and Dance.

The Newton Hospital Catholic Aid Society gave an enjoyable whist and dance in Temple hall last Friday evening under the direction of Mr. John Flood. Play was at 30 tables and the prize winners were Miss Mary Ruddy, Miss Nora Coleman, Miss Ethel Tierney, and the booby, by Miss Bessie Leary. Gentlemen's prizes were won by Mr. Albert H. Hyde, E. H. Kenney, A. D. Coleman and J. P. Mahoney. Following cards, there was dancing until midnight, the floor being in charge of Mr. George E. Stuart, Andrew Hughes, J. Garrity and a corps of aids. Refreshments were served by a committee of ladies under the charge of Mrs. W. H. Mague.

Reception.

Mrs. Alvin H. Clifford gave a brilliant and largely attended reception to the West Newton Educational Club, last Friday afternoon at her home on Walnut street, Newtonville. The house was beautifully decorated with pink roses and it was a most charming affair. Mrs. William B. Blakemore read an original poem, and Mrs. Gertrude Fletcher added to the enjoyment of the afternoon with a group of songs. Mrs. E. J. Bliss, Mrs. F. M. Lowe, Mrs. C. H. Stacy and Mrs. G. D. Byfield poured. Mrs. O. G. Robinson, Mrs. C. F. Shirley, Mrs. A. S. Kimball and Miss Eleanor Maggarity, served frappe, and Mrs. S. N. Fleming and Mrs. E. F. Dow were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Dead.

An exceedingly sad affair this week was the death within twenty-four hours of each other of Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Holmes of Vernon street. Mrs. Holmes who has been an invalid for many years died on Tuesday at the age of 75 years, and her husband while walking in front of the house the next day was stricken with heart failure and died before he could be carried into the house. Bazarilla Frank Holmes was born in Watertown 77 years ago and was for many years engaged in the boot and shoe business in Boston and of late years in the dry goods business with Weil, Dreyfus & Co. He enlisted during the Civil War but did not go to the front. He was a member of the Hinnewell club and of Channing church and has lived a quiet, uneventful and respected life in this city for fifty years. Mrs. Holmes, born Lucy Dimmock, was a native of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are survived by three children, Mr. Edward D. Holmes and Miss Mary V. Holmes of Newton and Mr. George L. Holmes of New York city. Funeral services for both are being held this afternoon at three o'clock at the Holmes residence on Vernon street.

City Hall Notes.

A Sermon by Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson

To this end was I born and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth.—John XVIII, 37.

In these words Jesus defined his mission, as he stood before Pilate in the judgment hall, on trial for his life. Pilate was amazed! Why should any one want to die for what he called "the truth?" To him truth represented nothing either permanent or sacred. One man held it to be one thing; another man, something quite different; and any decision of the question at any particular time or place could be nothing more than the idle play of dialectic. That Jesus should regard it as a sacred trust for which he stood ready to die, seemed to Pilate the sheerest fanaticism. Still he seems to have been favorably impressed with the youthful earnestness of the defendant, and, exclaiming with playful irony, "What is truth?" he went out to the Jews declaring that he "found no fault in this man," and offered to release him. But here he met equal intensity of conviction on the other side. This man, they said, had uttered blasphemy; he had set himself in opposition to the truth as represented by their traditions. And when Pilate still hesitated to inflict the death penalty upon Jesus, they shifted the charge from blasphemy to treason and declared that Pilate was no friend to Caesar if he released him. Thereupon, in order to avoid political complications, but at the same time washing his hands of the whole matter, less controversy, he made the formal order of court required of him, and turned away.

To the true followers of Jesus this scene must have growing significance when we reflect that the truth for which he willingly accepted death, was not formulated in any statement of belief or fact, nor limited by any formal definition. From its very nature it could not be stated for all time in any fixed form. It was the living truth as revealed to the soul of man by the Spirit of God. "Ye are my witnesses," he said to his followers; "ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free" and again, "The Spirit of Truth shall lead you into all truth." It was to be revealed to those "that do the will of my Father who is in heaven." It was not a dead formalism, but a living reality with power of growth and expansion, like the mustard seed planted in the earth or the leaven hid in the measure of meal. It was something, therefore, which should grow with man's growth and expand with the enlargement of his understanding. It was loyalty to this living truth which developed, in the first three Christian centuries, that noble army of martyrs who were willing to give their lives as evidence of their sublime faith, and whose blood became the seed of the church.

But it was the irony of history that, within four centuries from the time Jesus came into the world to bear witness to the truth as eternally revealed by the Father to the hearts of his children,—the religion founded in his name became crystallized into a formal creed, and committed into the hands of an ecclesiastical hierarchy even more absolute than that which represented the Judaism of his own time, against whose influence his own life and teachings formed so fine a protest. From this time until the protestant reformation the living spirit of truth was very largely lost in the growth of external authority; and, even as in the time of the Pharisees, moral idealism gave place to the tyranny of fixed forms.

The words of Luther, "Here I stand; God help me; I can no other," supported by the awakening intelligence of the Christian world, sounded again the note of the Master and stirred to new life the slumbering spirit of truth in men's minds and hearts. The battle for truth, however, was not yet won. Centuries of struggle and persecution still lay between the followers of Jesus and that larger realization of the truth, which makes men free.

In the history of the Christian Church since the Reformation there has been a steady development of two sharply opposed theories as to the source of authority for truth. The first and prevailing view has been that the Church is and must be the absolute source of authority. The Catholic Church in its different branches, Greek, Roman and Anglican, has held that, as the true, historic Church of Christ, it is the sacred repository of a supernatural deposit of truth; so that its creeds and decrees and teachings possess as such a divine sanction, and may not be questioned by the individual, without incurring the sin of blasphemy. The other protestant view, classifying themselves as "evangelical," while refusing to recognize the claim of any Christian Church to be the one true Church of Christ to the exclusion of all others, still have made the claim, each for itself, that it is so far the embodiment of the Kingdom of God which Jesus came to establish, that its particular covenant or statement of belief, whenever and by whomever it may have been formulated, must be regarded as divine truth, assent to which is a necessary condition of salvation from eternal punishment in the world to come. Either phase of this first view justified the dictum of Bacon that there are two kinds of truth: secular or scientific truth which is to be discovered by the enlightened reason, and which consequently is affected by intellectual progress; and sacred or religious truth which is not subject to reason, but must be accepted without question as taught by the Church, and which consequently remains stationary and fixed. In short, according to this first view, the individual is responsible to the Church for his religious beliefs, and must accept them from the church as the immediate source of authority.

The second view, held by a comparatively small but growing number of earnest, fearless Christian thinkers, has been that the individual is directly and solely responsible to God for his convictions of the truth as revealed to him: first by the Spirit of God in his own heart and conscience; second by the teachings of Jesus as he is able to understand them; and third by the experience of the ages as interpreted by the most enlightened reason. According to this view man's conception of the truth must at all times be subject to re-statement in the light of progress and discovery, and a statement of belief for matulated one for all could never be a proper basis or test of Christian fellowship.

Those who have held and openly declared this second view have usually been denounced as heretics, blasphemers and infidels. A few have paid the penalty of non-conformity with death, many more by imprisonment and loss of civil rights, while thousands of others have suffered through the loneliness of exclusion from church fellowship, and social ostracism by their Christian friends and neighbors.

Until within the past century the advocates of this larger idea of truth have for the most part lived isolated lives. But during the last hundred years there has been a general movement toward organization, the most notable and influential being that of our own Unitarian body. Under its influence the growth of liberal thought in religion, including the individual assertion of the right of private judgment, has been wide spread and rapid. In large measure, however, this growth has remained below the level of any public expression of sympathy with Unitarianism as such. Many who have found themselves gradually but surely outgrowing the old creeds have been restrained from confessing it by a partial survival of ancient fear and superstition which has made them distrust the conclusions of their own minds. A still larger number, more fully emancipated from the tyranny of old traditions, have been deterred from severing their "orthodox" associations by reason of family and social ties, choosing rather to suffer the mild condemnation of their own consciences for intellectual insincerity, than to disturb the outward respectability of established relations; while another large class of people who are at heart Unitarians have maintained a nominal allegiance to outgrown forms and creeds through sheer inertia or mental laziness.

Meantime Unitarianism itself has been vigorously denounced as anti-Christ, and individual leaders who have expressed its convictions with greatest clearness and positiveness have been specially singled out for vituperation and abuse. Under such persecution it has required heroism and devotion of a high order on the part of our great leaders to bear unflinchingly the burden of the Master's mission, and still "bear witness unto the truth." But the loyalty and boldness of their challenge has done much to clear the air of hazy thought, and to save to the world the vital power of religion in an age of rapidly advancing scientific progress.

Theodore Parker, one of the tenderest souls that ever lived, and whose prayers have touched and inspired the hearts of thousands, suffered keenly from public denunciation and social ostracism, shunned even by his own timid contemporaries, without equivocation or subterfuge, he declared in clear, definite and positive terms the truth as it came in burning conviction to his own soul. But his work bore noed fruit. Dying in Italy, with the poisoned darts of public abuse and private distrust still quivering in his heart, he declared with truly prophetic insight: "There are two Theodore Parkers. One is dying here. The other is in America preaching the truth." And so effectively has the undying soul of Parker preached the truth that his most radical utterances have become the commonplaces of our present thought.

In this generation a worthy successor to Theodore Parker has arisen in our own Minot J. Savage, who, with large-brained comprehension of the need and temper of the time, and while holding fast all the deeper spiritual verities of religion, has fearlessly challenged the insincerity of half truths, the unworthiness of compromise with one's real convictions, and the tyranny of cherished phrases which no longer carry any truth to the hearts of men. I cannot better express our own noblest conception of loyalty to truth than in the words of his own beautiful hymn which we are to sing at the close of this service.

O star of Truth, downshining,
Through clouds of doubt and fear,
I ask but neath thy guidance
My pathway may appear.

However long the journey,
How hard so'er it be,
Though I be lone and weary,
Lead on, I'll follow thee.

"I know thy blessed radiance
Can never lead astray,
However ancient custom
May tread some other way.

Even if through untrod deserts,
Or over trackless sea,
Though I be lone and weary,
Lead on I'll follow thee.

"The bleeding feet of martyrs
Thy toilsome road have trod;
But fires of human passion
May light the way to God.

While I thy beams can see,
Though I be lone and weary,
Lead on I'll follow thee.

"Though loving friends forsake me,
Or lead with me in tears;
Though angry foes may threaten,
To shake my soul with fears;

Still to my high allegiance
I must not faithfully be;
Through life and death, forever,
Lead on, I'll follow thee."

Not only Dr. Savage but many other of our trusted leaders have come into the ranks of Unitarianism from the ministry of some of the so-called Evangelical Churches, having found themselves hampered and hindered by old creeds and forms from declaring the vision of the truth as it came to them. Those who remained in the old churches and undertook there to exercise the right of private judgment and to "teach men so," have been summarily arraigned for heresy and cast out as infidels, like Dr. Thomas and Prof. Swing, continuing their work on independent lines, confessing like Paul that "after a way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers."

More recently a very different attitude has been apparent, on the part of those churches which, while keeping unchanged their antiquated creeds, confessions, and covenants, have been unable to prevent the influence of modern scholarship from permeating the ranks of clergy and laity, and thus undermining the belief of the more intelligent in those credal statements which in the past had been regarded as absolute and final. The action of the Methodist Bishops a few weeks ago denying to Prof. Mitchell the right to teach with the sanction of the church, because he had openly expressed his approval of the most commonly accepted results of scholarly biblical criticism, is one of the rare exceptions. And now, on the heels of that, comes the reluctant trial of Dr. Algeron Crapsey by a tribunal of the Protestant Episcopal Church, after one

Diocesan committee had refused to entertain charges against him.

The charge is that Dr. Crapsey is guilty of heresy and a violation of his ordination vows in that he has repeatedly, in published books and articles, and in afternoon addresses in his church, expressed his disbelief in the virgin birth of Jesus, and in the resurrection of the body, both of which are cardinal doctrines in the creeds accepted by the church as having divine authority. The defense is that, while he has made the statements attributed to him, he is within his rights as a clergyman in doing so, because he has merely interpreted the creed spiritually instead of literally, and because the views which he has expressed are held by many others in the church. Both sides have been fully heard, and the trial court has reported its finding to the Bishop of Western New York; but there is no probability that their decision will be accepted as final. Without doubt the questions at issue will have to be decided by the court of highest authority in the church. But even the ultimate decision of that body as to whether Dr. Crapsey shall be disciplined for his utterances, is of less importance to the world, than the general attitude of the leaders and thinkers of the church toward the broader question how its creed should be regarded in the light of modern thought. In this connection there is marked significance in the statement made at the trial by one of the counsel for the defendant, himself a clergyman of the church, that the views expressed by Dr. Crapsey are held by a majority of his fellow clergymen. But recognizing the liability to exaggeration on the part of an advocate in the heat of debate, there is even more significance in the deliberate statements contained in a lengthy and thoughtful article in The Churchman, a recognized organ of the church, from which I take the liberty to quote: "There are, and there always have been, two different views of Christian truth. One type of mind looks upon it as a diamond, revealed to the world in its perfect form once for all,—a treasure to be kept and valued, and that changes not. Another type of mind cannot even conceive of Christian truth in this fashion. It thinks of truth as a seed, and because it does, it expects it to change its form and take on new characteristics continually. To men of this way of thinking, the truth is a vital thing; and its significance is largely lost whenever it is thought of as crystallized. If our church is to be really a church, and not a sect, it must be large enough to hold men of both of these types of mind; for, with an infinite variety of shadings all men are divided into these two classes.

"What then is the bearing of this proposition upon the case at issue? In the judgment of the writer, it means that there ought to be room enough in the ministry of the church, as well as in its membership, for any one to whom the creed is the historic form of making the confession that St. Peter made: 'I believe that Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God,' whether such an one accepts the creed literally or interprets it spiritually.

"Is belief in Christ, as manifested by a life devoted to his service, an insignificant equipment for the ministry as compared with certain beliefs about Christ? The religious wars of the past show that in days gone by the letter was allowed to kill; but are we not today living in an age in which the spirit may be permitted to give life?

"I am far from assenting to all of Dr. Crapsey's opinions, but I devoutly hope that he will be held to be entirely within his rights as a minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church in following his scholarship wherever it may lead him, so long as the creed is to him the historic statement of the belief of the church, full now, as always, of spiritual truth and significance."

Now this broad view of truth would be admirable in any one standing outside of a church which holds the creed, together with "certain beliefs about Christ," to be essential as a test of Christian fellowship. It would be excellent Unitarianism. But is it good Episcopalism? Dr. Crapsey and even the minister of the Episcopal Church is required constantly in the conduct of the service to repeat, in the sanctity of prayer, "I believe in Jesus Christ who was conceived by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary," and "I believe in the resurrection of the body." How can these statements be interpreted spiritually so as to mean anything different from their plain and obvious intent? How can the words, "I believe in the resurrection of the body," be spiritually interpreted so as to mean "I do not believe in the resurrection of the body"? This creed was deliberately and successfully framed to exclude from the legitimate fellowship of the church all who do not believe the specific doctrines therein clearly and definitely set forth. If in the growth of modern scholarship large numbers of the members and clergy of the church have outgrown these doctrines, it would seem that the only way by which they could honestly remain within the church would be by ceasing to use this creed as an expression of their present faith. To the writer in the Churchman, and other apologists who take his view, it may seem desirable to preserve the historic continuity of the church by retaining its ancient creeds unchanged in the solemn declaration of its service, while at the same time trying to keep its numbers and popularity undiminished by permitting it to be understood among the liberal and progressive element that neither laity nor clergy need to actually believe the statements which they recite together as the sacred truth. But such a position seems much more in line with Pilate's flippant query, "What is truth?" than with the Spirit of the Master. One may well doubt the continued usefulness of a church which would consent to gain in numbers through the loss of sincerity.

But what should be our attitude as Unitarians toward such a controversy as this? Our first impulse is one of cordial sympathy with any one who is placed on trial for exercising the right of private judgment as to the truth. We are apt to regard him as fighting, in so far, the battle for "freedom, fellowship and character in religion," even though as yet he may have received light but partially. A more discriminating appreciation of the real issue will show us that the attitude assumed by Dr. Crapsey and his apologists does not help but rather hinders the development of freedom and character in religion. The strength of every successful movement toward larger freedom in religion has been the uncompromising loyalty of its leaders to the truth, and their willingness to sacrifice present personal advantage and safety for the advancement of the cause. Nearly every great religious the rate of 60,000 a year, there were no younger men in the world than in the Grand Army. We feel a just pride in the part we were able to take in the Civil War, which meant so much to this Country of ours. We followed the flag when it had the stain of slavery upon it and brought it back pure and unsullied. The old flag does come a little closer to us who have followed it in time of war and we want it to float from every school house. We are sorry that the law which requires this to be done has not been followed in Newton, and we hope, Mr. Mayor before you leave your high office that it will be done and our children may be inspired by the sight of the flag which means so much to us all. Mr. Wetherbee also criticized the lack of reverence and urged his hearers to uncover whenever the flag passed by and to teach the children to follow that example.

A rising toast with three cheers was then given to Mrs. Cunningham tent and other Daughters of Veterans.

Past Commander J. H. Wentworth responded for the Sons of Veterans saying in part that the glory of the War was all yours, but we will do our part to perpetuate its memories. He closed by repeating Charles Sumner's eloquent tribute to the flag.

Rev. Thomas S. Cole of St. Mary's church said that as an Englishman he could take a more unbiased view of the events for which the day stands. He said that there was a deeper issue in the Civil War than slavery, however pressing that question might have been, and that was the fact that it was a war for the Union. For God through all ages has been bringing about the idea of unity and you had a part in doing this for our country. The war is not past, we are feeling that a larger leaf has just been turned over for the future. We want leaders who are not afraid to suffer with their comrades—a common life for all, if this nation is to be saved spiritually and financially. God give us men who are willing to suffer if necessary for the life of the nation.

After a brief response from the Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, the meeting was dismissed with the singing of America.

Memorial Service.

The Catholic churches observed Memorial day with high mass at nine o'clock and there was a service for children at the Working Boys Home conducted by Father Redican.

Waban.

—Alderman F. W. Webster and family spent over Sunday at their Cataumet summer home.

—The Church Guild held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Toles, Mont Clair road, on Tuesday.

—Miss Jessie G. Gould of Beacon street started Thursday for a two weeks visit with friends in Rahway, N. J.

—Mills undertaking rooms, 817-819 Washington street, Newtonville. Tel. 112-3. Leave calls at Rhodes' Drug store. Tel. Newton S. 237-3.

—A largely attended reception was given at the Davidson residence on Plainfield street, Tuesday evening from 8 to 10 by Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Davidson and Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Sharp in honor of Mrs. Sharp's mother Mrs. Charles P. Dexter.

—A male quartet consisting of Messrs. Lamkin, Robinson and Gould, well known as members of the former choir and the Waban quartet, assisted by Mr. George Abbot of Watertown, rendered the music at the church Sunday morning and the best singing heard there for some time resulted. For the offertory Mr. Abbot sang Ch. Gounod's "I will give Peace." He has a pure lyric tenor voice of fair range and sweet quality, musical and well trained.

—On Wednesday morning the men's ball team had their revenge, defeating the boys 16 to 13 in a close and well played game. Errors were few and excusable considering the lack of practise and altho both pitchers were hit hard, both were steady and well supported. For the winners, Doc Parker and "Son" Dana were the stars each accepting many hard chances without an error, and each getting a fat batting average. "Stunt" Bosson made a regular La Chance at first, stopping everything within a mile and assisting in two double plays with Robinson. Mr. Cherrington and Mr. Tonle, allowed to the boys, played great ball in the field and at the bat, while Isola's two home runs were beauties. Line up, Men—Bosson, 1; Hill, R. L.; Marvin, 3; Dana, ss; McKenzie, c; Parker, R.; Lamkin, c f; Robinson, 2; St. Clair, p. Boys—Cherrington, 2; Tonle, 1; Isola, ss; Gould, 3; Sullivan, c; McKenzie, cf; Heymer, rf; Gilmore, lf; Williams, p.

—The Ladies Circle of the Union Church of Waban held its Annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mrs. S. H. Willey. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. M. B. Cherrington; vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Strong; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Childs; treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Webster; chairman Charitable Committee, Mrs. W. S. Everett; Chairman Industrial Committee, Mrs. F. H. Putnam; Chairman Social Committee, Mrs. E. F. Rice. The Circle is planning to hold a lawn party on the lawn of Mrs. F. W. Webster on the afternoon and evening of June 13th. There will be a sale of ice cream, cake, candy, lemonade, and a table for fancy articles. During the evening there will be a fairy performance given by the young ladies of the church. The proceeds of the sale will be used by the ladies to carry on their charitable work during the coming summer. If the weather is unfavorable the party will be held on the next day.

The redistricting report recently made to the legislature is of considerable interest to this city, and will seriously affect its political future. Fortunately the senatorial district is undisturbed, and
the lion represented by the city and the lamb, represented by the up country towns, will continue to lie down together in the peace which has gradually settled upon this district. In this connection it is of interest to learn, that there is a prospect of prevailing upon Senator and President William F. Dana of this city to accept another term. This result is of such importance to the state, the district and to Newton, that there should be no stone unturned to bring it about.
We believe that the Senator will respond to the suggestion that he devote another year to the public interests.

The surprise of the report, however,
is in the radical change which has been made in the councillor lines. Newton is taken away from political alliances with Charlestown, East Boston, Chelsea and Revere, for which much praise should be given, and also from Cambridge and Somerville, which is of another color.
Our new political bedfellows, comprise the cities of Lowell, Woburn, Medford, Waltham, Marlboro and part of Lynn,
and in general the towns in the northern and western portions of Middlesex County. Plans had been laid for the nomination of Mr. Seward W. Jones, of Newton for councillor with the understanding that the old district was to be substantially unchanged and the new lines will mean considerable work by the political war horses to bring the nomination to Newton. The joke of the whole matter is that it is as much a surprise to the political leaders as it is to the average citizen.

The other interesting item in the report is the fact that Middlesex County
is given 48 representatives at the State House in place of 47. Active work should now be in order to see that Newton should be given three representatives. This number is rightfully ours upon the facts that we pay one-fifth of the state tax, and a total of over $200,000 annually into the state and metropolitan expenses, and have the same representation as places which do not
and cannot have that deep interest in state affairs which such large expenses inevitably bring. Newton also pays over 11 per cent of the County taxes and it surely is entitled to less than 7 per cent of the county representation. A long pull and a strong pull on our County Commissioners ought to bring about the result desired.

Whatever the result may be in regard to the number of representatives, at least one change will be made this year in our present representatives. Mr. Lowell, who has served the usual quota of three years is to retire and friends of ex mayor Alonzo R. Weed are urging him to take the vacant place. Mr. Weed has a thorough knowledge of city affairs and is probably the best equipped man in the city for work at the state house so far as our civic interests are concerned. No mistake would be made if Mr. Weed is elected a representative.

The "All-Newton" idea, which inaugurated the movement to purchase the Cladin field for civic purposes, has received further exemplification recently in the gathering together of the various church Sunday schools in an athletic meet, and we give space this week to the admirable suggestion of Rev. Dr. Burr, that Newton churches unite to maintain religious centres in our neighboring city of Boston. Let the good work go on.

Musical.

Last week Thursday evening a very enjoyable recital by Madame Martinez's pupils took place at the hospitable home
of Mrs. A. P. Curtis on Newtonville avenue, Newtonville. An informal program of well chosen and delightful
songs was given by Miss Helen Partridge, Mrs. F. E. Arend, Miss McEllan, Mrs. Margaret Locks, Mrs. J. L.
Sibley and Miss Madeline Carter.

Later in the evening, by special request Mrs. Sibley sang a charming little song of April by Madame Martinez which is yet only in manuscript. We bespeak its cordial acceptance by the public when it shall be published.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

The shadow of the falling curtain is easily distinguishable on the stage at the State House, and one is drawn into a reflective mood as he is reminded that the session of 1906 is about to be prorogued. To be sure, there are always a few things to be attended to; some unfinished business to occupy the closing days of every session, but it is easy to see that it is the same this year as it was in the years that have gone before.
June days have no abiding charms on Beacon Hill, and the glitter of the dome has no fascination to those who took the oath almost six months ago to serve the State faithfully and well, as members of the General Court.

There have been some important matters to engage the attention of the legislature within the past week; the re-districting of the State, the Cambridge Subway, the Inter Urban and Merger matters, the inverted investigation, and a number of other subjects that have gone into the hopper marked "To the next General Court", which, by the way,
is only a figure of speech of course,
as there is no next General Court under the Constitution, the legislature always being in existence. When the Governor prorogues the General Court, he only adjourns it until the first Wednesday of the following January, unless sooner called together.

Very imperfectly and disjointedly we have followed the General Court for the past six months, but let us hope, not without some interest and profitable observation to ourselves. If the 280 men who have been associated together since the first Wednesday in January have gained in knowledge and experience,
may we not all hope, in the words of Sankey's hymn, to
"Let some droppings fall on me, Even me!"

Of course the members have benefitted
by their half year experience and they will go to their homes with a broader view of life, and a better grasp of the responsibilities and duties of citizens
than they possessed when they took their seats. The legislature is a great finishing school in the education of a man who is called to exercise the obligations of an American citizen, who can compute, for example, the benefits to the State growing out of the legislative services of the five thousand men who have served in her legislature during the past twenty-five years, a large majority of whom are still living. That training has fitted men to serve better
as Governors, Senators, Congressmen, Judges and State officials than they would otherwise have been able to do,
and, best of all, it has prepared the rank and file of ex-legislators, to judge of the qualifications necessary for public life. It gives us an intelligent element in every community with which to guide
the public mind and aid in forming an intelligent public opinion. This condition cannot be too strongly emphasized.

Perhaps the most valuable of all legislative service is that of committee work. When the committee branch of legislative labor shall be properly adjusted and wisely applied in forming prospective legislation, we shall have nearly a perfect system of legislation in Massachusetts. When the day comes that the two men, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House,
shall have the courage and foresight to grasp the situation and apply the remedies, we shall see annual sessions of three months each, and all business
properly and systematically performed.

The re-districting of the State has been, upon the whole, very commendably performed by the committee having this very difficult duty in hand. To be sure,
there are some that were disappointed,
but that is always the case with any piece of legislation which, after all, is a good deal like life as we find it elsewhere than on Beacon Hill. Perhaps the subtlest piece of business during the session was the trick sprung by the Boston Elevated in submitting an amendment to the bill reported by the joint Railroad Committee a week ago. After the entire subject had been under consideration by the recess committee of last summer, and the joint committee had held repeated hearings during the session, and made its report to the legislature, practically unanimously, the Boston Elevated, not having presented any objections or asked for any amendment heretofore, that corporation came in at the last moment and asked for the adoption of an amendment to the reported bill. It is barely possible that the Elevated road has misjudged the importance of interest that it may have with the legislature, and it is also possible
that this is an inopportune time for that company to attempt to apply its policy
to legislation.

One of the most commendable matters that has been brought to the attention of this legislature, is that seeking to establish a juvenile court in Boston
for the purpose of hearing cases of minor offenses and preventing young people
from being contaminated with the hardening influences of the criminal courts.
The bill creates a court of exclusive jurisdiction over all cases now tried in the juvenile session of the Municipal Court. The justice shall appoint a probation officer and fix his salary. It is sincerely to be hoped that this will become a law before the session shall close, and if so, it will be a long step forward in the interests of the young.

Of course it has been a matter of regret that this session of the General Court must go out under a cloud. Whatever may be the outcome, the fact that the House of Representatives "The grand inquest of this Commonwealth," has been obliged to investigate itself in its closing hours of official life, will always cling to its record; and all this,
because of the fantastic day dreams of a "Jack with the Lantern", who, listening to a modern Tharso, inaugurated
the most stupendous farce ever witnessed on Beacon Hill, in subpoenaing
the entire House of Representatives down to the Court House on the biggest Tom Fool's errand imaginable. Now, he dismisses the whole affair, by saying
he doesn't think he shall bother himself any more about it. That illustrates the inborn shyness of the man who has brought ridicule and reproach upon the entire legislative body. Did anybody ever witness a spectacle equal to that of a week or two ago, when such men as Allen, Ames, Andrews, Crafts, Luce, Mayhew, Norcross, Peabody, Turner,
Walker, Ward and Cole, tramped off
down to the Grand Jury of Suffolk County to be examined by the District Attorney in a bribery charge? Is there no protection for honorable men against such monstrous outrages at that? There is one, and perhaps only one, and that is that suggested here last week, to have the entire legislative body composed of such men as those above mentioned. It is a burning shame that such men as they have to wade through humiliation
and cover themselves with sack cloth
and ashes, because of the presence in the legislature of another dozen whose names might be given here without fear
and trembling of libel action.

It is said in some quarters that John B. Moran is to be an independent candidate for Governor next fall. There are two hundred and forty men at least in Massachusetts who will be just as independent in hanging that ambition to the nearest lamp post, and take their chances with the Grand Jury which will sit at the November election.

If some one who is conversant with the situation and who has the time to devote to the matter, should write a history of liquor legislation on Beacon Hill during this session, that history
would make excellent summer reading,
for those who will be able to swing in hammocks on the mountains or roll in the sand on the beach. An interesting incident connected with that legislation,
occurred last Friday, when Senator Lane moved, without opposition, that the original 12 o'clock bill be sent to the Governor to be vetoed by him.

Ex-Cong. "Sam" Powers continues to visit the capitol occasionally and is always given a great reception by his former colleagues. The speaker was always an admirer of Powers, and dealt him out some choice committee assignments when the Newton man represented the 12th district. Last week Mr.
Powers came on here with a delegation of ship subsidy boomers from all parts of the country. Mr. Powers presented the delegation to the president, and the big shipping bill was discussed
for a half hour, the president giving the delegation every encouragement possible. The president is very much in favor of the passage of the bill and told them that he hoped to see it enacted into law at this session of congress. "But,"
he added, "you had better go up to the capitol and see the speaker. He is said to be strongly opposed to the bill and unless you can get him to withdraw his objections, I am afraid you will have hard work to get it through the house."

From the White House the party wended their way to the capitol, where the genial ex-congressman again did the honors. He explained to the speaker that the delegation were all actively interested in the passage of the ship subsidy bill and hoped that the speaker
could see his way to withdraw his objections. "I am very glad to see you Sam," he drawled, "when Mr. Powers had completed, "but d—d sorry to see you in such bad company." The speaker informed the delegation that he was very much opposed to the passage of the bill at this session of congress, and that he should adopt every fair means to prevent its consideration.—Practical Politics.

Song Recital.

A large audience gathered in Norum-bega hall, Auburndale, Monday evening to hear the song recital given by the boy choristers of the Church of the Messiah in aid of the Choristers' Summer Outing. The assisting artists were Messrs. Fred Randall, tenor; Herbert Wilkins, bass; Henry E. Mozealous, baritone; Charles B. Tupper, violinist and Rev. John Matteson, reader. Mr. E.
H. Titcomb was the director and accompanist. Everyone received an encore and Mr. Mozealous rendered a piece composed expressly for him by Mr. Titcomb. Rev. Mr. Matteson captivated his audience with his reading of "Sister Helen" by Rosetti and his scenes from Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The musical selections were from the compositions of Nevin, Mendelssohn, Cowen, Parker, Godard, Tel-ma and others.

A Newton Girl.

The Springfield Republican has the following to say about Miss Amy Daniels, the daughter of Mr. Henry C. Daniels of this city.

It seems that the farther the school
department went into the record of Miss Amy L. Daniels, who is to be the superintendent of the new domestic science department, the more good was found concerning her. In addition to her record as previously given, it is stated that she studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and attended the Boston Normal school of household arts for two years. She had charge of the domestic science and dressmaking
department of the Denver high school for four years. At that time she also studied in the University of Denver.
She has been at Chicago University for two years, and has taught classes in the college as well as in the high school.
She has a splendid reputation in the West as one of the best teachers in her line of work in the country. Leading educators in that part of the country in which she has already taught give her
much praise as a woman of broad views, strong character and excellent executive ability.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—The delightful concert of popular music by the Fadettes Woman's Orchestra, are easily the hit of the summer vaudeville at Keith's. Music lovers in large number are present at every performance and the frequency of encore numbers testifies to appreciation of the programs which are made mostly of popular music. Some changes have been made in the personnel of the organization from last year, but it can be said that the orchestra is now better than ever. The concerts take place at 1.45 and 7.30 P. M. followed by a good vaudeville program, so that music lovers may hear the music and patrons of vaudeville can come late and see an excellent variety show. The prominent feature in the vaudeville proper will be Horace Golden, the famous magician and illusionist, who has appeared before royalty at Sandringham and has otherwise earned for himself the reputation of being the most rapid worker in his line. Included in the surrounding show will be Mlle. Chester and her beautiful statue dog, in "Pictures of the Hunt"; Walter C. Kelly, the most amusing dialect comedian in the varieties; Heloise and the Amorous sisters, wonderful trapeze artists; Edustus, skilful equilibrist, and Barto and Laferty, clever dancers. An entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Castle Square Theatre—Having auspiciously opened the summer season at the Castle Square Theatre with a series of performances that have drawn enormous audiences during the past week to see "The Mikado," the management on Monday will continue the good work of offering first-class opera at popular prices by producing "Il Trovatore."

This famous opera by Verdi is rarely sung except at excessive charges for seats, and its production at the Castle Square Theatre next week will therefore give Bostonians a rare opportunity.

The voting contest for the choice of operas to be given at the Castle Square Theatre this summer resulted in the receipt of nearly 10,000 lists. The operas most voted for were The Bohemian Girl, Carmen, Cavalleria Rusticana, The Chimes of Normandy, Ernani, Faust, Il Trovatore, Martha, Pinafore, and Robin Hood. Thirty four exactly correct lists were received, three Newton people being represented, viz: Mrs. F. G. Warner, Mrs. W. M. Tapley, and Mrs. George Agry Jr. To them have been awarded the promised seats for the first four Monday evenings of the season. Il Trovatore will be followed on June 18th by "The Chimes of Normandy," and that popular opera on the Monday thereafter by the always popular "Carmen."

Tremont Theatre—Harry Bulger, who next Monday will begin the third successful week of his engagement in Henry W. Savage's summer production at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, "The Man From Now," is the talk of the town.

Nothing in the musical comedy line has scored so positive and instantaneous a success as has this production, staged with all the elaborateness which generally characterizes the Henry W. Savage productions, and no play has so teemed with broad humor and good fun as does this one. Mr. Bulger has been well fitted by Messrs. Bangs and Klein with his part, and Manuel Klein who provided the score, has evolved some new and entrancing melodies which are the favorites of the city. Mr. Bulger, in his merry characterization of the good-natured tramp, is pleasing every moment he is on the stage, and he works with such a defiance of weather conditions, that he has imbued his entire company with a desire to play and romp as children do; and, as this is evidently the sort of a play that the summer patrons are anxious to behold, he is given satisfaction to crowded houses at every performance. Mr. Bulger has three song hits, "There isn't anything that can't be cured," "The Irresistible Tune" and "College Chums," all written in that vein for which Mr. Bulger is noted. The company Mr. Savage has surrounded his star with is an exceptional one, including as it does, Helen Hale, Walter Lawrence, Frances Demerest, John Keefe, Hattie Arnold, Lucy Tongue, Charles Meyers and George O'Donnell, and the world's premier singing and dancing chorus. This chorus of Beauty is a veritable sensation in Boston, for it is composed of extremely young and vivacious young women, and they all know how to sing and dance as well as how to look pretty. There is room for doubt as to whether or not its equal has ever been seen in any Savage or other musical production here. The regular matinees in vogue at the Tremont, Wednesday and Saturday, will be given during Mr. Bulger's stay in Boston.

Purse for Rev. Dr. Shinn.

Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn preached his last sermon in Grace church as rector last Sunday morning and evening, and was so affected that he was obliged to leave the church before the services were completely over, as his physical condition was such as to prevent greeting his friends after the service. After the evening service was over, the vestry called on Dr. Shinn at his residence and in behalf of Grace church presented him with a purse of $1250 as a token of their affection and esteem. Dr. Shinn's term of office as rector expires on next Sunday at which time he becomes Rector Emeritus.

Dr. Shinn left this week for his future home at Summit, N. J.

Mr. Lodge Dead.

Mr. John T. Lodge, a well known resident of Newton and prominent in social circles died Tuesday morning at his residence on Fairmont avenue of an acute attack of Bright's disease, altho he has been far from well for the past two years.

Mr. Lodge was born on Copp's hill,

Boston, Feb. 8, 1857 and received his education in the Boston schools. At the age of seventeen on the death of his father he succeeded to his father's business as a wool merchant, and has been at the head of the firm of John T. Lodge & Co for thirty three years. He was prominent in masonic circles with membership in Winslow Lewis Lodge of Boston and Gettemane Commandery K. T. of Newtonville. He was also a prominent member of the Newton and Algonquin clubs and attended the Immanuel Baptist church.

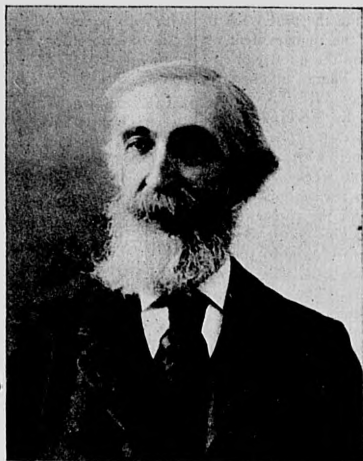

He is survived by a widow, formerly Miss Ida Hey of Philadelphia, and two sons.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon from his late residence, 19 Fairmont avenue, Newton.

Mr. Nickerson Dead.

James H. Nickerson, one of the prominent citizens of West Newton died at his home on Elm street in that village on Saturday afternoon, after a week's illness with hemorrhage of the bowels.

Mr. Nickerson was born in Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 20, 1830, of old Cape Cod stock his father being Caleb Nickerson and his mother Bathsheba Freeman Nickerson. He was educated at the Spring Hill Academy of his native town. Mr. Nickerson came to West Newton in 1873 and established himself in the clothing business, and erected one of the first brick blocks built in that village. In 1885 he retired from the clothing business and established the

JAMES H. NICKERSON.

West Newton National Bank and the West Newton Savings Bank, being president of the former and treasurer of the latter for some years. In 1902 he became president of the Savings Bank and but recently retired from that office.

In 1881, 1882 and 1883 Mr. Nickerson was a member of the Common Council, a member of the board of aldermen in 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888 and was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor in December 1888. For many years Mr. Nickerson was an Overseer of the Poor and Chairman of that body until it was recently abolished. He attended the West Newton Unitarian Church and was at one time chairman of its standing committee. He was prominent in Odd Fellowship and was also a member of the Royal Arcanum.

His business connections were many and important, he was the chief owner of the U. S. Electric Signal Co., treasurer of the Boston Physician's and Surgeons Supply Co., and treasurer of the Halifax and Suburban Electric Railway Company.

He was married in 1857 to Miss Mary A. Cowing of Provincetown, and is survived by a widow and two married daughters, Mrs. Abby M. Elwell, wife of Prof. L. H. Elwell of Amherst College, and Mrs. Emma L. Harrington of West Newton.

Funeral services were held from the Unitarian church, West Newton, on Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended, including members of the Odd Fellows and Royal Arcanum, of both of which he was a member, as well as members of the city government, officials of the West Newton First National Bank and the West Newton Savings Bank.

Mrs. Chester A. Morton sang a solo, and the services were in charge of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, assisted by Rev. Francis Tiffany, a former pastor of the church. The interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Ward Dead.

Mr. David Henshaw Ward, son of the late Andrew Henshaw Ward of this place, died in Oakland, California, recently aged 76 years. Deceased was a graduate of Harvard University, class of '53 and for many years had been connected with large enterprises in the industrial development of California and also in the management of large trust estates. He was much interested in antiquarian and genealogical researches which trait came to him by inheritance from his father.

Old Resident Dead.

Mr. Amos C. Judkins, an old resident of Newton, died Monday evening following a surgical operation. He was a native of Maine, where he was born 69 years ago, and was in the wheel manufacturing business in Boston. He was a director of the Newtonville Trust Company, was a member of Central church, and during recent years was interested in the development of real estate in the Crafts street district. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at Newton cemetery, where it will remain until the arrival of Mrs. Judkins and her daughter from Europe, when arrangements will be made for the funeral.

Death of Mr. Young.

Mr. Eddy Elbert Young of Islington road died last Friday evening after a several weeks' illness. He is survived by a widow and two daughters. Mr. Young was a native of Lowell where he was born 41 years ago and he was a graduate of Tufts College. Deceased was formerly in the employ of the engineering department of the City of Newton under the late Albert F. Noyes, and later was connected with the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission, having had special charge of tunnel construction under the Mystic river. He was also consulting engineer on the Tremont street section of the Boston subway. More recently in New York he was in the employ of the O'Rourke Construction Company, having been in charge of the building of the tunnel under the Hudson river from New York city to Jersey city. For the past three months he had been manager for a prominent sewer cleaning and contracting concern. Mr. Young was a member of the sociother time the men had bruin cornered with a servant with a mop as an ally to the dignity of the law, but the bear was no respecter of persons and charging the mop and the woman, knocked them down and again made its escape. Finally it was driven into a barn on Chestnut street, West Newton, and its owner telephoned to take it home. It is rumored that the Chief and policeman lost seven pounds weight in the chase.

SET OF HANDSOME COLORED POST CARDS.

Of New England Scenery, Issued by Boston & Maine Railroad.

The beauty and splendor of New England's magnificent scenery has never been more typically portrayed than in the choice set of colored souvenir post cards, issued by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad. They comprise twenty magnificent views, the best of mountain, seashore, inland, river and lake scenes to be found in the country. They are the expensive, eight colored lithograph cards, and display these landscape views in their natural colors. The set is enclosed in an envelope, and will be mailed to any address upon receipt of 30 cents in stamps by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, Mass.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

The company took a long "hike" to the Newton Centre playgrounds Monday night covering the distance in a little less than half an hour. After a short drill in extended order, the company was headed back for Newton via the Boulevard and Cedar street, after passing the Cedar street grounds the company was halted and Lieut. Daniels commanding the first platoon moved forward to establish a line of defense in the vicinity of Cabot park. Giving five minutes start, Lieut. Coulter advanced to the attack with the second platoon. The enemy were found in large numbers and the engagement commenced. Unhesitatingly Lieut. Daniels drew his sabre and commanded his soldiers to charge, driving the assailants to cover. Capt. Guilford had the bugler sound recall and the fight was over. The march to the Armory was then taken up arriving at 10:45 a tired but enthusiastic lot of citizen soldiery.

The officers' room has taken on a business like air with the addition of three new roll top desks, which will be a factor in discharging the large amount of work that is turned out weekly, giving each officer ample room to work comfortably.

The last dance of the season will be held tonight, the proceeds going toward the Ottawa Trip fund.

Lawn Party.

On the estate of Mr. J. Franklin Bridge on North street last Tuesday evening a pretty lawn party was given by the Young Woman's Club of St. John's church. Electric lights and Japanese lanterns made an attractive scene and the tables, which were in charge of Mrs. Bridge, the president, and members of the guild were loaded down with useful and fancy articles, candy and other edibles. There was also fortune telling and dancing on a spread canvas, the music being a hurdy gurdy. Two automobiles did a thriving business during the evening conveying people to and from the square, and a good sum was netted.

Real Estate

Through the office of Henry H. Read Mrs. Mary L. Wheeler has sold her house situated No. 153 Cypress street, Newton Centre, to Mr. E. F. Goodwin who purchases for a home. The property consists of a frame dwelling house and 5000 feet of land all assessed for $4500 of which $700 is on the land.

Through the office of Alvord Bros. & Co., L. G. Neville, of Santa Barbara, Cal., has purchased from Forrest S. Smith, of Brookline, his estate at 228 Highland Avenue, corner of Forest Avenue, West Newton Hill. The property consists of a comparatively new frame house and 17,467 square feet of land. The property is taxed for $9000, of which $2500 is on the land. Mr. Neville buys for occupancy.

Bear Hunt.

It is not often that a city of nearly forty thousand inhabitants is the scene of a real bear hunt, but such was the case in Newton last Tuesday morning, when a small brown bear cub about a year old, a pet of the family of Mr. William F. Plant of Cotton street, made its escape from a stake, chain and collar and created considerable excitement before it was finally captured in West Newton. News that the animal was at large was telephoned the police, and Chief Mitchell and Officer McKenzie started in pursuit in the patrol wagon. On sight of the officer, the bear became as frightened as some persons might have been, and started across fields and over and under fences with the officers in hot chase. At one time it was driven into a barn and the door closed, and while there were mutual congratulations between the officers on their success, the bear made its escape through a rear window and trouble began anew. ### Newton Theological Institution

With a large number of alumni and visiting clergymen present, the graduation exercises of the Newton Theological Institution were held at 10 o'clock yesterday in the First Baptist church, Newton Centre.

Fourteen students were given degrees. Of these, 11 seniors received the degree of bachelor of divinity upon the attainment of an average of 90 percent in the whole course and a defence of a prescribed thesis before three members of the faculty.

The order of exercises was as follows: Address, "Missions an Integral Part of Church Life," Percival R. Bakeman; "Winning Boys for the Church," Lloyd LeV. Carr; "The Study of Missions," William J. Clark; music, "Grass and Roses," Miss Delia E. Cabot; "Dogma in Preaching," William A. Lee; "Two Elements of Weakness in the Baptist Denomination," Leon G. Miles; "The Belief of Spiritual Religion to Modern Scientific Method," Ralph E. Storey; music, "Abide With Me," Miss Cabot; presentation of diplomas by Pres. Nathan E. Wood; address to the class by Prof. George E. Horr; organ selection, "Finale in F from Fourth Symphony," John Hermann Loud.

Pres. Wood conferred the degree of BA upon 12 seniors, whose theses were as follows: Percival R. Bakeman of Chelsea, "Augustinian and Pauline Teaching Compared"; Henry S. Bullock of Kalamazoo, Mich., "The Religious Value of Miracles"; William J. Clark of Madera, Calif., "The Relation of the Ministry to Social Questions"; Arthur V. Dimock of Halifax, N. S.; Harry C. Leach of Rockland, Me.; Ralph A. Sherwood of Providence, and Leon G. Miles of New Carlisle, Ind., "The Marian Exiles"; Alonzo H. Murphy of Chili, Ind., "Arthur H. Page of Rockport, Me., 'Final Authority' in Religion"; Ernest T. Potter of Fairport, Kan., "Characteristics of Apostolic Missions"; Ralph E. Storey of McMinnville, Or., "The Development of the Baptist Churches of England from 1574 to 1643"; Willard S. Tedford of Dayton, N. S., "Characteristics of Apostolic Missions." The degree of BP was conferred upon Floyd LeV. Carr of Providence, whose thesis was "The Religious Value of Christ's Miracles." William A. Lee of Madison, Wis., received the degree of BL. His thesis was "The Marian Exiles."

Messrs. Bakeman, Carr, Clark, Dimock, Leach, Lee, Miles, Murphy, Page, Sherwood and Storey of the graduating class were those who also received the degree of bachelor of divinity, conferred as well upon Nathaniel T. Haier, William T. Thayer and Sumner R. Vinton, resident graduates, and Nathan R. Wood, a nonresident, who was graduated from the institution in 1900. Mr. Haier's thesis was "The Marian Exiles," Mr. Thayer's "The Trustworthiness of the Acts of the Apostles," Mr. Vinton's "Christ's Fitness to be a Redeemer" and Mr. Wood's "Reality in the Atonement."

At 1 p. m. the trustees gave their annual dinner in Bray hall to members of the alumni, contributors and other invited guests. There were speeches by President Faunce of Brown University and Rev. Dr. Ray Greene of Worcester, trustees, the alumni association and the faculty.

The graduation week was brought to a close with a reception by the students in the Hills library at 4 o'clock.

Base Ball.

The married men and the marksmen of Newton played their long anticipated game of ball on the Cabot park grounds yesterday afternoon. It was a memorable contest for those who attended. The married men went to the bat first and before the side was out they had scored 9 runs and had sent 13 men to the bat. The remainder of the game was similar, although not quite so strenuous as the first inning had warranted them. The marksmen were unable to fathom Bascom's pitching and went out in one, two, three order for three innings, and scoring 4 runs in the fourth. The final score was 29 to 11 in favor of the married men. The features of the game were the star fielding by Quinn at centre, the skillful juggling of the ball at second by Noden, and last but not least the home run by Fuller on a scratch hit to short, and a subsequent wild throw over the first baseman's head.

There were rumors of a return game next Thursday at 2.30 P. M.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

Youthful Athletes Compete on Cedar Street Grounds

Double Ties Among Leaders in a Most Successful Affair

The first out door Meet of the Sunday Schools of the city was held last Saturday afternoon at the Cedar street grounds in the presence of fully a thousand spectators, and was under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C. A.

The meet was a huge success and reflects great credit upon Mr. La Rose and Mr. Bascom, who had conceived the plan and made the arrangements.

Twelve Sunday schools were represented. The Eliot, Newton Centre Baptist, Newtonville Methodist, Auburndale Congregational, Trinity, Newton Methodist, Immanuel Baptist, West Newton Congregational, Newton Centre Congregational, Central, Newton Highlands Congregational and the Grace with nearly 180 youthful contestants.

The Immanuel Baptist church and the Newton Highlands Congregational church were tied for first place with 17 points each while the Newton Centre Baptist and the West Newton Congregational were tied for third place with 15 points each. A handsome silver loving cup was the trophy for the winner but the tie has complicated the award. It is now proposed that the winning teams each contribute one half the expense of a duplicate cup in order that each may have a trophy of its skill.

The events included the usual run of athletic sports with two novelties in the banana and the shoe and sneaker races. In the former an adaptation of the familiar potato race, each contestant gathered up as many bags of bananas scattered along the course, and containing from one to eight bananas each, the winner being the one who brought in the largest amount of fruit. Harold Barber made the best time in this race, but was disqualified at the finish on account of fouling Seacord. Bravo was first with 24 bananas, Seacord, next with 22, Barber third with 20 and Mansfield fourth with 8.

In the shoe and sneaker race, there were 70 entries, each contestant running half of the 50 yard course in sneakers, then stopping to change to shoes before finishing the remainder of the race.

In the 220 yard dash, Rochford who came in second was disqualified as he did not represent a Sunday school.

The relay races were most interesting and the time in Class A of the Immanuel team was excellent, 1 minute, 40 seconds, for the one half mile. There were two classes in this event, Class A for boys over 17 and class B for those under that age.

Four teams entered the Class A, first race, The Immanuel, Newton Centre Baptist, Auburndale Congregational and West Newton Congregational. The Immanuel with C. V. Moore, W. Moore, Wharton and Ward were first and the Newton Centre team of Dudley, Hartley, White and Adams second.

In the second race in this class, the entries were Newton Methodist, Newton Highlands Congregational, Newtonville Methodist and Trinity. The Newton team of Barber, Thompson, M. Ward and Decker won in 1 m. 45 s. with the Newton Highlands school second.

In class B, the first race was between the Central, Immanuel, Newtonville Methodist and Newton Highlands Congregational the Centrals winning in 1m. 50s. with a team of Nagle, Craig, Caldwell and Davis.

The second race in this class between Eliot, West Newton Congregational and Newton Centre Baptist was won by the Eliot with Turner, Dunn, Barrows and Hawes.

In the half mile run, there were 10 starters, Craig setting the pace from the beginning for the first quarter, making that distance in 63 seconds but he soon run himself out and Harrington of Trinity won in 2 m. 18 1/2 s.

There were 85 entries in the 50 yard dash and it was run in 17 preliminary heats with semi-finals and finals.

Saved Thousands of Children from Cruelty.

According to the annual report of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which has just been published, the cases of five thousand and thirty-three (5,033) children, alleged to be cruelly treated, suffering from privations, or being reared under debasing influences, were investigated by the Society's agents last year. In five hundred and seventeen (517) cases, cruelty was so evident, or conditions were so bad, that it was necessary to go to the courts for prosecution. The Society takes this latter course only as a last resort, when persuasion fails or where cruelty has been shown.

The extent of the Society's work is evidenced by the statement that during the year sixteen hundred and thirty-nine children were placed by it in homes or institutions, some taken from unfit environments by order of the court, others surrendered by parents or guardians, not wishing to face prosecution.

Cases of frightful cruelty and of the most appalling degradation constantly come to the notice of the agents of the Society. Conditions exist which those who have never come in touch with that phase of life could scarcely believe possible.

It is not an overstated fact that, at this very day and hour, in this rich and intelligent Commonwealth, thousands of children are growing to maturity under conditions which, if no saving agency intervenes, must almost of necessity bring them to manhood and womanhood, with souls blackened, with minds dwarfed and distorted, and with bodies brutalized, all through the cruelty and neglect of fathers, mothers, and guardians, to whom they have every right to look for care and affection.

The Society is continually seeking to reach out further and further, to broaden its work, and make it still more thorough, but is handicapped by lack of funds.

The Massachusetts Society is supported entirely by private contributions. It receives no financial aid from State, city, or town, and is dependent upon the generosity of the public to keep its special agents at work, and maintain its home at 43 Mount Vernon Street, Boston. Every dollar given means so much toward saving some child.

Mr. Walker's Funeral.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Freeman A. Walker, one of Boston's best known merchants, were held at his beautiful residence, Newton Highlands, Sunday afternoon. A special car attached to the 12:45 train from the South station conveyed many of the mourners to the late home of the deceased, where the Episcopal service was read by the Rev. Clifford G. Twombly.

rector of the St. Paul's church. The Beethoven quartet sang, "Shall We Meet Beyond the River," after which the minister chanted "I am the Resurrection." The favorite hymn of Mr. Walker, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," was sung by the quartet and the simple and impressive service was concluded by the hymn "Lead Kindly Light." In a gray broadcloth casket the remains lay, upon the cover of which rested a magnificent shaft of jacqueminot roses, the offering of his brother, the only surviving member of the family, Col. Henry Walker.

The employees of the F. A. Walker Company sent a handsome standing wreath of roses, lilies and orchids, and testified their loyalty to their late employer by attending in a body. A delegation from the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, as also from the National Lancers, was present.

Mr. Walker had been in business for the past 50 years on Cornhill, and had a national reputation in commercial circles. Unostentatious in his charity, his hand and heart were ever ready to assist and sympathize with the distressed. The remains were taken to Quincy and interred in the family vault of the old Christ Church cemetery, the present rector of that church, the Rev. W. E. Gardner, reading the committal service at the tomb.

Automobiles vs Horses.

Newton, June 1, 1906.

To the Editor: Owners of horses, and the public in general seem to have no rights in the street, which the auto drivers are disposed to recognize. In these days of rapid transit, most every one turns their attention to the automobiles. This apparently, is the Auto age, the same as the bicycle had its age 10 or 15 years ago. Then about every man, woman and child, had one on the street, but the danger to the public was quite small then, compared to the present danger of the reckless automobile drivers. Any pleasant day, you can count the machines by the thousand, on the boulevards and narrow streets in the country. They certainly have their uses, as every one knows, but a very large proportion of the men, (or Brutes in Men's Clothing) do not even know the common rules of the road, and when they come tearing along through the street at 50 miles an hour clapping, tooting, saying, in actions louder than words, Get off the Road, you and your horses too, we own the earth. Horses certainly have equal rights on the road, which no one can dispute, except the autoist, who seems to think that the road was made for him, and which he is destroying more and more every year, by heavy touring cars and reckless driving.

Millions are expended every year, in abolishing grade crossings and yet these Locomotives are allowed to run over the streets, and People, too, with a free license to run down or kill, and not even stop to see how much damage has been done. The present laws are worse than useless, unless rigidly enforced and the transgressors should not only be heavily fined, but imprisoned for 30 or 60 days, possibly this might be a cure, for a while of this reckless driving. The other day some ladies were driving in Newtonville, one stepped into the house, leaving the horse by the road, and in some way the bridle came off, and the other lady got out of the carriage and tried to fix it. An automobile was standing not 50 feet away and the occupants saw the whole affair. Does the driver jump out and assist the lady? Certainly not, but he assists the horse in running away, by letting off steam and starting up. I suppose that brute thought it was a funny trick to see him run away, dragging the lady along the road, until she could hold on no longer. I suppose this is only one case of a thousand that you never hear about. If owners of horses have no rights in the street, that the autoist must recognize, why then they (owners of horses) ought to have a license to carry a gun and use it too, which I would do at the first opportunity.

Mt. Ida School.

The closing exercises at the Mount Ida School took place on Thursday and Friday of last week. The class day exercises were very pretty. The hall of the school was beautifully decorated in lavender, the class color, and the students, with their relatives and friends, filled the room and made a gay scene with their white dresses and summer millinery. The program consisted of an address of welcome by Miss Gladys Johnson, president of the class, the reading of the class history by Miss Fannie J. McGrew and during its recital, stereopticon pictures were shown of the members. The class prophecy was by Miss May H. Hawley and the class will was read by Miss Hulda B. Schulte. Class songs were sung after the reading of the will which contained many humorous bequests. The class also planted ivy on the lawn and a bon fire was made in which the seniors burned their text books. Friday evening came the commencement exercises. The class motto, was in evidence and was "Vincit qui se Vincet," "He conquers who conquers Himself." The program consisted of the Processional, March On, March On, Ye Soldiers True, composed by Arthur Thayer; prayer by Rev. D. M. James; Song, "I Waited for the Lord," Mendelssohn. Misses Hanson, Lovette, McGrew, Spalding and the school chorus. The address was then given on "Living in the Spirit of Art" by Dr. William Darnall MacClintock, professor of English in Chicago University. The school chorus then sang, "Hosanna," by Granier with violin obligato by Miss Helen Bascom and the diplomas were presented by Prof. Jewett. Rev. Dr. Walcott Calkins pronounced the benediction. At the close of the program a reception was held. The graduates are:

Concert.

More than 1000 varicolored canoes were paddled to Riverside on the Charles river Saturday evening when the first band concert of the season by the Canoeists' illumination association was held. A band was stationed on the B. A. A. float and for two hours rendered an excellent program. Canoes were thickly bunched for a distance of several hundred feet in every direction, while a large number sent their canoes gliding up and down the river. Many canoes were illuminated.

GRAND AUCTION SALE CHOICE HOUSE LOTS

NEWTONVILLE

Bunker Hill Day, June 18, 1906
Commencing at 2 O'Clock in the Afternoon

On the premises, will be offered at auction, without reserve, rain or shine, the very choicest of house lots in the block bounded by four of the finest residential streets—Washington St., Brookside Av., Eddy St. and Albemarle Rd.—very convenient to the Newtonville station, B & A R R.; frequent train service and electric cars pass; more desirable home sites cannot be found anywhere out of doors, and at the prices likely to be realized the proposition should appeal strongly not only to homeseekers, but to investors, builders and speculators as well.

The property lies almost exactly midway between City Hall, West Newton, and Masonic Hall and the Newton High School at Newtonville, and is but a short walk to either; take a look over the property and call on or write or 'phone us for further information and detailed plans, all of which will be cheerfully furnished to anyone interested.

The "All-Newton" Spirit Applied

Every thoughtful citizen of Newton has reason for gratitude in the new movement to induce a more pervasive interest in the public well, a finer social spirit and an appreciation of the community of our interests.

The plan to establish a civic centre by the purchase of the Claffin estate is worthy of the hearty support of every citizen. The conception is beyond criticism. Its realization will be a social joy and a civic pride. Cannot this "All-Newton" Spirit be still further applied?

We owe much to each other and to the city of Newton, but "All-Newton" owes much to the city of Boston. This is an obligation well worthy our serious consideration. By increased facilities of transportation the population of urban centres has rapidly changed in the last ten years. Large areas hitherto inaccessible are made available for residence and as fast as families reach financial competence they seek to own a home in an attractive suburb where their children may be reared apart from the deleterious influences of the city streets. The Newton of today is largely a product of this tendency. The removal of so many of the best people means the depletion of the working force of the city church which soon becomes incapable of maintaining itself under the new conditions. The city church faces the problem of the greater need of the population near its doors and the greater lack of forces and means with which to minister to the increased needs. The suburban church on the other hand has a competence of men and means and small local demands.

What responsibility has the suburban church to the city and how can it be discharged? Two modes of service readily suggest themselves.

First, the aiding of the city church, and second, the maintenance of redemptive work among populations yet beyond the reach of the ministries of the churches of the city.

In the first of these methods of help the city churches can do much to help themselves. Let the churches of the same denomination in a given area unite! The Baptists have done this in South Boston, East Boston, Chelsea, and are considering a like move in the South End. The sale of the property of one church has paid the debts of both, established one church on a living basis among an accessible constituency in a strategic centre. This can be done in other sections of the city by Baptists, Congregationalists and others, with great advantage. A minimum of expense with a maximum of efficiency is the ideal for administration.

Why should not two churches of the same sect in the same section of the city unite? Let the irrational sentimentalist and the unreasonable conservative answer.

Why perpetuate a dead issue? There are men in the mountains of the south who still cast their votes for Jefferson Davis. They have not heard that there is no longer a Southern Confederacy. One of the voters said recently, "Well, even if he is dead they can't find a better man."

It would be a comparatively easy task for the suburban churches of a given sect to strengthen the hands of the city churches strategically located. The task would assume definite limits, be easy of analysis and the application of relief become direct and immediate.

In the second method of service greater effectiveness is imperatively demanded by the increasing seriousness of the task. The first impulse of the virile and unselfish members of the family church in the residential district, when their hearts are stirred, is to undertake a mission in the city slums. This impulse seems to be truly sacrificial and to give evidence of the deepest consecration. Not infrequently rescue missions are started by small groups of Christian workers in the conviction that they are doing the most difficult and most needed work. But this is the most expensive and least effective mode of service. Expensive because the missions are separately maintained, usually by sectarian groups from individual churches; ineffective because these up-start missions afford just the opportunity which the most degraded of the city's drift are looking for. Christian workers ought to learn something from the police in these dark problems.

In the classification of the police there are three grades of city bums. (1.) The Restaurant Bum who washes dishes for his meals. (2.) The Saloon Bum who polishes brass for a free lunch. (3.) The last, lowest, and most degraded of them all—the Mission Bum who feigns conversion night after night at different missions for a chance to beg a lodging, a drink, or a breakfast.

The inexperienced, enthusiastic, devoted worker from the suburban church is not the one to deal with the dark side of the city problem. The present method of the separate, sectarian mission puts a premium on religious vagrancy among the city drift and adds the shame of hypocrisy to the already burdening disgrace of indolence.

Then, too, sectarianism is wholly irrelevant in the first approach of the church of Christ to the needy, unchurched throngs; especially is this true in the work among the foreign populations.

Yet the Bum and the Foreigner present the darkest problem in the city. The North End of Boston presents a striking illustration of a difficult problem and sectarian ineffectiveness. Why should four separate divisions of Christians press their varied claims in rival camps upon a practically heathen people? And this the first approach of a Christian Civilization to multitudes hitherto inaccessible.

The choice of a church home is later, much later than the first step in the redemption of a life. There ought to be cooperation of Christians whatever their name or namelessness in making provision for work among the most needy multitudes. This would secure a minimum of expense and a maximum of efficiency.

Then, too, the work ought to be more constructive in its method than that now carried on in the missions. The mission convert needs one of two things in order to "stay put." Either the continued emotional excitement of the mission hall service, or the constant watchcare, instruction and influence of devoted missionary teachers and friends.

Why do so small a percentage of the mission hall converts become efficient Christian men and women? Why do so many of them lapse into the old life? One is a purely psychological reason, the other a financial reason. The mode of life from which the man is rescued has depleted his finer energies. All that is left to work on is his over-stimulated emotional nature. The high-pressure religious meeting affords a substitute stimulus to which he submits. It becomes necessary for the mission service to furnish this abnormally intense stimulus in order to maintain the counteractive influence and subdue the forces of his nature which have long been regnant.

Something better, larger, more scientific ought to be done for that life. Why isn't it done? Because it is too expensive. He ought to be given a fresh environment in which he will receive natural solicitation toward the good. He ought to find new associations and be subjected to the influence of people of a nobler sort, whose friendly interest he may feel, the power of whose example will unconsciously lure him to the right. He should find a way to legitimate employment and the honorable acquisition of property through the cultivation of the habits of thrift and industry. He should be introduced to the avenues of a larger life through good reading and legitimate occupation of the leisure hours. He should be offered the opportunity for instruction and find his place among the responsible servants of social weal as head of a household, member of a club, member of a church; in a word he should be sympathetically and steadily led out of his littleness and separatism to find his place in the kingdom of God.

Such a process of redemption involves splendid service on the part of the rescuer; it involves time, study, attention, consecration, equipment, money. Indeed it involves so much that little of it is done. It is easier to do the other thing. But what ought to be done can be done.

For example, what can the city of Newton do for the city of Boston in the way of city mission work?

There are nine districts in the city of Newton, each of which is well furnished with churches, competent, intelligent, consecrated, whose membership in large part depend upon the city of Boston for business, entertainment and the usual opportunities of metropolitan life. Let the Christian churches of Newton unite in establishing a "Newton House" in the neediest district in Boston. Let this house be maintained by annual contributions from all the churches in Newton. An annual offering of six thousand dollars at least should be provided, an experienced head resident engaged on a living salary, with whom may be associated two or three assistants whose maintenance should be assumed by the House.

Into the work of the House the available energies of the Newton churches could be wrought, as teachers, kindergartners, heads of clubs, lecturers, friendly visitors, and leaders. The graduates as they return from college and look for avenues of usefulness may be allowed to take a term of six months or more "in residence."

Those who have had the delights of travel can give "pleasant evenings" for the city youth. Experienced men of business, lawyers, merchants, engineers, scientists, may give interesting lectures, sure of finding responsive audiences always. Sympathetic women may aid the mothers who live in the city tenements to bear their burdens and so help the real heroines of the hardest fight humanity ever waged to keep their hope and their courage. If the city women fail the battle is lost.

Evening class work may easily be organized for all ages and all manner of needs. The social, industrial, domestic and individual life of the community may be ministered to in varied ways. The religious needs may also be provided for in simple services where the vital truths of Christianity may be presented. Classes for religious instruction may be organized and all under the one hospitable roof.

Such an enterprise would have the dignity to command the cordial support of the intelligent members of the Newton churches and appeal to their truest altruistic spirit, afford abundant opportunity for varied social service and furnish the vital contact with human need without which the cultured Christian may lose his mellowness of heart and the vigor of his faith.

Such an enterprise well managed by a competent delegated board of directors, and strategically located in the centre of greatest need would give every church in Newton the channel it longs for to pour out the beneficent stream of its redundant life. Such an enterprise would really help Boston in the solution of its darkest problems by providing a plant and a process of redemption for the lives that are now parasites on the municipal body. Such an enterprise is beyond the power of any one church in Newton to maintain without sacrifice of interests to which we are now committed, but it is easily within the power of all the churches of Newton if they will cooperate in paying this obligation to Boston. Let there be an illustration of inter-urban Christianity. Let the "All Newton spirit" be applied and the problem is solved.

Everett D. Burr,
Pastor First Baptist Church in Newton.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

There were but three absent at the regular meeting of the board of aldermen on Monday night. Aldermen Bishop, Converse and Webster.

Hearings on petitions of the Telephone Company to locate a 9 H. P. gas engine on Cherry street, and for pole locations on Farwell st., were purely formal affairs. Mr. H. S. Allen, the Division Supt., appeared in favor of the petition of the Telephone Company to place 2 poles on Perkins street. No one was present on the petition of the Gas Light Co. to rebuild and enlarge its underground conduits on Homer st. and subsequently the regular permit was ordered.

Mayor Warren transmitted a request from City Treasurer Newhall relative to the countersigning of notes and bonds of the city and the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

Alderman White was designated by the President to draw three jurors for service at East Cambridge on June 11 and the names of John Oliver, Los Angeles st., Harry L. Winsor, Lowell ave. and William E. Scribner Jr., Lexington street were so drawn.

A communication from the School Committee relative to outside accommodations for the kindergarten at West Newton was referred to the Public Works Committee, and a communication from Public Buildings Commissioner Elder relative to desire of James Ford to erect a wooden business building on Commonwealth ave was referred to the Public Franchise Committee. The Board of Health submitted a statement in detail of expenditures for care of Contagious Sick in accordance with the request of the board at a previous meeting.

Notice from the Board of Police of Boston of the appointment of M. J. Kelley, J. W. McDonald and G. M. Woodward as railroad police for the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R. Co. and the record of conviction of Samuel M. Moore, for violation of conditions of his 6th class liquor license were placed on file.

A copy of Chap. 421 of the Acts of 1906, relative to the "pony" express, petitions of Roberts express, C. W. Keefe, J. Kenny, Fred W. Brown, Jos. P. Burke, Nicholas Veducchio and Adams Express Co. for licenses under said Chapter 421, of J. J. Bird for a wagon license, of A. D. Merriam for a Common Victualler license, of Chas. Lowson for licenses for 4 pool and 1 billiard tables, and of J. E. Coleman for a minor's license were referred to the Public Franchise Committee.

Petitions of Samuel W. Tucker for renewal of Auctioneer license, of H. H. Tilton Fireworks Mfg Co. to manufacture and sell fireworks, and of the Telephone Co. to locate a 9 H. P. gas engine on Cherry st. were granted without reference. Petitions of Alexander Brown for a Common Victualler license, of H. Meilman and of Morris Greenwald for junk licenses were given leave to withdraw without reference, Alderman Palmer explaining that these petitions were duplicates of what the board had already recently acted upon.

Claim of E. A. Rogers for refund of money paid for non-resident tuition was referred to the Committee on Claims.

Hearings were ordered for June 18 on petitions of the Telephone Company to relocate 2 poles on Boylston st. and to locate 2 poles on Crystal st., the petition of the same Company to remove 2 poles on Waverly ave being granted immediately.

On report of the Finance Committee, an order for $50 additional rent for Newton Highlands kindergarten was adopted, and reports received from the same Committee favorable to $1000 additional for Care of Contagious Sick, and approving recommendation of $7500 for purchase of school land at Nonantum, $500 for plans for new school at Nonantum, $500 for plans for new school at Newton Highlands, and for the altering and laying out of Union st.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises, the Gas Light Co. was granted the right to rebuild the city line of poles on Forest st., the Telephone Company were given attachments on Irving st., licenses granted to Nutting & Young to run 2 power launches on Charles river, a minor's license to Edward J. Cox, and a street musician license to Clementi Vitti: the petitions of the Gas Light Co. for poles on Perkins st. of Frank Richards for a Common Victualler license, of Filippo Vitti for a street musician license and of D. Bronfman and Abram Shreier for junk licenses were refused.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Works, hearings were assigned for June 18 on taking land for sewers in Cheney Ct., Gay st., and Pennsylvania ave, on the discontinuance of Welland road, on laying out, under the betterment act of Harrison st. and Dickerman road. The same Committee reported that it was inexpedient to water Beacon st., Waban, and favored the altering and laying out anew of Union st., and an appropriation of $7500 for purchase of school land at Nonantum.

A recess was taken for a half hour for committee meetings and upon reassembling, the order for $750 for improvement around the Thompsonville school house was taken from the table and adopted. Orders for altering Union st. authorizing sale of land 44 Faxon st. for $400 on account of Charity Dept., for observance of June 18th, for observance of July 4th, prohibiting discharge of fireworks before 4 A. M. July 4th, and for licensing sale of fireworks were adopted.

Alderman Hunt presented an order for $7500 for purchase of land on Watertown, Dalby and Crescent sts for school purposes and a hearing was ordered for June 18th thereon for the school committee. An order for $1100 additional for Care of Contagious Diseases was adopted after remarks by Aldermen Weston, Day and White. An order granting $100 additional for the Assessing Dept was also adopted.

The report of the City Engineer submitting schedules of sewer assessments on certain streets and of sewer charges was referred to the Finance Committee.

Alderman Hunt, the City Engineer, the Street Commissioner and the City Clerk were appointed a committee to represent the city on the perambulation of the boundary line between the cities of Boston and Newton.

Alderman Weston inquired into the matter of display of flags on school buildings and City Messenger Wellington stated the present law, which places that matter wholly in the hands of the school committee. He said that when he had charge of the flags on the school buildings each building was furnished with two flags. This remark was greeted with applause.

The City Clerk was directed to obtain information from the school committee relative to the matter and the board at 9:35 adjourned.

Carter-Adams.

One of the most brilliant weddings of the season was that of Miss Edith Adams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch C. Adams, of Lenox street, West Newton, and Mr. Hubert Lazell Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Carter of Mt. Vernon street West Newton on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The ceremony took place at Grace church, Newton, Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's church, Newtonville, officiating, and there was a large and representative gathering of Newton society.

The bride, who was in white satin with Spanish lace was attended by Miss Mary B. Adams of West Newton as maid of honor, and by these bridesmaids: Miss Ellen T. Brown and Miss Grace H. Legate of Newburyport, Miss Elsie Kimberley and Miss Eleanor Leatherbee of West Newton, Miss Julia Colby of Newton Centre and Miss Annie Waterhouse of Newtonville all wearing white Brussels net.

Dr. Frisbie's Impressions of San Diego

We left Riverside on the morning of February 19th, arrived at San Diego at 1.15 P. M. and made Hotel Coronado View our stopping place. This is the southernmost city in the United States and said to be the warmest and most equable, the thermometer registering the least variation. The railway guides and advertisers write in flying colors or rather words that there is "No Dampness, No chilly winds—No Fogs."

This is an absolute, unqualified falsehood. We were there more than a week and during the entire time we had but two days without dampness and fogs; and high winds all the time. Although the rainy season, we had but little rain, the fogs and dampness more than taking its place.

The wealthier and better class of the citizens, whether temporary sojourners or permanent residents have gone to the higher plateaus and built their residences because their it is healthier, more breezy, and a part of the time above the fogs.

San Diego is a fine, growing city, beautifully located on a wonderfully beautiful inlet from the Pacific Ocean, in full view of picturesque mountains on three sides and the graceful, safe and commodious harbor on the other.

The first afternoon of our arrival we took the electric and rode up to University Heights, a level, high plateau, past the State Normal School and out to the Pavilion and Ostrich Farm. We went in to see the ostriches—65 in number of grown birds—and quite a lot of chicken ostriches, several only two days old, and others several weeks. The baby ostriches could hardly stand alone. They would get upon their legs, take a tottling step or two and then tumble down. The keeper took us around to see the full grown ones and told us many interesting things about them.

They are rather dangerous and treacherous and even the keeper is obliged to be cautious when near them. They kick forward and the blow is sometimes very severe. Just beyond the ostrich farm is a grand view for miles through the valley lying far below leading to the old Mission founded by the Catholic padre, Junipero Serra, July 16, 1769.

The next morning we took the cars and rode nearly twenty miles up along the coast, to La Jolla (pronounced La Hoiya), one of the most beautiful places on the coast and wonderfully interesting. The village is situated on a high bluff of solid rock worn into fantastic forms and shapes by the waves of the sea. In one place deep caverns have been worn into the rock for near two hundred feet in which are rooms and chambers of large proportions. These can be entered at low tide by boats and at all times by stairs leading down to them. A small fee is charged to take this underground or rather under rock passage.

We spent an hour in a curio store kept by an elderly, scientific gentleman, who had gathered rare curiosities from land and sea all over the world. It was the finest collection we saw anywhere, and he was selling them at low prices. We purchased a few souvenirs and then returned to San Diego. In the afternoon we took the electric in front of our hotel to the wharf, went on board the ferry and crossed to Coronado Beach, where we took electric again and rode about ten miles, through a pleasant country, out to Hotel Del Coronado, one of the most beautiful, and most beautifully situated hotel in California.

It is very large, accommodating about eight hundred guests and is a royal palace in which to spend a few weeks or even months. I was told it took 17,000 yards of carpet to cover the floors. It commands a grand view of the city of San Diego, the valleys, plateaus and mountains in the distance, the harbor and the Pacific ocean.

Coronado Beach is a long, low isthmus or sand bar extending northwest from the main land, miles away, broadening out where the hotel stands. It was formerly an island. A railroad runs from the main land, the whole length of the isthmus, to the hotel. This is built around a square filled with beautiful trees, plants and flowers, which at night seems almost a fairy land; when the electric lights are flashing through the trees.

A morning after we took the train and rode about twenty miles, mostly through an uninteresting stretch of country to Tia Juana (pronounced Tee-ah Hwah-na and translated "Aunt Jane"). On leaving the cars we inspected the stone monument, close by, which marks the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. There we transferred ourselves to several rickety old wagons and were taken down the slope and after fording a small, sluggish stream dumped us in the little, dilapidated village of Tia Juana.

This consists of a few dozen small, unkept buildings or shanties, stores stocked with Mexican curios and several restaurants or hotels. We were attracted to one nearest to us by the ringing of a dinner bell and a loud voice crying "Dinner is ready," or something like that and we went in to a Mexican dinner of soup, tomatoes, beans and other eatables of which we know nothing. We tasted of most of the viands, paid thirty-five cents and were glad to get out doors again, and have not hankered after a Mexican dinner since. Mounting the carriages (?) again we rode back to the depot and soon were on our way San Diego wards.

At National city we left the train for an hour and then were taken up into the mountain gorges or canons to the renowned Sweetwater dam. This was built by "The San Diego Town and Land Company" several years ago to irrigate quite a large extent of territory, and proved a disastrous failure, as the rains failed to fill the reservoir. The stockholders were assessed to pay off the indebtedness and the most of them lost everything they had put in. A few men now own the whole business. I was told millions of dollars were spent in promoting this grand failure which at some future time may be valuable to the few. The whole affair was denounced to me as a foolish enterprise by men in San Diego, if not a dishonest swindle. The promoters of this enterprise should have spent years in investigating the climatic conditions, the annual rainfall and everything necessary to ascertain the probabilities of a sufficient water supply, before expending the immense amount of money in building this costly dam and the other large sums of money in railroad, piping and laying out a proposed city. Vacant houses, stores and house lots by the thousand are the result of this unwise and unwarranted expenditure. Many Newton men were interested in this scheme.

Point Loma, one of the most attractive drives at San Diego is a peninsula projecting out from the main land, washed by the Pacific Ocean on one side and protecting the harbor on the other. Between this and Coronado Beach lies the channel or entrance to San Diego harbor.

On this promontory is located the Theological Institution, under the rule of Catherine Tingley. The buildings are large and unique and generally strangers are not allowed to enter them. The grounds are extensive and finely laid out and kept in excellent condition. It is one of the most beautiful sites in or near San Diego. The Institution is adversely criticized by the San Diego people and probably not without cause. We took this drive one day leaving San Diego about nine in the morning and returning at five in the afternoon, visiting Old Town on our way home, to see the communal adobe house in which Ramona lived and the church close by where she was married.

Another pleasant drive we took up the San Diego valley to the old Mission, the first built in California. We rode up to University Heights, then down a canon, by a road cut in one side, to the valley below, a good piece of engineering, but rather dangerous unless in the care of a thoroughly experienced and careful driver. We descended safely but a carriage going down later was overturned but no one was seriously injured. A ride up the valley six or eight miles took us to the old, ruined Mission and church. Here an Indian school is conducted in a later date building, under the care of Catholic priests. In the absence of the priest a sister took us over the building, showing us the Indian children at play and at work making embroidery and one girl was running a sewing machine. The fog came in thick, damp and cold, up the valley as we rode home. Here we met Mr. George N. Hitchcock, a resident of San Diego for thirty-five years, and his pleasant, accomplished wife, both former residents of Newton. He was School Commissioner for San Diego County and later Superintendent of Schools for the City of San Diego. He is a lawyer and resides in a beautiful home on the eastern heights, from which a magnificent view is had in every direction. He is an enthusiastic admirer of San Diego and the climate of Southern California, and by his scholarly and scientific attainments has acquired a wide reputation.

The land boom is in full swing at San Diego, thousands of acres of almost useless land have been laid out in house lots, on the heights, in the valleys and the prices asked are staggering to the tourist. Land that a few years ago could be bought for a few dollars an acre, is now offered for sale in lots of 25 to 50 feet front at a price from ten to twenty times the acre value so short a time ago. The real estate men claim the advance is a normal one so many eastern people are coming here to buy and build, and that the growth will continue. Lots of land fifty by one hundred and fifty feet are held at $500 to $1500. And at La Jolla I was shown a lot of the same dimensions for which the price was $2500 and I was told of another near by that was held at $5000.

This seems incredible but real estate men gave me these figures and when I expressed my surprise added we sell those lots and get those prices right along.

A large tract of land has been secured and is now being laid out for a park which, in a few years, will render the city more attractive. Drives and walks have been constructed and thousands of trees, shrubs and plants have been set out and in a few years the whole region will be transformed from an almost valueless barren to a place of beauty. It is wonderful how quickly, in this climate with skilful treatment and water, the land not only will blossom like the rose but will be rose clad in exuberant fullness.

J. F. Frisbie, M. D.

A Monkey Affair

Residents of Boyd street, Newton, were treated to a whirlwind fight yesterday afternoon between a prize Boston terrier and a monkey, the latter being the property of an organ grinder. The monkey got the worst of the encounter, and was only saved by his master mixing into the fray.
It was shortly after 3 o'clock when the organ grinder hove in sight followed by the usual throng of children. At the residence where the terrier held forth he commenced to play and soon the monkey, as cashier, came forward to collect subscriptions.
While he was performing, the dog, attracted by the laughter, came around the corner of the house.
She stared in amazement for an instant and then there was a rush, a howl from the monkey and a string of choice Italian from the musician. The dog had the monkey by the back of his green velvet coat and shook him so rapidly that he resembled a merry-go-round. The monkey was at a disadvantage and could not use either teeth or claws.
The organ grinder mixed in to the extent of yanking vigorously on the monkey's rope and finally succeeded in rescuing his side partner. Then he hastened out of sight, filling the air with threats.

The nomination of Senator William F. Dana to be a justice of the superior court of this state is the natural and logical result of the faithful and valuable service he has rendered the Commonwealth during the past six years. Political wisecracks have prophesied for the past two years that President Dana's future led to the bench, and his appointment at the comparatively early age of 43 only emphasizes his pronounced fitness for the position.

It seems to be a case of congratulation all around. Governor Guild for his excellent judgment; President Dana, for the dignity and honor conferred upon him; the Commonwealth, on the acquisition of an able and conscientious judge; and the City of Newton that another of its citizens has been found worthy of high distinction. The city and district, however, will lose the services of a wise legislator and the General Court, will miss the guiding hand which has steered its course so consistently for the best interests of the state. What the bench has gained the state house has lost.

Governor Guild, in his public statement, declining to commute the death sentence of Tucker, has made a notable contribution to the state papers of this country. It is a masterly argument, marshalling an array of facts, and leading irresistibly to the conclusion, that the laws of this Commonwealth are to be executed.

If the execution of Tucker will but lead to an awakening of a public opinion in this state, that the old Mosaic law is a relic of barbarism, and that the death penalty does not harmonize with the Christianity of this day and generation, it is possible that the popular interest which has been aroused over his fate, will not have been in vain. Massachusetts lawmakers still cling to the Puritanical spirit in some things and it needs some such agitation as we have experienced the past few months to prove that the state is not as progressive in Christian acts and deeds as it boasts.

The retirement of Senator Dana will undoubtedly precipitate a scramble for the Republican nomination in this district. There has been a thorough understanding that when the Newton senator was through, the honor should go to the upper end of the district. Newton should adhere strictly to this program and be ready to heartily and above all, unanimously, support whoever may be selected by the country towns comprising the remainder of the district. We do not want a nomination-in-a-hat again.

The adoption of the sliding scale for the Boston gas situation is a decided compliment to a resident of Newton, Mr. Charles P. Hall, who with Mr. James E. Cotter were the minority of a commission appointed to consider the results of the scheme by Governor Douglas. Messrs. Hall and Cotter favored its adoption but were outnumbered by the remainder of the commission. 85 cent gas for Boston is the immediate result of adopting the ideas of Messrs. Hall and Cotter.

The opposition which is being made to the plan for a school solely for Nonantum, on the ground that the proposed building should include a larger, and wholly different district, is one of those Utopian schemes which are perfect in theory, but impossible in practice.

Next week witnesses the graduation of the grammar and high schools of this city. However much we may find to criticize in the school curriculum, it is pleasing to know that a Newton certificate of scholarship is of decided value in the educational world.

Waban School

Waban School closes its most prosperous year next week. Every room has been occupied and the work of the school has shown the marked results of individual instruction which is the peculiar feature of the school. Following is the commencement programme:

Sunday, June 17—Commencement

vesper service at four o'clock, with short addresses.

Monday, June 18, and Tuesday, June 19—Final examinations at 8.30 to 12.15 o'clock; annual field sports at three o'clock; graduating exercises at three o'clock; address by Rev. William F. Anderson, D. D., of New York, secretary of Board of Education, Methodist Episcopal Church.

Girls Play Baseball

The girls of freshman and sophomore classes of the Newton high school played a game of baseball (?) at Newtonville Wednesday, and after seven innings of the weirdest kind of playing the game came to an end with the sophomores in the lead, 28 to 17. There were a dozen or so more runs than the official scorer failed to notice. Both the pitchers were really clever. The feature of the play was the sliding to base of Shortstop Warren of the '09 team. The line up:

Newton Club.

The first of four promenade concerts was given Wednesday evening. The tennis courts were covered with canvas. In the centre stood a big pole, from which, radiating in all directions, were festoons of colored incandescent lamps. Other decorations were stars, crescents, fleur-de-lis and shields of lights.

Women in dainty summer gowns, with escorts, partook of refreshments, promenaded and danced.

The concert programme included selections from "Wonderland," "Miss Pocahontas" and "The Pearl and the Pumpkin" by Stiles' 8th regiment band.

Magnuson - Schofield

The wedding on Tuesday evening of Miss Elizabeth Horton Schofield, daughter of Mrs. Lane B. Schofield, to Mr. Mark Graham Magnuson of St. Paul, Minn., was one of the social events of the season.

The ceremony took place at the Central Congregational Church at 8 o'clock, that edifice being beautifully decorated with palms, pink hydrangeas and potted plants, the family pew being marked with pink sweet peas.

The bride was gowned in white satin and princess lace, made in princess style and wore a tulle veil fastened with gardenias. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and wore a diamond pin, the gift of her grandmother, and a diamond and sapphire bracelet, the gift of the groom. She was escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Lane B. Schofield. The maid of honor was Miss Myra Horton Schofield, a sister of the bride, who wore white silk and lace and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaids were the Misses Hattie E. Talbot of Warren, Pa., Louise J. Magnuson of St. Paul, Minn., Clara L. Carpenter of West Newton, Helen Clarke of Newton, Helen O. Avery of Newtonville, and Alice Myers of Newton Centre. These young ladies wore white organdie and valencian lace over pink taffeta silk. The ushers were Messrs. Albert and William M. Schofield of Newtonville, Byron B. Horton of Sheffield, Pa., Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Brookline, Lane Schofield of Williamstown, W. Va., and Frederick L. Higgins of New York city. The bridal party was met at the altar by the groom, attended by Mr. Paul B. Magnuson of St. Paul, as his best man and Master Parker Schofield, as page carrying the wedding ring on a tray. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Stocking, the pastor of the church.

A largely attended reception followed at the Schofield residence, 49 Bowers street, Newtonville, at which Mr. and Mrs. Magnuson were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lane B. Schofield and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Magnuson. The house was decorated with palms, roses and pinks. Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Horton, Miss Horton, Mr. Eugene Horton, Mrs. Walter Horton, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Schofield, Mrs. Elizabeth McNair, Mrs. Fletcher T. Parker, Mrs. Frances Marsden, Mr. and Mrs. Justin K. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Magnuson, Miss Ruth Magnuson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Garritt and Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Cray.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Magnuson will spend the summer at the home of the groom's parents, Fairview, Lake Minnetonka, Minn., and after September first will reside at Litchfield, Minn.

"You can please all of the people some of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you'll have a devil's own time trying to please all the people all the time."

Hon. Wm. F. Dana Appointed to the Superior Court Bench

Governor Guild sent the name of Hon. William F. Dana of this city to the executive council on Wednesday as a justice of the Superior Court of the state to succeed the late Judge Maynard.

The appointment was a decided surprise as Mr. Dana was not a candidate for the office and was personally urged to accept the appointment by the Governor. The nomination will be confirmed next week by the Council, but President Dana will probably serve through the present session of the General Court, as prorogation is expected very soon.

William F. Dana was born in Somerville June 26, 1863. He was educated at Hopkinton's School, from which he prepared for Harvard, graduating in the class of 1884, and from the Harvard Law School in 1887, being admitted to the bar that year. He has resided in Newton for many years, and his first political experience was as a member of the Common Council of Newton in 1897. In 1898, '99 and 1900 he served as alderman-at-large for that city, and was vice president of the board in 1900.

He was elected to the House of Representatives from the Newton district in 1901 and again in 1902 and 1903. During these three years he served upon the committees on judiciary, the revision of the public statutes and publication of the present revised laws of the Commonwealth. He was chairman of the Committee on Insurance and chairman of the Committee on Revision of the Corporation Laws. He served on the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, was chairman of the Committee on Dedication of the Lowell Textile School, chairman of the recess committee on salaries of State and County Officials.

President Dana was elected to the Senate in 1904, and was at once made chairman of the Committee on Judiciary and also of the Committee on Street Railways. He was also a member of the Committee on Rules. He was elected

Couldn't Budge Eliza

(From Harper's Weekly)

A chief of bureau in the Navy Department tells a good story of the time when one of the secretaries of the navy got the notion into his head that officers should not permit their wives to reside at the foreign stations to which their husbands might be attached. So an order to that effect was promulgated. Soon thereafter considerable perplexity and no little amusement was afforded the secretary when he received the following cablegram from Commodore Fyffe, then in command of the Asiatic squadron: "Secretary, Navy, Washington. It becomes my painful duty to report that my wife, Eliza Fyffe, has, in disobedience to my orders, and in the face of regulations of department, taken up her residence on the station, and persistently refuses to leave."

The perplexity and amusement was not confined to the office of the Secretary when the public got hold of the dispatch and Commodore Joe, had no end of explanations to make to his family and friends as Eliza Fyffe was a strange name in the family.—Ed.

Golden Wedding

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. I. Goodwin, Jefferson street, Newton, was celebrated on Monday June 11th at the home of their niece, Mrs. Walter B. Perkins in Lexington. The historic Munroe Tavern, built in 1695 remembered as Earl Percy's headquarters at the battle of Lexington and now rich in its furnishing of ye olden time made an attractive setting for such an occasion. The immediate family from Newton, Philadelphia, Lawrence and Boston were present to offer their best wishes and congratulations. The supper was served by a Boston caterer, and the guests entered the dining room to the strains of the Lohengrin bridal chorus played by Ellen Brewer, the young grand niece of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin.

A wedding bell which hung suspended from the electrolifer harmonized with the yellow and gold decorations of the room and table.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were presented with a purse of gold, among other remembrances, and after supper a poem in their honor was read by a nephew.

Mr. Goodwin was born at South Berwick, Me., April 12, 1825 the son of Dr. James S. Goodwin and the grandson of General Ichabod Goodwin of that place. Mrs. Goodwin, who was Miss Harriet J. Evans before her marriage was born at Portland, Me., and was the daughter of William Evans, a merchant of that city. They were married at Portland, Me., on June 11, 1856, and resided in Saco and Portland until they came to Newton 18 years ago. One son survives of a family of four and Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin reside with him.

SCHOOL BOARD

A special meeting of the School Committee was held Wednesday evening to take action on the matter of a proposed site for a new school building at Nonantum, the board of aldermen having assigned a hearing on the lot bounded by Watertown, Dalby and Crescent streets for next Monday evening. All the members were present except Messrs Morton, Howard, Whiting and Parker.

A number of Nonantum residents were present and were granted a hearing on the matter. They one and all protested against the site proposed by the aldermen, as being on the main street, opposite a drug store and as being too small for school house purposes. Politics were interjected into their argument on several occasions, and there was some feeling expressed against the local aldermen. At the conclusion of the hearing at which Rev. Mr. Oxnard, William Jenks, Wm. S. Bowen and others spoke the board unanimously adopted the following motion.

That the School Committee disapproves of the Manning lot suggested as a site for the proposed new school building in Ward 1, for these reasons:

First. A building on this site will not solve the problem of school accommodations in Ward 1, as pointed out by this committee in showing the needs of additional school room in Newton and Nonantum; it will not relieve the crowding in the Bigelow and the Underwood; it will not permit the abandonment of the Lincoln School.

Second. The proposed site does not appear to the Committee suitable for a building to accommodate only the Nonantum section; it is not large enough to allow any playground, a highly desirable adjunct to a school in this section; and it is undesirably near a busy thoroughfare.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Bothfield, Parker and Caverly was appointed to attend the aldermanic hearing on Monday evening.

D. R.

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R. held its annual Flag Day outing on Thursday, June 14. The party enjoyed a trolley ride to Lake Quinsigamond, a delightful sail around the lake and luncheon at the Tatassie Canoe Club on one of the numerous small islands. The afternoon was spent in visiting places of interest in Worcester.

Base Ball.

The return game yesterday afternoon between the Married men and the Market men of Newton on Cabot park was another victory for the Married men altho the difference between the two teams was not so pronounced as the former week. The Market men had a new pitcher in Coleman, who has only an over-the-left right to be called a marketman. His pitching was far more effective than that in the former game, altho the Married men touched him up a little in the first innings when three runs were scored. The line up was practically the same as before, but the game was much more interesting on account of the closeness of the score. But five innings were played as the field was wanted by other fellows.

In the first innings, the Market men failed to score, Bascom's pitching being hard to fathom. The Married men, however, rolled up three runs by Bascom, Dwyer and Smith, with Noden and Cronin left on bases.

In the second innings, Quinn and Bent struck out. Blue hit to Bascom whose throw was muffed by Newcomb at first. Blue got to second on a wild throw to Noden, and third on Coleman's hit to short. Failing to catch Blue at third, a belated throw to first to catch Coleman let Blue score, and Coleman got around to third on a muffed by Noden at second. Prescott sent a high fly to centre who misjudged it, allowing Coleman to score. Prescott got to second on a muffed by Noden, and stole third successfully. Lord got his base on balls and took second on the first ball pitched. Wilson sent a hard grounder to Noden and was the third out at first, Prescott and Lord being left on bases. Two runs.

In their half of the second inning, the Married men added one run to their total, Bascom getting to first on a fumbled hit to short, and home on Dwyer's hit to right field, all sorts of gyrations being performed by the ball in the meantime. Dwyer foolishly attempted to reach home on a wild throw to catch Bascom at the plate and was an easy out. David Noden and Newcomb struck out in the interim. One run.

The third inning started out like a winner for the Market men with a beautiful three bagger to left field by Sweeney and a run by him, when Sennott hit the ball to Noden. Sennott got to first on Noden's fumble and stole second and third. Quinn struck out. Bent got a base on balls and was out on an attempt to steal second. Blue struck out. One run.

Smith started the last half of the third with a safe hit and stole second. Cronin sent a sharp one to short, who slipped in his attempt to throw to first and Cronin was safe. Noden struck out. Hylands made a safe hit to centre sending home Smith and Cronin, and later stole second and third but was left as Miley and D. Noden struck out. Two runs.

The Market men tied the score in the fourth inning, rolling up three runs. Coleman hit to short, whose wild throw to first allowed him to reach third. He reached home on a passed ball. Prescott struck out. Lord got his base on balls, stole second on Noden's muffed, and tried to reach home on Wilson's hit to centre, but was put out at the plate. Wilson in the meantime going to second, stole third and came home on Sweeney's two bagger to right field. Sennott hit safely to right, stole second and got to third on a passed ball. Sweeney making the third run. Quinn made a baby hit to Bascom and was out at first. Three runs and a tied score.

Bascom in the last half, got to first on a poor throw by short, who easily got his hit. Newcomb's pop fly was muffed by the pitcher, and he reached first safely, altho Bascom was caught at second. Miley, who ran for Newcomb easily stole second, and came home on Smith's beauty to centre for two bags. Dwyer was hit by a pitched ball and was also driven in by Smith's hit. Cronin and Noden struck out. Two runs.

Hylands pitched for the Married men in the fifth inning and his opponents got three runs on hits and errors. Bent got his base on balls for a starter, and went to third on a wild throw. Blue sent a short hit to third, who made a wild throw to first, and Bent came home. Coleman followed with a hot one to third who was unable to hold it, Blue scoring. Prescott hit safely to right, and went to third on a wild and unsuccessful attempt to catch Coleman at the plate. Lord hit to third and Prescott was put out at the plate. Wilson got his base on balls, Lord reaching third on a successful steal. Sweeney fled out to right field. Sennott hit to short and Lord made the third out at home base. Three runs.

Only a portion of the last half of this inning was played, the Married men scoring two runs in quick succession, with Hyland's safe hit to left, followed by Miley's three bagger, and D. Noden's safe hit to left. And with none out, the game was won by the Married men with a score of 10 to 9.

There is a prospect of another game next Thursday afternoon between the Married men of Newton and the Married men of Brighton.

Clubs and Lodges

At a meeting of St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F. held in West Newton, Wednesday evening, six candidates were initiated.

A memorial service, under the auspices of Waban Lodge I. O. O. F. was held at the Universalist church, Newtonville, last Sunday evening. There was a large representation from Waban, Home and Newton lodges, Garden City Encampment and Highland Rebekah and Tennyson Rebekah lodges. Rev. J. T. Stocking read the scripture lesson and made the prayer and the music was by the Beethoven Male Quartette. Rev. Albert Hammett preached the sermon taking his text from First Corinthians, 13th chapter, 13th verse, "The Greatest of These is Love." He spoke of the three great links of Oddfellowship, Friendship, Love and Truth and dwelt at length on Love which he stated was broad, pure, practical and immortal. The service was in charge of a committee of arrangements composed of Past Grand George A. Fewkes, Charles M. Kelso and Walter S. Cunningham.

—The Union Church Society made merry Wednesday afternoon and evening at a lawn party and sale held on the spacious grounds of Mr. Frederick W. Webster, Windsor rd. The grounds were artistically decorated with Chinese lanterns and about the shrubbery and in the pavilion tables were set out with fancy articles, candies, icecream and cake. A hurdy gurdy and phonograph alternated in making music. In the evening the special attraction was a fairy dance by young ladies of the church. The evening especially was largely attended and effects pretty, the whole affair being very successful.

—A magnificent day, and one hundred and five members of the Church of the Good Shepherd Parish, young and older bent on enjoying themselves to the utmost, assured the success of the second annual picnic at Nonesuch last Saturday. Three barges, packed, left Waban at 8.30 and at 10 all tumbled out at the pond ready for a day of jollity. Baseball athletic games, wading and resting occasionally, was the program, and not to forget the most important part of a picnic, the lunch was overabundant and excellent sandwiches, crackers, cake, ice cream, hot coffee and cold lemonade were served. At five o'clock the three barges brought back a tired but satisfied band and the "2nd annual" had more than sustained the reputation of last year's.

About Town

The city never looked more beautiful than it does at the present time. The ample rains of the spring have given us a foliage and growth of lawn which is unusual.

The residents of Nonantum are treading on their own toes in fighting over the location of the proposed new school in that district and the leading remonstrant would have more standing in the fight if he was not an agent of a piece of property which was unsuccessfully in the market for the building.

June weddings are coming along plentifully and the clerk of the weather appears to be in a gracious mood.

The Tucker funeral brought out another crowd of people, whose inordinate curiosity was almost a disgrace to humanity.

The aldermanic meeting on next Monday evening promises to be quite interesting.

The contest between the mayor and school committee of Haverhill over the mayor's order to close the public schools to allow the children to attend the circus, seems ludicrous from this distance.

The Albany railroad has got out a new time table and added several trains to the local service. There is an extension of the plan of special trains on certain days.

GRAND AUCTION SALE CHOICE HOUSE LOTS

NEWTONVILLE
Bunker Hill Day, June 18, 1906
Commencing at 2 O'Clock in the Afternoon

On the premises, will be offered at auction, without reserve, rain or shine, the very choicest of house lots in the block bounded by four of the finest residential streets—Washington St., Brookside Av., Eddy St. and Albemarle Rd.—very convenient to the Newtonville station, B & A R R; frequent train service and electric cars pass; more desirable home sites cannot be found anywhere out of doors, and at the prices likely to be realized the proposition should appeal strongly not only to homeseekers, but to investors, builders and speculators as well.

The property lies almost exactly midway between City Hall, West Newton, and Masonic Hall and the Newton High School at Newtonville, and is but a short walk to either; take a look over the property and call on or write or 'phone us for further information and detailed plans, all of which will be cheerfully furnished to anyone interested.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

Two remarkable events have taken place under the gilded dome to mark the closing days of the session of 1906 as one memorable in the history of the State House. The first of these was the hearing of the Tucker case by the Governor, on a petition to commute the sentence, and the second, was the so-called investigation of the House of Representatives by the Committee on Rules of that body.

The result of the hearing in the Tucker case, was the production of one of the most important and interesting state papers that was ever placed on file in the archives of the State House. The finding which was submitted by Governor Guild was a remarkable human production in many respects, and will stamp its author as among the first citizens in his generation of Massachusetts history. It was a classic, aside from its importance in other respects, for it is "a work of acknowledged excellence and authority" and, as Webster quotes Macaulay, as saying, "It at once raised him to the rank of a legitimate English classic." The closing words of this exceedingly just and clear-eyed document, should be written over every domestic fireside:

"This melancholy chapter in our history may not have been written in vain if it serves to warn the youth of our commonwealth tempted by the allurements of vice and ignoble life, that the wages of sin is death, if it serves to show that government in Massachusetts still stands on the rock of her own constitution to the end that it may be a government of laws and not of men."

The investigation which began by being infamous and at last developed into a famous investigation, has closed, as its doors have been from the first. The report may reveal why the doors were necessarily closed, but, up to the end of the hearing, nothing has come out, as each witness has emerged from the Chamber from time to time and responded to the modest and timid reporters. The Committee on Rules, that has been carrying on the hearings is composed of a choice aggregation of statesmen. In short, the Speaker, who considers this committee his chosen ones, had his pick of the flock two hundred and forty, and gathered about him the men whom he felt would work in harmony during the session, and apparently they have. As the services of this committee are likely to survive much of the work of the present session, a glance at its personnel may be of interest. In the first place, there is Hayes of Lowell, who was in the State House long before the close of the last century; Walker of Brookline, who will be the next Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, if Brookline does her duty in returning him; Ames of Orange, who with Turtle of Pittsfield is long on law, and who is likely to be in the Senate before his hair parts very widely in the middle; Peabody of Cambridge, and Lowell of Newton, both bearing the aroma of Harvard College fragrant about with them; the two "honest" Democrats, Quinn of Boston and Dean of Wakefield, both of whom were doubtless selected because they were honest; and Seward of Watertown with Wheeler of Concord, who are both able legislators way above the average. As one analyzes this group, he is at a loss to select among them any member adapted to wielding the whitewash brush, and it is doubtful if speaker Cole had that accomplishment in view when he checked off the committee. The question naturally arises,—If there was no whitewash brush, who carried the sponge? As Turtle has much the largest hand in the committee, it is highly probable that his fingers entwined that fibrous substance, and that he aided very materially in the cleansing process. No! the committee did not whitewash, but it sponged off the House after its vapor bath had been administered by the Moran steam process.

The report will doubtless clear up many things which at this writing hang like a fog about the alleged probing affair. One of those things, is why more was not evident as to the real trouble of the defeat of the Bucket Shop Bill. The committee has had the tumor within its grasp and has allowed it to slip through its hand as an eel would glide from the palm of a baby. Any well-wisher of our General Court will always regret the effect of the useless publicity given to this whole affair by the unwarranted interference of the District Attorney of Suffolk County. The infame of his connection with the legislature of 1906 has penetrated to the uttermost parts of the country. George T. Angell, who says his papers goes in to every publication office in North America, printed the following paragraph in his last issue, with no explanation regarding the outcome and the miserable fiasco.

"The action of our Boston (Suffolk County) District Attorney in summoning (by subpoena served on every member) both House and Senate to appear before the Grand Jury of Suffolk County, to be examined in regard to alleged charges of bribery and graft at our State House, is probably one of the most remarkable ever undertaken by a prosecuting officer in our country, and perhaps in the world."

Mr. Angell was mistaken about the Senate being subpoenaed, but the widespread publicity could not have been more extended, if the forty Senators had been added to the two hundred and forty Representatives who were hailed down to Pemberton Square.

There are just thirty-nine members of the Senate who differ with the statement made in this column recently, that, barring the president of that body, the Senate had no leader this session. At last there is one subject upon which that honorable body is unanimous, and that is, that the foregoing statement was a mistake; probably it should have been said that there were a plenty of leaders in the Senate, which would have allowed abundant cover where one could have retreated in case of attack. As it is, the writer has only the truth to shield him, and what is that, in a contest with thirty-nine honorable Senators?

If the Boston fight on the re-districting of the State is allowed to penetrate the entire Commonwealth, goodness knows where we shall land, or who will be satisfactorily located in future political contests. The threat now is, that the courts will be called upon to settle the whole affair as soon as it gets through with Scofield's bounty bill, if it ever does. What have we an Attorney General for anyway? He must be good for something more than to be asking questions of the members of the House about their indulging in Bucket Shop tangle-foot.

The investigation committee found lobbyist Bullock, after all, but what did it find on Bullock? Nothing more than what was in the possession of every other lobbyist, a full supply of ignorance about the Bucket Shop Bill. There perhaps never was a bill passed by either branch about which the lobby knows so little, as the Logan Bucket Shop Bill, which the lobby succeeded in defeating, and yet the old adage "so near and yet so far" evidently never once came into the minds of the inquirers.

The debate Monday in the Senate on the Merger Bill gave evidence of the strength which a fair proposition, stated on broad grounds and in liberal terms, may have with broad and liberal minds that are unaffected by prejudice and narrow-mindedness. The argument of Senator Scofield was absolutely underable, and no attempt to dispute the grounds taken by the Essex Senator was made.

Now, if the house will amend the bill by adding the amendment that Representative Walker of Brookline offered last year, regarding stock watering, then by guarding the interests of the public, we shall have as near a perfect piece of legislation as has been enacted at this session.

Edgar J. Bliss.

Norumbega Park.

Some people say that they go to Norumbega Park for the excellent performance of vaudeville, comic opera and comedy in the comfortable big open air theatre every afternoon and evening. Others that they take the trip for the delightful trolley trip and excellent bill of fare in the restaurant, or the canoeing on the Charles or the superb collection of wild and domestic animals in the zoological garden, and while it is probably true that almost everybody has a preference for some one of the major attractions at the park although enjoying a good many of its hundreds of attractions a popular vote would doubtless reveal the fact that the great majority of the thousands of visitors there daily and every evening consider first of all what they will see in the open air theatre. Norumbega Park has its largest crowds on Sunday and from early in the morning until evening the electric bearing the blue pennant with the letter "N" in white on a blue field are crowded with visitors for this perfect woodland resort on the Charles. Many a patron boasts that it puts new life into him to spend a Sunday at Norumbega. He returns to the city refreshed and feeling at peace with the world and retires with a firm conviction that he is all the better prepared to fight the battles of life in business the next day and all the coming week. There are almost as many Sunday attractions at Norumbega as during the week and to be able to stroll about the well shaded paths catching occasional glimpses of the picturesque river with gay canoeing parties dotting it everywhere, or occupying any of the many observation seats commanding views of the river, or dining in the excellent restaurant with its verandah concerts, or personally indulging in the rare delight of canoeing or in fact any of the many amusements and recreations is well worth a trip to this delightful resort. Each week an entirely new program is presented in the grand covered open air theatre with its seating capacity of over 3000, which is hardly adequate for the large crowds that visit it daily.

Y. M. C. A.

That the Sunday school meet was a success is the verdict of all who attended. Mr. Chas. A. Cohn of the State committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island says, "I think it was one of the greatest things we have had in this state. I was particularly impressed with the size and quality of the audience."

The members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. who won points at the State Athletic meet at Wood Island Park were George Doyle first in the mile run, George Bradley 2nd in the pole vault, C. V. Moore 2nd in the 440 yd. run, J. Gaw, Jr. 3rd in the 220 yd. run, and H. F. Barber 3rd in the high jump. Newton won second place.

On June 28th about 25 boys will start for Camp Becket in the Berkshires. Mr. Ward, the Boys' Work Director, will accompany them and be at camp the first two weeks of July. The camp is open during July and August. It is not conducted to make money, as so many camps are, but to give an outing under the best conditions to boys of this state. The number of boys is limited to 100 at any one time. Any who may be interested will be told all about the camp by calling or writing to the Newton Y. M. C. A.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

Next Monday the Claflin Guards turn out with the Regiment on occasion of the Charlestown celebration of Bunker Hill Day. Leaving the Armory at 12.45 a special car will be taken to Charlestown, the parade starts at two o'clock and will be strictly military. After being dismissed the company will return to the Armory where a bountiful supper will be provided.

The company was taken in hand by Lieut. Daniels Monday night and given some fast work in company movements after which they came in for some practical stork in guard duty under Lieut. Conter.

Capt. Guilford was an interested visitor at the camp of the Second Regt. at Framingham, Sunday, as the guest of Capt. Turner of Springfield. He reports the work of that outfit as rather below the standard set by the "Dandy Fifth."

The "Shirt Waist Party" held last Friday evening was well attended and proved to be a most enjoyable affair.

Lasell.

At Lasell Seminary the commencement exercises were continued Friday evening by the joint banquet of the literary societies for the senior class. Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the exhibition and annual prize drill of the Lasell Battalion was held and proved as interesting an event as in former years. The campus was gay with the colors of the rivals, Company A and Company B and yellow or red flags bearing the letters A or B waved everywhere.

"Sam," a white billy goat, the mascot of Company A, draped in a yellow blanket and bows on each horn, stalked majestically through the crowd, led by Master Leslie Jones.

Melton Bemis, 4 years old, the mascot of Company B, carried a red flag. The girls looked very soldierly in their blue uniforms and caps, and handled guns like veterans.

The competitive drill between Company A, Capt. Helen E. Carter, and Company B, Capt. Edna L. Thurston, was won by B. The prize was the school banner, which is yearly engraved with the name of the winning company. In the individual prize drill, the first prize, a silver maltese cross suspended from a rifle, was won by Lela H. Goodall of Company B. The second prize, a silver shield, went to Mildred D. Woodbury of Company A, with honorable mention for Lucy L. Terry of Company B.

The prizes were awarded by W. A. Wetherbee, Present Department Commander of the Massachusetts G. A. R. The judges were Capt. Charles H. Hillman, Company B, 8th regiment; Capt. Frank S. Wilson, artillery corps, and Lieut. John I. Barrows, Troop A, 1st squadron cavalry, all of the militia.

Following the presentations the companies formed battalion parade, commanded by Capt. Helen E. Carter, acting major, after which the cadets were dismissed.

The Lasell girls, with their friends, were entertained in the evening by Mrs. Blanche C. Martin of Waltham, who presented her own adaptation of Justin McCarthy's "If I Were King."

On Sunday morning at the Congregational church Bishop Cyrus W. Foss delivered the sermon before the graduating class, who wore their caps and gowns. In the evening there was the commencement evensong.

On Monday afternoon the organ concert was given by Mr. Henry M. Dunham and in the evening the class day exercises were held. The grounds were beautifully decorated and strings of colored electric lights were festooned from trees and buildings, while over the main entrance a huge '06 blazed. When the seniors, in cap and gown, marched to the gymnasium, a daisy chain 450 feet long was looped across their shoulders. The class sang a processional hymn written by Mildred Pierce of the class.

An address of welcome was delivered by Maude B. Simes, the president, and the roll was called by Katherine C. Washburn. Statistics were read by Helen F. Carter and Miss Simes sang. The prophecy was read by Fanny I. Thatcher and a very humorous class will be read by Mildred Pierce.

After the exercises the 32 seniors again formed, each attended by a white-clad junior bearing a torch, and marched around the campus, giving the class yell. They halted by the gate and presented to the school a wrought iron lamp to match the one in position. The presentation was by Marie L. Andrews.

"At the Shrine of Athena" ended the observances. The seniors brought out their books, piled them on a huge bonfire and danced hand in hand around the fire.

The Commencement exercises were held Tuesday morning at the Congregational church when the oration was delivered by Bishop William F. McDowell of Chicago, formerly president of Denver University. At the close Prof. Charles C. Bragdon presented diplomas to the graduating class numbering 32 young ladies. Later there was singing at the Crow's Nest and the graduates performed the annual custom of handing down the caps and gowns to the next senior class.

A business meeting of the Alumnae came at 5 o'clock and the Golden Jubilee banquet at 5 given by the seminary. Classes '54, '55 and '56 held class reunions. An interesting fact is that Miss Carpenter and Miss Blaisdell have been at the seminary 33 years and Dr. Bragdon and Mr. Hills 32 years.

At the banquet Prof. Bragdon acted as toastmaster. Informal toasts were responded to by ex-Gov. John D. Long, Alfred D. Hemenway and W. E. Huntington. Miss Lillie R. Potter, of the '80 class, responded to the toast "Alumnae." Other speakers were Miss Lillian M. Packard and Leon H. Vincent. The jubilee song which was sung was written by Frances Bent Dillingham.

Mrs. Taffe Dead

Mrs. Nora F. Taffe, wife of Patrolman Richard T. Taffe, passed away at the Newton Hospital Saturday evening of pneumonia after a short illness. She was the daughter of the late Thomas Ryan and was born in West Newton 41 years ago. Deceased is survived by her husband, four daughters and three sons. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated at St. Bernard's church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock with Rev. Fr. O'Toole as celebrant and Rev. Frs. Galligan and Cronin as deacon and sub deacon respectively. The church was filled with relatives and friends and there was a profusion of floral tributes a number of them being from the organizations to which Mr. Taffe belongs. The bearers were Messrs. Quilty, Conroy and Shaughnessy from the Newton police department and Messrs. Duffy of Jersey City, Clark of New York and William Taffe of Newton. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

VACATION IN THE COUNTRY.

Green Mountains, Lake Champlain Popular with City People.

Thousands of city people are now thinking about their annual summer outing, and to such good judgment suggests a vacation in the country. There city men and women, boys and girls, may have a real chance to repair the waste of brain and nerve force that comes through strenuous living.

A railroad ride of several hours will put them down in the very heart of Vermont, the grandest vacation land in the east. Vermont not only surpasses other sections in the beauty and variety of its scenery, but in the healthfulness of its climate and in the opportunities it offers for the enjoyment of out-door life.

Indeed, to one who loves nature in her quiet and sweetest moods no corner of our land is more attractive. Book describing and picturing Green Mountains, Lake Champlain and Canada resorts, for 6 cent stamp by applying to W. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A., 360 Washington St., Boston.

Williams - Hall

One of the early June weddings in Newton Centre was that of Miss Oriana Phillips Hall, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. J. M. W. Hall and Mr. Ernest Hatch Williams of Cambridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Williams, which took place at the home of the bride on Lake Avenue, Newton Centre Tuesday evening June 12th. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, daybreak pinks, pink tea roses, peonies and daisies.

The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. McKenzie of the First Congregational church, Cambridge assisted by Rev. Dr. H. P. Smith of Amherst. The best man was Mr. William G. Newlin of Pottstown, Pa., and the maid of honor was Miss Helen Hall, sister of the bride. The bride was gown-d in white messeline, with duchesse lace bertha, the maid of honor pink silk crepe de chene and the bridesmaids the Misses Alice Logan of Allegheny, Pa., and Catherine Phillips of Hanover, Mass., wore white pointed d'Esprit over pink silk. The ushers were Messrs. James R. Hall of Hanover, Stanley B. Hall, Henry B. Hall, Horace W. Hall all of Newton Centre and all brothers of the bride, Curtis Walker of Yale University, New Haven, Conn., and John Erskine of Amherst College, Amherst.

A reception followed the ceremony from 8 to 10 o'clock the bride and groom being assisted in receiving by Hon. and Mrs. Hall and Mr. S. F. Williams. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside in Cambridge.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—Success of no mean order has crowned the efforts of Harry Bulger in Henry W. Savage's production of the new musical fantasy, "The Man From Now," at the Tremont, which is enjoying an unusual vogue for this time of the year. But the heat is not worrying the playgoers, for the Tremont is one of the coolest theatres in America, as it is assuredly the coolest theatre in Boston. The play is just the proper vehicle for the exploitation of Mr. Bulger's peculiar capabilities; his supporting cast is one of unusual excellence, and the chorus is without a doubt the best ever sent to Boston with any musical attraction.

The story of "The Man From Now" is brief and simple, though at the same time it is absolutely original and extremely unique. It concerns the adventures of a college professor who seeks to peer into the future. He invents a machine which propels himself and three associates into the year 2000, and the adventures the trio go through are enough to take all the wrinkles from the brow of tired man. The book and lyrics of "The Man From Now" are by John Kendrick Bangs and Vincent Bryan, while the music is from the unusually prolific pen of Manuel Klein. There is a swing and a catch to every bar of the music which is most delightful, and it is to be questioned whether or not anything more tuneful has ever been put into a modern musical production. Mr. Bulger is happily fitted, and he will unquestionably remain at the Tremont throughout the entire summer. Matinees are given Wednesday and Saturday.

Keith's Theatre—Keith's will certainly be a pleasant place for amusement seekers during the week commencing June 18 if the variety program given below is to be served up continuously for its patrons. The principal newcomer on the bill will be R. F. Outcault, the creator of two of the most popular characters ever exploited in the newspapers, "The Yellow Kid" and "Buster Brown," the latter of which has achieved a great vogue throughout the whole country. It is a safe assumption to make that all the children who can secure room in Keith's will be on hand to welcome the famous illustrator. Another newcomer of first magnitude is Grace Cameron, the dainty little comedienne, formerly star of "Piff! Paff! Puff!", who is one of the most artistic entertainers in her line appearing in vaudeville, some of the others in the surrounding show will be Wills and Hasan, marvelous acrobats and hand balancers. Hugh Stanton and Florence Modona, in their mirth-provoking satire, "For Reform"; World Comedy Four, vocalists and funmakers; The Alpha Trio of skilful hoop rollers; Leonard Kane, one of the best dancers in the varieties; Tom Moore, strenuous "coon shouter"; George and Libbie Dupree, in a German character sketch, and Corbely and Burke conversational comedians. The Fadettes woman's orchestra, who have become one of the summer institutions of Boston, will have an entire new program of popular selections, and Horace Goldin, the famous magician and illusionist, who has had all Boston talking the past six days will be the only holdovers. As usual, an entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Majestic Theatre—Of all the musical shows that ever struck Boston during the heated term "The Tourists", which begins the third week of its engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next Monday, is surely in the lead. It is radically different from the average summer musical show inasmuch as it possesses considerable plot and music of real value. A point which the sponsors of "The Tourists" wish to emphasize is that the show is not going to be in Boston for any great length of time—in a word it is not here for an all-summer run. The show is booked at the Lyric Theatre, New York, for the summer and will begin the engagement there immediately at the close of its engagement at the Majestic theatre in Boston. Richard Golden and Julia Sanderson are making the hits of their respective stage careers in the two leading roles. Mr. Golden is a comedian who is too well known to need any introduction and it is quite sufficient to say that the character of Timothy Todd gives him opportunities to be fully as funny as one can wish. Miss Sanderson has been voted, by all who have seen her, the sweetest, prettiest, daintiest, most altogether charming little prima donna soubrette Boston has ever seen. Two new principals made their first appearance in the east last Monday. Miss Vera Michelena sang the prima donna role of Princess Cholulu and scored an instantaneous hit, and Alfred Hickman took the role of John Duke, the enterprising young American. Others in the all star company are William Pruette the famous basso, George Schiller, the favorite comedian, Phil H. Ryley, Della Niven, Anna C. Wilson, Edna McClure, Edna Chase and Mabel Wilbur.

Castle Square Theatre—During the third week of the summer opera season at the Castle Square Theatre, Planquette's popular opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," will be sung by the group of singers that have already completely established themselves in the esteem of theatre goers and music-lovers. Ever since its original production in Paris nearly thirty years ago, "The Chimes of Normandy" has remained in the first rank of light operas. It is a three-act operetta, and its romantic story, its picturesque characters, and its tuneful music make it in every way bright and attractive. In the part of Serpolette, Claudia Albright will make her debut as a leading soprano of the Castle Square summer forces. She has been for several seasons with Henry W. Savage's opera company, and she has gained no little distinction through her acting and singing of the title character in "Peggy from Paris." Miss Albright will remain at the Castle Square through the summer season.

Surprise Party

The New England Colony in Hemet, California, surprised Mr. Herbert L. Thompson at his beautiful new home on State street last week with an elegant morris chair of carved polished oak with genuine olive leather cushions as a token of esteem for their worthy and eminently popular friend. Mr. Thompson (formerly of Waltham and Newton) is now of the firm of Thompson and Chaffin, real estate of Hemet. The rooms were filled to overflowing and the evening passed very pleasantly with the Barlow orchestra and other features of entertainment that usually attend an old time N. E. Social.

GEN. ALDEN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Brigadier General Charles H. Alden, U. S. A., retired, of Washington Park, Newtonville, died in Pasadena, Cal., Thursday. He was born in Philadelphia, Pa., April 28, 1836, son of Rev. Charles H. Alden, chaplain U. S. Navy. He graduated at Brown University 1856 with degree of A. M., and at Pennsylvania Medical College, 1858, with degree of M. D. In April, 1859, passed the board detailed to examine applicants for commission in the medical corps of the army, and for the year following was employed under contract awaiting vacancy in the corps. In July, 1857, served with troops sent from Carlisle Barracks, Pa., to Department of New Mexico. In September, 1859, was stationed at Fort Defiance, and in the fall of that year served in the Navajo campaign in skirmishes in the Tunita mountains, New Mexico. In December, 1859, was stationed at Fort Garland, N. M. He was commissioned first lieutenant and assistant surgeon, June 23, 1860, and in January, 1861, was on detached service at Balch's Ranch, N. M. In April of same year he was stationed at Taos, N. M., and in June at Ft. Marcy, Santa Fe, N. M., acting as medical director. July, 1861, he was stationed at Fort Filmore, N. M. In 1861 he was serving in the field at Las Cruces, N. M., and after an engagement with the Confederates near that place, was taken prisoner with Major Lynde's command of the Seventh Infantry. He was paroled and accompanied the troops to Fort Leavenworth, Kas., and was afterwards stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Rouse's Point, N. Y.

In June, 1862, he was on duty at the surgeon general's office, Washington, D. C., and organized the Georgetown College Hospital. In October, 1862 he was released from parole and was on detached service with headquarters Army of the Potomac during the Battle of Fredericksburg, Va., and was in charge of transportation of wounded from Falmouth to Aquia Creek. April, 1863, he took command of Turner's Lane General Hospital, Phila., and was recorder of the Army Medical Examining Board. During 1863 and 1864 he was on duty in connection with drafts in Pennsylvania. In June, 1864, he was assistant medical director, Department of Pennsylvania, and in January, 1865, was assistant medical purveyor.

He was promoted to captain, June 23, 1865, and brevetted major and lieutenant colonel for faithful, meritorious services during the war. In July, 1866, he was promoted to major and surgeon, and in the May following, was in the field in Wyoming with the Thirtieth Infantry, who were protecting the building of the Union Pacific Railroad against hostile Indians. He afterwards, September, 1867, served at Fort D. A. Russell, in Wyoming. In November, 1870, he was stationed at Fort Gratiot, Mich., and in August, 1872, at Fort Porter, N. Y. He took the station at Fort Walla Walla, Wash. Ter., in November, 1873, and in August, 1875, was with troops in the field at Wallawa Valley, Or. He afterwards served at Fort Townsend, Wash. Ter., and in July 1877, was in the field with the expedition against the Nez Perce Indians, participating in the Battle of Clearwater, Id., July 12th, and the skirmish at Kamiah, July 17th.

In the fall of 1877 he was made recorder of the Army Medical Examining Board at New York City. In December, 1882, he was stationed at Fort Yates, Dak., and in October, 1884, at Fort Snelling, Minn., both as post surgeon and attending surgeon at department headquarters. In September, 1887, he was stationed at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., and during his stay there was on detached service as president of the Army Medical Examining Board in New York City, reorganizing the form of examination for admission to the medical corps of the army. On Nov. 14, 1886, he was promoted lieutenant colonel and deputy surgeon general, and soon afterwards was stationed at St. Paul, Minn., as medical director of the Department of Dakota.

In May and October, 1889, and again in 1892, he was president of the Army Medical Examining Board at New York City. In August, 1890, he was sent to Berlin, Germany, to represent the army at the Tenth International Medical Congress. In August, 1892, he was made principal assistant to the surgeon general at Washington, D. C., and placed in charge of the hospital corps and supply division, the position he held during the Spanish-American War. He was also the first president of the Army Medical School and was lecturer on "Duties of Medical Officers." October, 1893, and October, 1894, was president of the Army Medical Examining Board at Washington, D. C.

In November, 1896, he was a delegate to the Pan-American Medical Congress in the City of Mexico, and in September, 1899, was official delegate to the Convention of the Association of Military Surgeons in Kansas City, where he was elected president of the association.

On April 28, 1900, he was retired from active service on account of age, and in April, 1904, he was promoted brigadier general on the retired list by Act of Congress.

He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and was formerly active in mission work, particularly in the West. He was also a member of the following named Societies: American Medical Society, American Climatological Society, National Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, Old Colony Historical Society, National Geographical Society, Brown University Alumni Association, General Alumni Society of the University of Pennsylvania, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States (Massachusetts Commandery), Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War (Commandery of Massachusetts), Order of Indian Wars. He was also a member of the University Club of Boston.

He married Katherine R. Lincoln of Philadelphia in October, 1864. He is survived by three children, Alice Wight, Charles H., Jr., architect, living in Boston, and Eliot, a surgeon practicing in Cleveland, O.

Charles Ward Post

At the regular meeting of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., to be held June 21st and which, after eight o'clock, will be a public one, an address is to be delivered on "The Early Days of the Grand Army of the Republic, with Especial Reference to General John A. Logan, Before, During and After the War," by the Post Commander, Henry Haynie, Esq. The subject certainly seems attractive and there is no doubt but that the speaker chosen will be able to do credit to it. Mr. Haynie was, like Logan, born in the southern part of Illinois, although the latter was his senior by some fifteen years. They both entered the service from that state, although in different regiments, and each fought, up to the fall of Atlanta, in the western armies, Gen. Logan under Grant and Sherman, Mr. Haynie under Buell, Rosecrans and Thomas. After the war was over both returned to Illinois, the general to remain a resident of that state until his death but our fellow townsman removed in 1876 to Paris, France, where he resided for nearly 20 years. On his return to this country he went to Newton Centre, and has lived there since. His acquaintance with Logan dates from before the war; it was continued during the war; and it ended only with the death of the distinguished soldier-statesman and founder of Memorial Day. The date chosen for this address was selected because this is the fortieth anniversary year of the establishment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The founders of this unique order were Illinois soldiers, and the first posts were located in that state. Mr. Haynie having been mustered in in the seventh post created by the Order. All Associate members are cordially invited to this meeting, while other gentlemen will be given a hearty welcome.

Police Paragraphs

Police Inspector Fletcher unearthed a large quantity of stolen property Saturday in the house of William C. Pitman (colored), 45 Curve street, West Newton. He was searching for articles alleged to have been stolen by Pitman's wife from a family in Waban, where she had worked. He failed to find those, but discovered, hidden away, many articles such as are sold by 5-cent stores. Pitman was formerly employed as janitor at Woolworth's store in Cambridge. The manager of the store identified the goods as having been stolen from his store, and Pitman was arrested. The goods filled a wagon. Pitman refused to make any statement. In the police court Monday morning he was found guilty and was sentenced to the house of correction for a term of six months.

Thomas Downey, aged 61 years, was arrested Friday evening for vagrancy by the police while camping in the woods near the railroad track in the Chestnut Hill section. Residents of the village made complaints against him. Downey informed the officers that he had been camping there several weeks after escaping from the state farm at Bridgewater. In court Saturday morning Judge Kennedy continued the case one week in which time Downey may find employment.

Sunday's Storm

The heavy thunder shower which passed over Newton about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, caused much damage to the electric wires and broke off limbs from many trees throughout the city. In a few minutes the streets were miniature rivers and branches were floating down in all directions.

The fine weather on Sunday morning and early in the afternoon brought out hundreds of canoists, who, totally unprepared, were drenched in the downpour that set in about 6 o'clock. The band concert on Fox island at 3:30 proved a great attraction, and besides the myriad canoists on hand, the banks on both sides of the river were black with spectators. Norumbega Park was also crowded, as was Weston bridge.

Nine men and one woman were upset during the day, the majority being inexperienced canoists. Officers Chaisson and O'Hara rescued two apiece, and the others got out without assistance.

Newton Boat Club Concert

The first band concert of the season will be given at the Newton Boat Club next Saturday evening at 7:30 by the American Watch Co. Band, John M. Flockton, conductor. The program will consist of selections from De Vine, Rossini, Lumbey, Levy, Hubbell, Clerc, Von Tizler, Holzmanna, Herbert, Van Alstyne and Bellstedt.

High School Concert

The Assembly hall at the Newton high school was well filled Friday evening when a concert was given the program consisting of classical and popular selections. The chorus was assisted by Richard Henry, Miss F. Mabel Davis and Miss Rosa B. Allen, vocalists. E. Carlton McLellan, flutist, Frank V. Russell, xylophone and a male quartet consisting of R. W. Wales, Richard Henry, W. O. Blaisdell and R. G. Hemenway.

NEW FLOATING HOSPITAL

A successful hospital ship implies more than one might at first think, before considering the many necessary requirements. To deserve the name it must be at once a good hospital and a good seaworthy ship well equipped. The highest degree of efficiency and medical service are essential. The Boston Floating Hospital has spared no efforts in achieving these results in the new boat.

Consider for a moment the work of the Hospital as conducted on the old barge Clifford as contrasted with the far more efficient service which will be possible with the new boat, in the building of which the greatest care is being taken as regards construction and equipment, to make it an up-to-date hospital for children.

It has been a natural development. The work was first begun as best it could be with limited support and little experience, by hiring the barge Clifford, which was an old excursion steamer. It was, at first, even used alternately for excursions and for hospital purposes. After a time it was bought and used exclusively for the Boston Floating Hospital, and by degrees such improvements and additions were made as were possible with a boat which was constructed for an entirely different purpose. But this only meant laboring under difficulties, and the management was constantly hampered by conditions which were so inadequate. It is greatly to the credit of those who conceived the idea of this excellent charity that under the adverse conditions they were able to conduct the work as well as they have, and brought it to its present standing as one of the most important charities in Boston.

With the new boat nearly twice as many patients can be cared for and, of course, in a sense, they can be little better cared for in the new boat than on the old, as, after all, the principal benefits are derived from a thoroughly efficient medical service and trained nurses.

Many conditions which existed in the old order of things will be overcome in the new, and the new boat will do away with many conflicts and inconveniences which have heretofore been quite unavoidable. It will be a great advantage to have a boat so much longer and higher. The third, or hospital, deck is wholly given over to wards and the operating room. The main deck has an emergency ward, the modified-milk department (which here is given ample room, light and air), a diningroom for house officers and nurses, and the small but conveniently arranged executive offices.

The upper deck will be devoted to the day patients, well children and mothers, and they will therefore be quite remote from the wards as there will be ample arrangements for them on this deck, and the dining facilities are on the lowest deck. The nurses' resting-room and quarters for the resident physicians and visiting staff are on this deck, as is also a good-sized examination and treatment room for out-patients.

Perhaps nowhere is the contrast between old and new more striking than down in the hull. On the Clifford part of the ballast was ousted to make room for machinery. On the new Floating Hospital the propelling gear has commodious quarters before there is any gear to accommodate. The crew also will have well-equipped quarters, with room for a dozen men. There is plenty of space for the lighting, cooling and ventilating apparatus, and for an efficient repair shop, cold storage rooms, chain lockers, coal bunkers and the like. Besides these there is an ample-sized, light and airy dining-room for mothers and employees, which can be used between meals as a nurses' lecture-room. A comfortable cook's galley, provided with hoods to carry off odors, and well arranged pantries will make the culinary responsibilities of the hospital as light as may be, while at the same time the racket of dish-washing will be kept entirely away from the wards. In the same way the work of the laundry—no small item in a large hospital—will be isolated in convenient quarters in the hold, the foul linen coming down in glass-lined chutes from the upper decks, such of it as is washable going to the laundry, and such as is infected travelling by a separate chute to a hot chamber to be dried, and thence, by mechanical means, directly to the fiery furnace, so that it endangers no one. A formalin room for disinfecting purposes and the morgue complete the fittings of the hold.

It does not take hospital experience to enable one to see the advantage of this systematizing, made possible by the extra deck on the new boat. There are, however, advantages not apparent to the lay observer. One of the most valuable branches of the work of the hospital is the bedside instruction of mothers, which will prepare them for caring better for their children when they are returned to the home.

If there is ever a time when the tenement-house mother will appreciate the necessity of watchful care of her child, it will be when she has seen it gaining under expert care, and has received instruction as to how she herself can continue this care to a certain extent. For want of space on the old boat it has not been possible to do as much for the mothers in this way as it will be in the future. But this season will see a liberal expansion of this branch of the work. Nurses will teach mothers all they need to know about the preparation of the right food for individual baby patients, about the proper care of bottles and the like. Sterilizers will be sold as of old for nominal sums, and printed instructions for sterilizing and preparing modified foods will be given out. But better than the printed slip will be the direct, verbal teaching with the live baby as object lesson.

Another point which will be gained in the new arrangements will be the opportunity properly to isolate cases of contagious disease, or cases where contagious troubles are suspected. The most elaborate precautions have always been taken; every baby presented had to have a physician's certificate, and even then it was found advisable to have each child examined by one of the hospital staff before it was taken on board, so prone are childish diseases like measles to develop in the short time intervening between the issuing of the health certificate and embarkation. After this double search for trouble cases do sometimes develop, and it has been only by extreme care that the risk has been reduced to a minimum. Hereafter it is going to be easy to isolate suspicious cases, thoroughly and immediately, and the doctors will go to the extreme of quarantining harmless infants rather than run the smallest risk of infecting others.

Again, the properly accommodated clinical laboratory on the new boat is going to make possible much swifter diagnosis than of old. Tests formerly made by the city chemists after a day's delay, can be made in the hospital with the utmost dispatch. The important serum-tests, will go on under better conditions. The Shiga bacillus has been convicted of producing cholera infantum, and now it remains to be proved whether using the serum in a more potent form will make it effectual.

The increased ward room will make possible the accommodation of more cases needing minor surgical operations. Sea air tones up a child to resist shock, so that a week on the Floating Hospital may mean just the difference between life and death to a pining surgical case.

Convalescents, too, will profit by the comfortable bigness of the new boat. A whole ward in the bow will be devoted to their needs, and another out-of-door ward in the stern, where they may have the breezes straight from the sea in the right sort of weather, or by the mere drawing up of windows working like those in a street car, they may be sheltered from one side or from all.

Speaking of air, the ventilation of the wards is a matter which is being carefully dealt with. Mr. Leland of the Institute of Technology, who is acting as a supervisor of construction, says the system of ventilation is the best he has ever seen. It is not so easy to feed air into a ward on shipboard, as into an ordinary hospital room; for on a boat the ceilings must be low, or else the craft would be top-heavy; and air introduced at the top is more likely to produce a draft if the top is rather near the floor. The plan on the Floating Hospital involves the use of a suction fan to draw in sea air, a series of filter bags to strain out dust and smoke, brine-coils to cool it to 36 degrees and precipitate the moisture, and steam pipes to heat it. When the air is exactly the right temperature and humidity for the best good of patients, it is introduced through a pipe at the angle of the ceiling. Foul air is sucked out through another pipe at the floor.

It is the precise method of introducing the air that is of interest. The atmosphere of the room must be completely changed every four or five minutes, and yet there must not be a suspicion of draft. To accomplish this, openings are made in the inlet pipe every two feet round the top of the room. But not openings of uniform size, for then the pressure in one part of the room would be stronger than in another and air currents would result. Experimental holes are cut, the metal being rolled back with a key, as you open a sardine can, and then the whole series of holes is tuned, so to speak, opened little by little under test by an anemometer, until the pressure at all is precisely the same. There is then a perfectly steady, perfectly imperceptible drift of the whole roomful of air from the ceiling down. This is real ventilation.

Prospectuses sent out some little time ago stated that unless funds were forthcoming, the atmospheric plant for artificially cooling and drying the air in the wards would not be put in until another season. This would have meant the temporary abandonment of one of the most efficient life-saving devices in the hospital. The Floating Hospital has given its patients a bracing October climate in August, with magnificent results.

The brine coils serve a double duty in cooling the wards and providing all the refrigeration for milk and food. The hospital carries a few cakes of ice on every trip to use where ice, and not intangible cold, is needed. But the refrigerating plant is so successful, and the milk-supply for the boat is received so directly from the natural source that it has not been found desirable to sterilize it. This makes it all the more important that the cooling plant should be installed at once.

On a life-saving boat the question of physical safety from accident has very naturally been carefully considered. In the matter of fire-protection it has not been possible to improve upon the arrangements on board the old boat, for those went to the point of making assurance doubly sure. Every precaution will be taken in the new boat against fire, by a well-organized system of drills, the abundant supply of hose, life preservers and life boats.

As for danger from storm or grounding, the Floating Hospital has provided amply against that. The steel hull with its seven water-tight compartments is practically unsinkable. Moreover, the breadth of beam is so great—46 1/2 feet to the 170 feet of length—that the hospital will be as steady as a cat-steam-er and the extreme flatness of the bottom will minimize the danger of overturning in case she should ever go aground.

In order that there may not be the slightest doubt of having the boat ready for service early in July, it has been decided to postpone the instalment of self-propelling machinery until after the present season is over, so that this summer the boat will be towed as has been the custom in the past.

The trustees of the Hospital feel sure that the new boat will be ready for service at the opening of the season in July.

At present she is a hull of steel lying over in the Atlantic yards, innocent of superstructure and finishings. All the elaborate system of plumbing has yet to go in, and this item will take time, as it has taken money. Every ward—and there are eight—has to have its ante-room with stationary washstand, baby's bath and sterilizing kettle for disinfecting utensils.

The management of the Boston Floating Hospital confidently hopes that generous contributions towards the expenses of completing this new boat will be forthcoming as it is one of Boston's greatest and most deserving charities.

At the best the essential expense of the new Floating Hospital is going to be sufficient to call for pretty strenuous giving on the part of the babies' friends. One hundred and fifty desperately sick permanent patients will have to be cared for, as against the fifty-seven babies of past seasons; and up on the top deck something like one hundred and fifty little day patients will be ready for food and nursing every morning the steamer sails. The distressing answer, "No room!" will not have to be made to anxious mothers this summer. If it is necessary to turn away sick babies at all, it will be the fault of San Francisco. Charitable folk are prone to even up having met emergency calls with emergency generosity, they are too likely to snip off the list of every-day, home demands. But why should Boston babies die because San Francisco fell down?—Boston Transcript.

—Miss Esther Saville of Windsor road was graduated this year at Vassar College and received the honor of being made marshal of the class of 1906.

—The Waban school ends for the summer this week and the closing exercises from Sunday through Wednesday, including the annual field athletic sports on Monday afternoon.

—In spite of the weather a small but successful doubles tournament was pulled off on Monday. Class A and B men were paired as partners and in every match but the finals, three sets were needed to decide thus proving the closeness of the pairing. The winners, Bosson and Cherrington played well throughout, the former, handicapped by a poor racket played at times with great brilliancy while his partner was steady and improved remarkably towards the end. Their opponents in the finals, Gould and Lamkin fell off in their play and lost in straight sets. The scores: First round, Whitaker and Mrs. Buffum beat Turner and Williamson 4-6, 6-4, 7-5; Gould and Lamkin beat Parker and Congdon, 4-6, 6-3; Bosson and Cherrington beat LeClear and Buffum 6-8, 6-4, 6-2; Blaney and Dana beat Hill and Sharp 7-5, 5-7, 7-5. Second round, Gould and Lamkin beat Whitaker and Mrs. Buffum 5-7, 6-4, 6-4; Bosson and Cherrington beat Blaney and Dana, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Finals, Bosson and Cherrington beat Gould and Lamkin, 6-3, 6-2. The first of next week a ladies' handicap tournament will be held on the courts.

—On Wednesday morning the class of 1906 of the Roger Wolcott Grammar school, the first class to graduate in Waban held its graduating exercises in Waban Hall. The hall was artistically decorated for the occasion with flowers and flags, and among the designs the class mottoes and the school monogram were in evidence. A picked chorus from the 8th grade aided in rendering the choruses with Miss Bertha Cook as accompanist. After the class march "The Cavalier" played by Vivian Dorothea Clarke and the chorus, "Angel of peace" Rev. James C. Sharp gave the invocation and the chorus sang the response, "God is our Refuge." Then followed the class roll call, each member responding with an appropriate quotation. Kathryn Josephine Ferris rendered DeKoven's "The Valley is going to Sleep" in a sweet voice, and then Ralph Fred Williams read an essay on "Roger Wolcott." Then followed the chorus, "Mother's Memory," a well rendered humorous selection "Jimmy Brown's Steam Chart," Irving E. Heymer, piano solo, "Voices of the Morning," Emily Clara Childs, and "The Legend Beautiful," a recitation by Catherine Marie Hogan. After the chorus "The Wind and the Sea" came an excellent class prophecy by Elisha Pomeroy Cutler, and the presentation of the class memorial by Margaret Frances King with its acceptance by Marjorie Rice for the class of '07. The presentation of diplomas and singing of America closed the exercises. Each graduate received a bouquet of carnations with the diploma.

The wrangle over the school house site at Nonantum will, in all probability considerably delay the erection of a much needed building in that village. While the disapproval of the school committee is not an absolute veto of the Manning land, the aldermen will undoubtedly endeavor to select another, altho the available sites are few and mostly undesirable. The attitude of the school committee has little to commend, it is so like that of a dog in a manger. They virtually say, "we wanted one large school for the entire north side of the track in Ward One, and as you want give us that, you must build two new schools or we won't play". The objections to the Manning lot appear trivial, when boiled down to their essence. They are but two, the size of the lot, and the location on the main street.

On the word of Alderman Hunt, a practical builder, 32,000 square feet of land is ample for a ten room building, and the surrounding streets are sufficient for additional light and air. The location on a main street with electric cars did not deter the erection of the new Emerson school at Upper Falls and up to the present time we have heard no protest against the proposed new building at Newton Highlands, which will be on the principal street with more frequent electric cars than at Nonantum. The truth is, that the school committee listened to disgruntled real estate speculators at a private hearing, to which certain favored citizens were invited, and failed to give the residents of Nonantum that consideration which is evidently their due. In this connection it is but fair to say that Alderman Doherty's position in this entire matter has been most commendable. Assisting the Public Works committee to the utmost of his ability, he absolutely refused to express any preference for one site over another, even to his warmest friends, until the committee had made a decision. It was then learned for the first time that the Manning lot was satisfactory to him, and to a majority of the residents of Nonantum.

We take decided objections to the method of payment provided for the new Concord street bridge. This has been charged directly to the tax payers of 1906 making an addition of something like 15 cents to the tax rate. In our opinion, any permanent work, the benefit of which accrues to future taxpayers, should be apportioned over a series of years, in order that the future may pay its share of the expense. In this case, the tax payers of 1906 are unnecessarily burdened with an expense, of which the tax payers of 1907 and the future will reap the benefits without cost to themselves. An apportionment of $1000 a year for eight years would have distributed the cost equitably, and saved the tax payers of 1906 a substantial amount on their tax bills. The board of aldermen have not yet learned the lesson that the real need of Newton today, is more residents and tax payers. These will not be attracted by an $18.00 tax rate, and the sooner the tax rate is reduced, the sooner this desirable increase will come, and when it does come, the burden of carrying these permanent improvements will be individually less.

If the gentlemen who built the street and presented it to the city, did not actively advocate the discontinuance of Welland road at Chestnut hill, we would oppose the action just taken by the aldermen in closing up this public way and conveying the equity to a private citizen. In this particular case, it is evident that the city will gain by the transaction, by the increase of some 20,000 square feet of taxable land, and some 900 feet of street which will not require maintenance. At the same time, the discontinuance under exceptional circumstances ought not to be regarded as a precedent.

The passage of the much mooted permit to act as a common carrier, to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company was certainly surprising, as it was confidently expected that each member of the aldermen had decided objections to the project. The right granted will be of great benefit to the country towns to the west of this city, and will also accommodate the villages of Newton Highlands and the Upper Falls. The provision for a three years tenure is wise and we do not expect that the business will be at all objectionable to Newton residents.

The absurdity of giving a man in the house of Correction a hearing on the matter of revoking his license, the terms of which he had violated, did not receive the attention it fully deserved at the last meeting of the board of aldermen. A prompt revocation of the license should have followed the presentation of the facts, and leave to the licensee the burden of proving that his license was still valid, in case he chose to again act under it.

The erection of a new concrete bridge over the Charles river at Concord street at the joint expense of the city of Newton and Town of Weston, at a cost of $8,000 to each is demanded by the present unsafe condition of the old bridge. There are many, however, who would rather see the money expended on the bridge at Commonwealth avenue, which is visited daily by hundreds of persons and vehicles.

Alderman Webster was certainly right in his position that a man who is not considered worthy of a junk license, ought not to be given the privilege of transporting liquor, with all its temptations to make illegal sales. The junk business is a kindergarten besides the liquor traffic.

Alderman Beck has evidently a prejudice against the gypsy and brown tail moths, or the method of exterminating them. His negative vote on the order levying assessments to pay for removing moths was unexpected.

The reply of the school committee to the inquiry about flags on the school houses is satisfactory so far as it goes. The committee fails to explain its failure to display these flags on each school day as required by law.

The action of Judge Copeland in placing the case on file of an automobilist caught on the prohibited portion of Commonwealth avenue, will not greatly help the people who want one street for driving purposes.

The reduction of some half million dollars in the state tax will benefit this city to the extent of something like $10,000 a saving of about 15 cents on the tax rate. Let the good work go on.

Crosby's Restaurant, 19 School street, Boston, is a good place to dine at.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—Robert Hilliard, who is credited with being the cleverest "legitimate" actor who has ever appeared in vaudeville, as well as the best drawing card, from a box office point of view, will head a strong variety bill at Keith's for the week of June 25. The new play, "As a Man Sows", concentrates into a single act as much dramatic intensity and real heart interest as usually comes within the bounds of a four-act drama. It is a society play, and like all Mr. Hilliard's vehicles, it contains a moral. The star will be supported by an excellent company and the scenic surroundings will be of the order seldom seen on a vaudeville stage. The surrounding show includes the Seldoms in the handsomest and most artistic series of plastic statuary posings ever seen in vaudeville; Stuart Barnes, "the Chesterfield of monologue comedians"; James F. Kelly and Annie O'Brien, in the comedy, singing and dancing sketch, "A Ginger Snap"; Fields and Wolley, mirth-provoking German comedians; Caron and Herbert, eccentric comedy acrobats; the Young American Quintet of singers and dancers; the Vallings, skilful trapeze artists, and John and Bertha Rich, in a comedy sketch. The Fadettes will make their usual weekly change of selections of popular music and the concerts will be at 1.45 and 7.30 P. M. as hitherto. The usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Tremont Theatre—Next Monday night Harry Bulger and his associates will enter into the fourth week of their highly successful engagement at the Tremont Theatre in Henry W. Savage's all-summer production, "The Man From Now", by John Kendrick Bangs. Vincent Bryan and Manuel Klein. With the fourth week was inaugurated the summer price schedule, which has so long been one of the regular features of the summer attraction season at the Tremont. There has been a general reduction in the price of orchestra and balcony seats, and it will now be possible to secure two seats for what formerly was the cost of one. This reduced price season has always met with the unqualified endorsement of the playgoers of Boston. There will, however, be no change in the attraction; on the contrary, the changes which have been made have made the piece far more enjoyable than it was before, and Mr. Bulger, who is so congenially situated, is nightly making more and more of the manifold opportunities given him in this production. His associates, Helen Hale, Walter Lawrence, Frances Demerest, Lucy Tonge, John Keefe, Hattie Arnold, Charles Meyers, George O'Donnell and William P. Murphy are scoring at each performance, and the chorus is quite the most vivacious and attractive ever seen in Boston. Regular matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

The marriage of Miss Alice Maud Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hammond, to Mr. Nelligan Usina of Porto Rico, took place last week Thursday evening at the home of the bride, 57 Lake avenue, Newton Centre. The Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity church officiated and the house was decorated with laurel and white carnations. The bride was gown-

McLucas - O'Brien

Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Brien, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien of Newton was married to Mr. Frank Willis McLucas of Dorchester at the Church of Our Lady, last Monday morning, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. Father Malone. The bride was gownned in a white Princess dress of crepe de chine over satin, with pearl trimmings. She was given away by her father and was accompanied to the altar by her sister, Miss Leonora V. O'Brien, as maid of honor dressed in white china silk with pink trimmings, a pink hat and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. John Cahill of Dorchester. The ushers were Messrs. William Thomas and John Dunn of Newton, John Foley of Newton Centre and John O'Halloran of West Newton.

A largely attended reception was held at the O'Brien residence, 242 Adams street from 11 to 4 o'clock, the wedding breakfast being served under a canopy on the lawn, the decorations being white and pink. Mr. and Mrs. McLucas were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cahill, the latter being a sister of the groom. The wedding presents consisted of many beautiful pieces of cut glass, china, silver and bric-a-brac. After a wedding trip to New York and Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. McLucas will be at home after July 1st at 67 Rosecham street, Dorchester.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Laura Parks Hammond, as maid of honor, and her brother, Mr. Edward Hosmer Hammond was the best man. Messrs Hammond and Charles N. Fitz of Newton Centre were the ushers at the reception which immediately followed the ceremony.

Eriksson - Kimball

The marriage of Miss Florence Shepard Kimball, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Kimball of West Newton and Mr. August Isidor Eriksson of Duxbury, took place last evening at the home of the bride's brother Mr. Herbert A. Pike, 44 Winthrop street, West Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edwin F. Snell of the Lincoln Park Baptist church, and the house was decorated in pink and white, with palms, asparagus peonies and roses, for the occasion. The bride wore white messaline with duchesse and point lace and was given away by her brother, Mr. Pike. Miss Norma Rose Waterbury of Watertown was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids, who wore white, with rose pink girdles, were Miss Marion Burdon of West Newton and Miss Beth McLean of Haverhill. Mr. Paul Revere Knight of Newtonville was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Eriksson being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Kimball, the mother of the bride and Miss Waterbury, the maid of honor. A harpist furnished delightful music during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Eriksson will reside at Duxbury, where the groom is connected with the Powder Point School.

Hearing and Debate Over New School

New Bridge Ordered Over the Charles River

The last regular meeting of the aldermen was held last Monday evening with only Aldermen Bowen and Ellis absent. It was marked by a decided Nonantum flavor from the hearing given the school committee early in the evening and the debate on the purchase of land for school purposes near midnight. The passage of the much talked of grant to act as common carrier to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company without debate was an unexpected feature of the proceedings, the aldermen being contented to accept Chairman Palmer's explanation without criticism. A veto was received from Mayor Warren of the order to relocate Union street, and it was laid on the table. The veto was filed by the mayor as the parties interested had failed to make the proper releases to the city.

There were hearings on petitions of the Newton & Boston Street railway Company to relocate poles at Newton Highlands square and at Centre and Willow street, on petitions of the Telephone Company to relocate poles on Boylston street, and for 2 poles on Crystal street, and on taking of land in Cheney Place for a sewer, which brought forth neither approval or opposition. At the hearing on the laying out of Dickerman road and Harrison street under the betterment act, a remonstrance was received from Benjamin Dickerman against any betterments against his property. Mr. J. E. Dudley objected to a sewer in Pennsylvania avenue on account of the expense. Mr. R. G. Molinieux filed a protest against a sewer in Gay street until the demand for buildings was greater than at present. Mr. Geo. D. Burrage appeared in favor of the order discontinuing Welland road as a public way. He said that the petitioners are abuttors on both sides of the street which is but 900 feet long. Mrs. Webster owns all the abutting land on the north and desires the location of the road conveyed to her. She proposes to buy the land on the south side if the order passes.

At the opening of the hearing to the school committee on the proposed purchase of the Manning lot at Nonantum for school purposes, the vote of the school committee, which was printed in last week's GRAPHIC, was read.

Mr. Bothfield: I wish to refer to the matters which led up to the present situation. I think perhaps sight has been lost of the report of the special committee composed of three members from this Board and three members of the school committee concerning the matter of school accommodations in Ward one. That Committee after looking the ground over very carefully and after much consideration decided that while in Nonantum proper there were conditions which were unsanitary in at least one of the school buildings conditions of equal necessity though not in regard to health existed, that is the Bigelow. There there is overcrowding and it looked as though it would be imperative that immediate relief be given to the Bigelow and Underwood Schools and the Committee recommended that a large school building should be located in Ward one as to serve not only the Nonantum end but to serve a portion south of Nonantum as far east as the Lincoln School. Perhaps it was unfortunate that the Committee used the word Nonantum in making the report as it was the intention to relieve Ward one, not Nonantum, so you see the report did not exactly refer to Nonantum as some of the residents thought. But while that solution of the question appeals to the School Committee and from an educational standpoint serves all purposes, there have been presented what I might say objections on social grounds and it has seemed best that there shall be a separate schoolhouse in Nonantum proper. The school committee does not at all oppose the building of a schoolhouse in Nonantum, however it wants to make clear to this Board that an equal need rests in building a schoolhouse somewhat south of that section so that a portion of the children of Ward one who are in the Bigelow School can be accommodated in this way. In other words the committee attempted to solve the matter in the least expensive way, if that must be abandoned then we must build two schoolhouses. The Board after due consideration, after hearing some citizens from Nonantum, decided that the Manning lot was not large enough. I think you will all agree with me that probably nowhere in the City should we have more ample land than in Nonantum. That section is already congested and it is the only section of the City where there is a summer school, which requires to be out of doors more or less, and for that reason there should be ample land. Of course it is desirable also to have sufficient land for a play ground, perhaps in Nonantum district that does not appeal to you as in some other sections as there are two areas, the Allison reservation and the Boyd's Pond Park. So far as it is inadequate the school Board feels that school houses should not be located on main thoroughfares, especially if they are business thoroughfares and traversed by electric cars, and I think I voice the sentiment of the school committee that they are unanimous that the schoolhouse should be located off Watertown street. We appreciate that it is difficult to find a location suitable to all parties, but that does not seem to the school committee the most necessary thing, it is better to have the school house located in the proper environment, with plenty of air and breathing space, than to have it on a small lot of land on a main thoroughfare. As to the particular requirements in Ward one I would like to ask Mr. Caverly to speak.

Mr. Caverly had a plan on the wall by which he pointed out the divisions in wards one and seven, showing that there were three school buildings in the Nonantum end, one in ward one, north of the track, none in the Mt. Ida section and two in ward seven. In the ward one section, families have at certain times been excluded from the Bigelow school, and included at other times. At present, children are allowed to attend the Bigelow school, but an order was passed some time ago, stating that no more will be admitted. Mr. Caverly then read from the report of the Supt. of Schools for 1905, calling attention to this subject. He then said:

I have taken your time to read this because I wanted to show beyond dispute that this question has not related to a school in Nonantum but to a school in Ward one, to accommodate ward one. The special committee composed of three members from this Board and three members from the School Committee which reported on the question followed the lines of the superintendent's recommendation very closely, with the single exception, which I must agree with Mr. Bothfield was unfortunate, in using the expression Nonantum district, in which they meant the whole of Ward one. That was in their minds and the fact that they chose the location that they did choose, the Potter lot, if they had been choosing a lot for Nonantum, they would not have put it just there. They were thinking of the whole section, as I have been thinking and dreaming for years, long before I was on the school committee, of a fine large school building that would accommodate that Ward, long before the Bigelow school was built I had this in mind. But the school building was placed there then because the needs of the Bigelow district were greater. It seems to me there can be no question of the need of additional school accommodations there. The Committee has worked out the solution which seems to them to be the best, it seems to me now the ideal solution, a lot removed from the distractions of a noisy street and after thirty years' experience in a school room I can tell you that means a great deal. I can tell you you cannot find a teacher of short experience who would have a school in a schoolhouse on a noisy street, where there are cars and other undesirable surroundings. The original location, besides being retiring and a beautiful spot it was the economical solution and you will excuse me if I say it is with keen regret that I see that has become impossible, and although I still believe it is the ideal solution I suppose practical reasons will deduct some other solution and it seems to me only one other solution solves the question and that is, if we have a school in Nonantum there should be another one somewhere south of the track to accommodate this region here and I believe the need there is equally great, I believe it is greater than in Nonantum and I hope your Honorable Board will see that that need is an imperative need, it is growing more and more urgent every day, every year, and while it seems a good deal for us to ask for two school houses in that Ward at one time, let us bear in mind that this part of the Ward has not had any school houses with the exception of a small building and a Ward of that denomination and with that shape there is evident need of another school house here if this one is to be as far north as this. It is a need which has been general in other wards and it is very necessary and I trust that that need will be so evident and the immediate nature of it so evident that these schools can be built and opened at the same time. I should hope that the Board of Aldermen will see its way clear to do that. Of course neither of them will be as large as was contemplated by the committee, that was to have been a sixteen room building with an assembly hall. I should suppose there would be no question but what a ten room building would accommodate either of these sections placed in this way.

Mr. Bothfield: I want to add that the Bigelow school today, as perhaps many of you know, is about a twelve room building, built about five years ago and then thought it would do for twelve or fourteen years. The teachers' room, masters' room and library are in use for classes and the enrollment per class is the largest in the City. The Underwood is in the same situation, the kindergarten overflowing into a coat room, some people have taken their children out on account of ventilation. The School Committee is forced to oppose the building of a school in Nonantum unless another one is built in the Ward, but it is hard to distinguish which should have first attention. Of course the sanitary conditions in the Jackson are poor and perhaps that would give it prior claim, but so far as overcrowding is concerned the Bigelow is the worst. So far as the need in Newton Highlands and the need of the section of Ward one served by the Bigelow, the latter is far more important for immediate attention. Of course in the Hyde district the City is paying for outside accommodations. I do not know where outside accommodations could be had in Ward 7 and the School Committee rests its case merely on the ground that the selection of the site in Nonantum is inadequate on account of its size and the site would not be sufficiently large for additions to the building, for if Nonantum is to grow as is anticipated it will not be a very great time until additional school accommodations will be needed and one difficulty we meet with is the building of school houses which will not admit of additions in the past. No one else wishing to be heard from the school committee, the hearing was closed.

The Mayor transmitted a report from the Chief of Police relative to the conviction of Alex. Fox, a sixth class liquor licensee, and the imposition of a fine of $100 and sentence to three months in the House of Correction by the Superior Court. Hearing on revocation of the liquor license was ordered before the Committee on Public Franchises.

A communication from the School Committee that every school building had a U. S. flag, but that the Mason and Pierce schools were without means of displaying them was received.

The bond of John J. Kenney as Constable was approved, and the certificate of approval by the Railroad Commissioners of the location of the B. & W. St. Rwy Co was placed on file.

Petitions granted: W. C. McIntosh, D. E. Bowman, Fahy's express, Mulcahy's express, C. F. Danforth, Fionaghe, Gashbarri, O. R. Newcomb, C. G. Newcomb, Hodge's express, Hunting's express, Feeney's express, Johnson & Keyes express, C. H. McIntosh, D. F. Warren, Bailey's express, J. F. Shea, Isaac Stewart, Dennis Creavin, to transport liquor, W. H. Marston 3 pool tables, A. D. Dowd auctioneer, J. J. Kenney, auctioneer, and Moses Colon to run launch "Marguerite" on Charles river.

Alderman Palmer explained that the Committee had informally considered these matters, and that of Creavin was added on motion of Alderman Doherty. Petitions of J. P. McGill to transport liquor and Chas. Scipione for an auctioneer license were referred to the License Committee. The petition of Philip Shriberg to transport liquor originally included in the motion of Alderman Doherty, objection being made by Alderman Webster. Alderman Palmer said that the committee had originally recommended a junk license to Shriberg which the board had refused. They believe he is worthy to have a license as an expressman and to be able to transport liquor with others. Personally Alderman Palmer thought he would conduct his business in a satisfactory manner. Alderman Webster said that he thought the board had been severe in refusing Shriberg a junk license, but it was not consistent to give a man the right to transport liquor who was not deemed fit to hold a junk license as the latter was the more delicate transaction of the two. Shriberg was granted the license, Alderman Webster voting no.

On motion of Alderman Palmer, these petitions were refused, John Muse, John J. Bird, D. F. Kearney, to transport liquor, Philip Shriberg, wholesale junk, Joseph de Napoli, street musician, Harriet S. Watson, Common Victualler. Petition of Andrew Davis to locate an eight horse power gas engine on Church street was presented by Alderman Weston, who said the matter was all right, but a hearing must be ordered. Alderman Weston then called attention to the hearing on the Fox liquor license as it seems improper that the license could not be revoked until September.

Petitions of Bridget Sullivan for sewer in Champa avenue, of the Brae Burn Country Club for sewer in Commonwealth avenue and Fuller street, of E. B. Stratton for street watering in Saxon road, of Underwood et al for street watering in Nonantum street, of Jones et al for laying out etc. of Plymouth, Carver, Bradford roads and Endicott street, of Andrew Adie to erect building over sewer easement off Bridge street were referred to the Public Works committee.

The matter of flag poles was referred to the same Committee after Alderman Bishop had explained the situation at the Mason School.

A recess of an hour was then taken and upon reassembling these reports were acted upon.

From Committee on Public Works: Favorable to street watering on Saxon road, and Nonantum street, to sewer in Commonwealth ave and Fuller st., to abatement of sewer assessments of Julia S. Day and W. S. Mague, to discontinuance of Welland road (Alderman White dissents), to $8000 for city's share of new concrete bridge over Charles river at Concord, to granting Andrew Adie permit to erect building over sewer easement off Bridge st., for taking land for sewers in Carleton road, Pontiac road, Rokely road, Mossfield road and Waban ave., to relocation of Concord street, and orders were subsequently adopted on all of these matters. The same committee reported on the matter of proposed drinking fountain at Newton Centre that the city would accept a fountain of satisfactory design, provide a site and make the necessary water and drain connections with the same.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises, license were granted to Cornelius H. Keefe, John Kenney, Adams Express Co., Nicholas Veduccio, Burke's express, Robert's express, and John P. McGill to transport liquor, to A. D. Merriam as a Common Victualler, Charles Lawson for 4 pool tables, and 1 billiard table, and auctioneer license to Chas. Scipione. Leave to withdraw was also granted on recommendation of this committee to Fred W. Brown to transport liquor, to John J. Bird for a wagon license, to Joseph E. Coleman for a minor's license, to the Telephone Co for poles on Perkins st., and to James Ford for permit to erect a wooden business building on Commonwealth ave.

Pole locations were granted the Telephone Co. on Farwell and Melrose sts. and Luther Paul & Co were given permission to cross spur tracks of the city for a year.

On recommendation of the Claims Committee leave to withdraw was given J. A. Coleman on claim for personal injuries, and Sarah J. Rand for abatement of sewer assessments. Settlement of claim of E. A. Rogers for reimbursement of amount paid for tuition, for $24 and for sewer damages to F. W. Fogg et al for $350 were ordered.

The Finance committee filed reports approving of the recommendation of the Public Works and Claims committees on various matters and on its further recommendation orders were adopted granting $100,135.14 for city expenses to Sept. 15th, making additional appropriations of $100 Health Dept. maintenance of team, $1500 Health dept. Care of Contagious sick, and $2300 Street Dept. maintenance of teams, making certain sewer assessments, making certain sewer charges, and authorizing $100,000 additional temporary loan. The committee also approved the matter of registering notes and certificates of indebtedness, and the order therefor was passed after explanation by Alderman Day that the expense would be from $75 to $200 depending upon whose bid was accepted.

On recommendation of the same committee $120 was appropriated for laying a water main in Mossfield road.

An order authorizing assessments on account of work or removing gypsy and brown tail moths was adopted, Alderman Beck voting alone in opposition.

An order for hearing on relocation of Concord street was adopted and on waiver of notice by abuttors was immediately held, after which the relocation was ordered. This matter is part of the proposed new bridge over the Charles river.

The order granting the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company permission to act as a common carrier of freight etc., was then presented by favorable report of the Franchise Committee. The order is as follows:

Whereas the Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company has presented a petition to this board asking that it approve by order that said Company act as a common carrier of baggage and freight upon its railway in the City of Newton under the provision of chapter two hundred and two of the acts of the General Court for the year nineteen hundred and three entitled "An Act to Authorize Street Railway Companies to Act as Common Carriers of Baggage and Freight" as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-one of the acts of nineteen hundred and four, and

Whereas notice has been given to all parties interested as required by law by publication of such petition and an order of notice thereon in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in said City of Newton, said publication being fourteen days, at least, before the time appointed for the hearing, and

Whereas a hearing has been duly had upon said petition in accordance with said notice, and in accordance with law, and

Whereas the matter has been duly considered by said board of aldermen, it is therefore hereby

Ordered, that said board of aldermen approve and it does hereby approve that said Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company act as a common carrier of baggage and freight as petitioned for, upon its railway in said City of Newton to the extent herein set forth, being limited in the following particulars:

1st: This approval is granted subject to the right which is hereby reserved to make such regulations and restrictions as the board of aldermen of the City of Newton may from time to time make with the approval of the railroad commissioners and also subject to the provisions of all laws now or hereafter in force relating to common carriers, so far as they shall be consistent herewith and said regulations and restrictions.

2nd: Said Company shall actually engage in the business of a common carrier under authority of said statutes only in such cases, upon such of the parts of its railway and to so much of the extent approved as aforesaid as the board of railroad commissioners shall certify after public notice and hearing upon the petition of the Company or any interested party that public necessity and convenience require.

3rd: The exercise of the authority under said act by said Company shall be subject to the further restriction that it shall not in any way alter or abridge the duties and obligations of said Company imposed by law relative to the transportation of passengers upon its railway in said city, nor delay the cars for passenger service.

4th: Said Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company while acting as a common carrier of baggage and freight shall not run its baggage or freight cars at any time upon said railway at a higher rate of speed than is consistent with public safety, nor at a higher rate of speed than it runs its cars for the transportation of passengers; and all cars of said Company used for the carriage of baggage or freight shall be provided with the usual fenders and safety brakes, and proper equipment of lifting jacks, and be in charge of an adequate number of trained employees, and each car shall be run separately, and no two cars fastened together.

5th: Said Street Railway Company shall not adopt any regulation or enter into any agreement the effect of which shall be to interfere in any manner with the equal rights of all persons to use the freight stations of said Company in the proper conduct of its business.

6th: No freight shall be loaded or unloaded upon the cars upon the public streets, except in case of accident or other extreme emergency.

7th: Said approval that said Company act as common carrier is hereby limited to mail and package freight, and shall exclude all bulk freight, and all explosives. Said Company shall not transport heavy freight except as herein provided, nor goods nor merchandise dangerous to public travel, or the safety of passengers, and said approval shall apply only to the transportation of such merchandise and baggage as is usually carried by express companies and by express wagons and not to bulk freight nor explosives.

8th: Said Street Railway Company shall carry such baggage and freight in suitable, enclosed cars, satisfactory to the board of aldermen of said City of Newton, and no passengers shall be carried on such cars.

9th: The right and authority granted under this order shall cease at the end of three years from and after the date of the adoption of this order unless sooner terminated as follows: Said board of aldermen may terminate this order at any time by an order approved by the board of railroad commissioners when in the opinion of both said boards said Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company neglects to comply with the terms of this order or with such regulations and restrictions as may from time to time be adopted by said board of aldermen.

Alderman Palmer said the Committee considered this a most important matter and it took quite a little time to make up its mind whether this permit should be granted. From experience in other places, they believed it would be an accommodation to citizens of Newton, for the street railways to carry freight under proper restrictions, without interfering with passenger business, and in an unobjectionable manner. The committee feels that this should be placed on trial, and if it proves a benefit it will be easy to grant a new license. I am frank to say that the right granted the Worcester road will not be of great advantage to Newton people, but we are looking ahead to the probable petition for the same privilege from the other railway company.

Alderman White congratulated the committee on its order but believed the cars should not be run between midnight and six in the morning, and to which Alderman Palmer replied that that matter was left open to see what the railroad commissioners would do with it. Alderman Palmer also said in reply to questions that the Railroad commissioners would not confer upon the matter prior to its coming before them in a formal manner. The supervision of this freight business would be by the railroad commission.

Alderman Doherty then called up the order for purchase of land for school at Nonantum. He said: This matter ought to be settled tonight. The situation a month from now will be exactly the same. The Nonantum people came here in the first place united and in accord with a vote of their Improvement Association to request a lot on the north side of Watertown street and any lot would be satisfactory to them. The Committee have selected the Manning lot and immediately there is a hue and cry from a certain element, for personal reasons, who desired to sell another lot. The School committee say it is unfortunate that they used the word Nonantum, but their recommendation was for Nonantum and we took them at their word. The Manning lot is in Nonantum, and is in every way fitted for school purposes, if it is not the intention to provide a playground. The School committee say that a committee of Nonantum citizens appeared at a meeting held last Wednesday night. That committee consisted of the agent of the Stearns lot and his friends, and why should they receive an invitation to appear before the School Committee to set forth the qualifications of one lot to the detriment of others? That committee of citizens have intentionally or otherwise misrepresented the Improvement Association, which distinctly voted not to specialize any particular lot, and their representations, I believe had much to do with the protest of the school committee tonight.

The matter of noise on account of the cars is something I do not believe should receive any great consideration, and the exits can be made on the side streets if necessary. The Manning lot is central, and a school house would be an ornament to the village. The city will pay rent of $25 per month for quarters for a branch library soon to be established in Nonantum, and a centrally located school building, in which the library could be located would save considerable money in the future.

The point that we should erect school houses by wards would establish a bad precedent. School houses should be erected to serve school districts, rather than wards. The majority of the children in this village will come from Ward 2. If the purpose to erect two buildings in Nonantum and Ward 1 districts, the lot is the proper lot for the school unless the Jackson site is chosen. The matter should be settled by the School Committee have acted with excellent judgment in this lot.

White spoke in defence of the report of the Public Works committee comparing the Jackson, Manning and Stearns lots.

Alderman Doherty said in response to a question that the majority of Nonantum people are in favor of accepting the committee's recommendation, and would have acquiesced in the selection of the Stearns lot as well.

Alderman Weston regretted that the Potter lot did not meet with favor as he thought it the ideal solution of the school problem of the ward. The Stearns lot appealed to him as the city could obtain so much more land for the same cost, and provide a place for outdoor work for the vacation school. The three drug stores are near the Manning lot, and a minor objection. We know that these stores sell liquor under their 6th Class licenses, and it is well to remove the children as far as possible from them.

Alderman Hunt, Webster and Day favored postponement. Alderman Day saying that the need of enlargement in the future should be also considered.

Alderman Doherty spoke on the matter of playground, quoting Mayor Weed to the effect that the city finances were not in shape to admit of such expenditures for many years to come. He further stated that he desired action tonight because he had been held responsible for the present delay.

Alderman White said that the remarks relative to sale of liquor by druggists in Nonantum were rather surprising, as these druggists had all been granted licenses and queried if the alderman believed there would be less liquor sold if such licenses were not granted or if there would be any trouble in getting it in such cases, to which Alderman Weston replied he certainly should.

The matter was then tabled after Alderman Hunt had assured Alderman Doherty that the Public Works Committee would give the matter careful and immediate consideration.

Adjourned at 11:40 P. M. to July 16th.

Musical

Almost artistic and enjoyable program was presented before a representative audience in the parlors of Channing church last Saturday afternoon. The affair was a musical given by Miss Ella Marston Cox and pupils, assisted by Miss Grace Gibbons, soprano; Miss Claramond Thompson, alto; Mr. E. Francis Leighton, tenor; Miss Ruth Ivy, 1st violin and Miss Gladys Berry, cello. The work of the pupils showed care and thoroughness in training and the touch and expression were excellent. A unique feature was the Kinder Symphonie which was given in two of the numbers. Those taking part were the Misses Edith Baker, Mildred Clark, Courtney Ames, Olive Kendal, Beatrice Wheeler, Mildred Atwood, Evelyn Palmer, and Masters Raymond Warren, Robert Ross, Stewart Rowlett, Harrison Chamberlain and Everett Warren. Mr. Leighton's group of songs were artistically rendered and were well received. Miss Lottie Dean Kilgore and Miss Olive Kendal were the accompanists and their work was all that could be desired. Among the composers whose works were presented were Moskowski, Chwatal, Haydn, Orth, Foote, Beethoven, Sherwood, Fink and Franke.

Important Sales

Edward T. Harrington Co. through their agent Wm. H. Rand report that during the last month they have sold the Wyman Estate 158 Prince street, West Newton Hill. The same broker has sold the Crafts estate, 44 Henshaw street, West Newton. The property consists of a 7 room house with 12000 feet land. The purchaser buys for occupancy.

CLAFIN GUARD NOTES.

The Clafin Guard turned out in goodly numbers Monday, "Bunker Hill Day" in celebration of the observance of that ever memorable Battle of Bunker Hill. Confident of upholding the excellent record which is associated with Newton as the "city with a model company". The Guards with a full complement of officers and very few vacancies in the ranks, left Newton at 12.45, and arrived in Charlestown with the schedule safe in hand. The parade was held under adverse conditions, and although the streets were in exceedingly poor condition, which made marching most difficult the company rendered a good account of itself, and was the source of continued applause along the line. After returning to Newton a supper was served in the Armory and was well taken care of and appreciated.

Capt. Guilford has announced the promotion this week of Corp. Clossy, to Sergeant and Private Wenmouth to Corporal. The captain announces these promotions as the result of the utmost efficiency, and close application to company work, and the men are to be congratulated on having attained those positions.

Through the courtesy of Cong. John W. Weeks, the company has received from Washington 50 volumes, a number of pamphlets and a large map 8 x 5 showing the entire United States and possessions. The company feels very much elated over this acquisition, and feels as though Cong. Weeks was showing proper recognition of the good work being done by the company, and by his generosity has given the Guard a great amount of excellent reading matter and references. Cong. Weeks occupies a warm place in the hearts of the Clafin Guard.

Auto Burned

An automobile owned by Chas. J. Proovchee of Washington street, Newton, caught fire while in Brighton on Wednesday, from a leak of gasoline. A wild ride followed in the attempt to reach the fire station, but the owner was forced at last to stop and ring in an alarm from a box. The machine was considerably damaged.

Correspondence

To the Editor of the Advertiser: In twice reading, once aloud to housemates, the notice of the intensely interesting book, "The New Earth," in this morning's Advertiser, the foremost thought to some of us, as often before, was: Cannot skilled and experienced practical philanthropy do something to bring together the producers and the hungry and thirsting, who long for but cannot afford market prices for the wholesome, delicious and abundant fruits of the earth?

Something has been done on this line in recent years by thoughtfully benevolent people for the benefit of those who would gladly be fruit consumers if not hindered by the so-called "middlemen," who apparently live to keep prices at the highest instead of within easy reach of the city and suburban thousands of small means, or at best moderate means, who are compelled to think twice before spending dollars, or even less sums.

What is wanted is a fruit consumers' league, organized to deal directly with the producers, giving them fair prices, but distributing to consumers at cost after paying all necessary expenses of purchase, transportation, proper storage and delivery by agencies not working for profit but for the good of the consumers. Much hoping to see something worth having come of this suggestion.

Police Paragraphs.

Alexander Fox, a druggist corner of Chapel and Watertown streets, Nonantum, who appealed recently from a police court sentence of $150 fine for selling liquor to an intoxicated person, was found guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge this week and received a $100 fine and three months in the House of Correction. His sister, Elizabeth Fox made quite a scene in the court room when sentence was pronounced.

Clubs and Lodges

At a meeting of Triton Council, Royal Arcanum, held in West Newton last week, Mr. William H. Mague was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mr. James H. Nickerson.

St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F., of West Newton will initiate several candidates next Wednesday evening. The work will be done by Deputy John Flood and the Newton degree staff.

In A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, last Tuesday evening, 15 candidates were initiated.

At a business meeting of Newton Royal Arch Chapter held Tuesday evening in the Masonic building, Newtonville, the following officers were chosen: M. E. H. P., Albert M. Miller; King, Wm. Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars, will observe St. Johns Day on Monday with a parade at Cambridge, as the guests of Cambridge Commandery followed by a dinner at Hotel Pemberton and a sail around Massachusetts bay.

Norumbega Park.

Saturday afternoon, June 23, will be a red letter day in the history of this season at Norumbega for Charles River Canoe carnival passes the park and it has been arranged to arrive there at the close of the vaudeville program in the covered open air theatre. There are numerous elevated observation points scattered along the bank and no better place could be desired to watch the parade. The Norumbega Park Company has contributed one of the prizes this season and the handsome canoe which has been on exhibition on the restaurant veranda for the past week has attracted many admiring glances. The mysterious chalet with its electrical wonders and the Japanese village, the swing court, the merry-go-round, the boat house and the theatre with its high class entertainments the restaurant, the napha, launches at the new landing at the foot of the North Slope all come in for their full share of patronage from visitors.

High School Notes

"Fritz" Ely was unanimously elected captain of the baseball team for 1907 at a meeting held Wednesday.

NEWTON CENTRE.

Considerable excitement was caused on Wednesday at the house of John Vinal, Greenwood street, Oak Hill, when a sharp explosion came from the fire. Visions of dynamite bombs filled the air until it was learned that among the wood thrown on the fire was a loaded toy cannon.

Base Ball.

The third game between the Married Men and the Marketmen was played yesterday afternoon on the Cabot Park diamond, and a large gallery made more or less humorous criticisms on the various players. The supremacy of the Married Men was clinched by a victory with the score of 32 to 14. They got a commanding lead in the first three innings and were never headed. Indeed the Marketmen harvested the most of their runs after Bascom had let up a little in his clever pitching.

The lineup was slightly changed from the previous games, two new faces appearing in the Married Men's nine.

The game opened with the Married Men at the bat, two runs being made by Newcomb and Smith, and a two bagger, a safe hit and a scratch hit being made off of Coleman. The Marketmen went out in one, two, three order, notwithstanding a two bagger by Wilson, three men being caught between bases.

Five runs were made in the second inning by McManus, Bascom, Newcomb, Dwyer and Brimblecom on a safe hit by Dwyer and three bagger by Miley, who was put out at the plate, and a wild throw to 2nd base. The Marketmen sent four men to the bat in their half, one man being caught at second and two striking out.

The Married Men scored six more in the third, three of them coming in during a succession of wild throws around the bases. Hylands, McManus, Bascom, Newcomb, Dwyer, Smith, crossed the plate with a total of six hits. The Marketmen scored their first run this inning, Coleman having the honor. A double play on McCarty's fly to left, catching Bent off first base was the star feature of the inning.

The Married Men continued their victorious career with five more runs in the 4th inning, by Kennedy, McManus, Bascom, Newcomb and Dwyer, three of them due to fumbles by third base and short stop, and a fine two bagger by Dwyer. The Marketmen added two runs in their half by Sennott and Prescott, and hits by Sennott, Flood and McCarty.

Four more runs came to the Married Men in the fifth, by Miley, Hylands, Kennedy and McManus, through safe hits by the two first, and a muffed fly by left field, assisted by another two bagger by Dwyer.

The Marketmen went out in short order in their inning, no one reaching first base.

The Married Men repeated that same performance in the beginning of the sixth. Bascom let up on his pitching at this point, and the Marketmen scored five runs by Flood, Quinn, Bent, McCarty and Wilson, all making safe hits. Prescott was caught at third base, Coleman was put out at the plate and Sennott fled out to third.

The Married Men had a tired feeling during the seventh inning, only two runs being scored by McManus and Newcomb. Muffed flies by right field, and first base helped matters some, altho Kennedy got caught on a double play when Bascom's fly was unexpectedly caught by left field. Prescott, Flood and Quinn were easy marks during the last half of this inning.

Runs by Brimblecom, Miley, Kennedy added three to the Married Mens tally in the eighth, with four hits and a base on balls to assist. Daily and McCarty made two runs for the Marketmen with a couple of beautiful hits to left field.

The ninth inning saw five runs by the Married Men by Dwyer, Smith, Brimblecom, Hylands and Kennedy with hits and errors galore. The Marketmen made four runs in their final attempt, with some fine hits to left field, Prescott, Flood, Daily and Coleman scored.

Mr. LaRose has umpired this series of games to the general satisfaction of all concerned.

CLAFLIN FIELD

Portion Purchased for Athletic Purposes is Announced

Future Plans Include Swimming Pool, New Public Library and Other Buildings

A part of the Governor Claflin estate in Newtonville, about 280,000 square feet has been purchased by the Committee having the matter in charge, and will soon be turned over to the City of Newton.

Furthermore, a substantial sum, after the payment for this parcel, is available for the purchase of the second section so called.

The accompanying plan of the estate will make clear what has been done and what it is proposed to do. The portion already paid for is marked "Section 1," and is bounded on the north by Elm Road, about 480 feet; on the west by Lowell Avenue, about 521 feet; on the south and east by proposed streets. It is nearly level, rising somewhat in the south-easterly corner and on the end toward Hull Street. On Lowell Avenue at this point it is 105 feet distant from Hull Street.

It was decided by the Committee that it was wiser to secure this section at once, in order to hasten the time when it could be available for a high school athletic field and playground. Such a field is very much needed, and this part of the estate is the best suited for such a use. It has sufficient length on Lowell Avenue to permit of a football and baseball field lying north and south, as they should, and a running track; while elsewhere there is ample room for tennis courts, a basketball field and for other sports, so that the girls as well as the boys may be provided for.

This much secured, the Committee is addressing itself to the next thing on its program, the purchase of the second section. This will carry the public land out to Walnut Street, the two sections together comprising the whole of the homestead of the late Governor Claflin except a strip along Hull Street, lying back of the houses now built on Walnut Street. The second instalment includes the site of the mansion house, with its noble trees; the meadow lying between the house and the street and traversed by the brook which enters the estate near the corner of Hull and Walnut Streets and leaves it near the corner of the latter and Elm Road. One risks little in saying that it is one of the most charming parcels of land in all of Newton and containing almost unlimited possibilities of usefulness and beauty.

Situated within a few hundred feet of the geographical centre of the city and accessible from all parts, and flanking on the south the finest public building in the city, the high school, it should be secured, with full confidence that the future will find uses for it, some of which cannot now even be anticipated. Others may be, however. On the Elm Road side, near the athletic field, should be built, as soon as may be, a swimming pool and public baths for the whole city, similar to those which have proved so popular and useful in Brookline. There also should be located the gymnasium, so much needed, similar to the one which is about to be built in Brookline.

The site of the present mansion would be a superb location for some fine monumental building in a setting of magnificent old elms. Possibly it might be a new public library, and it would not be surprising if, with such a site available, some public spirited citizen should be led to provide such a building.

The high school has between 900 and 1000 pupils. In a comparatively few years, at the present rate of increase there will be 1500. Such an educational centre should have the best possible surroundings.

Newton has its historical society; but the society is homeless. The society should have its own building, fireproof, that its treasures may not be exposed to the peril from fire that recently destroyed a collection of priceless Lincoln relics near Philadelphia. What better location for such a building could there be than the historic Claflin estate with its memories of the late Governor, and the scores of distinguished people who there enjoyed his bountiful hospitality; of authors, statesmen, reformers; of the gatherings of anti-slavery leaders working for freedom; of patriots during the dark days of the Civil War?

As the years pass and the city grows in wealth and population, this Claflin land will be a priceless possession, inviting a grouping of buildings and activities that will indeed make it "Newton's Good Ground."

About $30,000 in all has thus far been subscribed. Of this amount, $20,000 was required for the purchase of the first section, leaving about $10,000 on hand toward the second section. He latter parcel containing over 380,000 square feet, will cost nearly $40,000. An urgent appeal is made to the citizens of Newton for subscriptions which shall speedily make it possible to secure this lasting blessing for all the people. The cooperation of everyone interested in the city's welfare is cordially invited, whatever the amount of the contribution, and anyone willing to help is requested to communicate with the Committee handling the funds and consisting of Messrs E. B. Haskell of Auburndale; Frank A. Day of Newton; Charles S. Dennison of Newtonville; Robert S. Gorham of West Newton; Frank J. Hale of Newton Highlands; Charles E. ## PLAN of the GOV. CLAFLIN ESTATE

Kind Words

Gov. Guild has nominated as associate justice of the superior court, to succeed the late Hon. Elisha Burr Maynard, Hon. William F. Dana, president of the state senate. The governor takes from the legislative branch of the government a most potent factor and the bench gains. No more efficient, zealous or successful legislator has appeared on Beacon Hill, in several decades at least, than the present president of the state senate. His passing from the legislative to the judicial branch is sincerely regretted. The governor is to be commended also in making this selection. It was not dictated by any "friends at court," nor was it dictated by Tremont building or other lawyers, who have rather paraded themselves as judge makers during recent administrations. There was no question of influence or political effect here. The governor apparently merely selected William F. Dana of Newton because he was fitted by learning, temperament and experience to be a good judge.

Not all of Mr. Dana's friends, and

him in his determination to accept this place on the bench. They insist that there were in store for him most attractive political honors, and they did not hesitate to insist that the governorship of the commonwealth would one day be his. As a matter of fact, Pres. Dana has done enough for his party in the last few years on Beacon Hill to entitle him to the highest office it could give. During all the years of his legislative experience he has done enough for the people of the commonwealth, irrespective of party, to gain for him general support in any political contest. In brief, he has adorned the legislative branch, and without reflection on the present members of the court he goes to make stronger the superior bench of Massachusetts. We cannot but suggest again our gratification that this appointment was the result of the efforts of no titled or untitled lawyer, or of any set of lawyers with special interests or particular associations.

Pres. Dana has just completed his second term as presiding officer of the upper branch of the state legislature. A year ago it was suggested that he was

have apparently changed that program. In a very short time he has worked to the very top of the legislative ladder and within a few days his friends, as we suggested above, had outlined a broad political future. Knowing the man, however, the political future was predicated only with the saving clause that the Goddess of the Law failed to win him back to his chosen profession, for after all it has been as the keen lawyer that Pres. Dana has been especially noted on Beacon Hill. During the past year his ability as a presiding officer, as the president who never refused to take on responsibility other men would dodge, has brought him into the limelight more strongly as the director of men than as the man of law.

The past session has been certainly the most troublous in recent years. It needed a man of Dana's foresight and calm judgment and decision to direct its energies. A dozen times he has taken on his shoulder the entire burden and many a vicious piece of legislation has been defeated because of his vote. This requires courage, as well as judgment.

In fact the strongest tribute to his worth as president of the state senate lies in the admitted inability of the upper branch to get, from within its own ranks at least, a man who can take his place as presiding officer. Several names have already been suggested and they are the names of good, able legislators, but there is among them no William F. Dana.—Practical Politics.

The ability to give people the goods asked for will make more satisfied customers than a dozen clerks who can nine times in ten sell something "just as good."

To leave your store in charge of someone without a practical knowledge of the goods is to invite small disasters. A store should at all times be capably manned.

—At the close of the graduating exercises in the Emerson school last night Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb, acting as a member of the School Committee, formally presented to the school a valuable oil painting of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the work and gift of her father, Darius Cobb, the historic artist. At the request of those interested in the school, Mr. Cobb generously offered to paint a large portrait of the poet. Old residents, who were familiar with listening to Emerson on the lecture platform think it bears a striking resemblance to the original, who was noted not only as an eminent philosophical writer but as a lecturer also. They see in this portrait by Mr. Cobb the forcible, sweet, gentle, and thoughtful look betraying the deep thinker and the strong, gentle character that marked him as a man. The gift was gracefully accepted by the master, Frederick R. Hodge, for the school, and will hang in the library.

Miss Pickering and other teachers were in charge of the refreshments. Dancing followed in the gymnasium. A representative audience gathered for the graduation exercises on Friday afternoon. Nine students, representing the various parts of New England and the west, received their diplomas. Rev. Dr. Huntington of Newton Centre, president of Boston University, made the address urging the value of the simple life, the cultivating of refinement and culture and that each should live so as to have a spotless reputation. The senior class has presented the school with a fine etching the subject being a temple in Egypt.

HARVARD-YALE BOAT RACE.

Central Vermont Train will Furnish Fine Views of Racing Crews.

For the Harvard-Yale boat race at New London on June 28th the Central Vermont railway will as in former years run a special observation train de lux abreast of the racing crews. With the course down stream this year patrons of the Central Vermont train will have fine views of the great college event at critical points. A limited number of tickets for this train are on sale in Boston. Applications for reservations should be made at once to T. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A. Central Vermont railway, 360 Washington St., Boston.

A tired clerk is a damage to any store. Store mistakes are caused by carelessness ninety-nine times in a hundred. Carelessness is increased seven hundred per cent. by weariness. Save your clerks when you can.

If your stock is anything like what it ought to be, it will pay you to get out a catalog and see that one is placed in every home within trading distance of your store. A catalog will pay nine stores in ten—and the tenth can make it pay.

The majority of buyers depend upon the say so of the seller. Once deceived by him means another store next time. Are your salesmen representing your goods?

Printer's ink is the best tonic for a business that has got that tired feeling. Use it winter, spring, summer and fall. Use it as a preventive as well as a cure.

Never make fun of customers before or after they leave the store. Check promptly any tendency of the clerks to do so. Remarks made in that way are liable to reach the ears of the wrong people.

How many tight-fisted men do you know who have prospered? Generosity is not as expensive as you think, and it pays other returns than the mere financial kind.

Has your store an individuality, or is it simply like a thousand others, without distinctive features in arrangements, methods or stock? Make your store different and the public will remember about it.

The man who succeeds where others fail will be the man who looks out for the little leaks. The profits of many a store are dribbling away in small, unnoticed leaks.

You can make more money working than you can visiting. That does not mean though that you can be short with your customers or lead them out of the store by the ear as soon as they have spent their money.

Newspaper advertising, reduced to its lowest common denominator, is simply with reference to the goods, what, where and how much? Cover those three points in plain language and you have made paying advertisements.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

Massachusetts declaration of rights and frame of government, better known as the Constitution of the Commonwealth, is undoubtedly the noblest document in the English language. This profound work should be in every school-room in the State from the University to the little red school-house at the four corners, in short, it should be for reference in every educational curriculum in Massachusetts.

If this condition had prevailed we should find less lamentable ignorance in the Legislature regarding our great Magna Charta than now exists, and a very suggestive fact is that this ignorance exists among the educated members as well, if not as universally, as among those who have absolutely no qualification to sit as members of the general court. Our colleges and high schools are graduating future legislators every year, and yet not an hour in those high schools is devoted to the study of our greatest State paper. Repeated motions to submit legislation to the Supreme Court on its constitutionality are made by men who ought to know themselves, and be able to satisfy their colleagues without resort to the Attorney-General or the Court. The Constitution is our main stay in Government. If it were not for that instrument the little foxes and lambskins would have a festive time of it until the body politic became so honey-combed with legislative inconsistencies as to threaten the political life of the community. When the Constitution fixed the principle that this should "be a government of laws and not of men," it made it impossible for the selfishness or the prejudice of men to get a constitutional foothold in the operations of the government in Massachusetts. But that safeguard, like the price of liberty, is only made sure by eternal vigilance.

Hardly a session of the legislature occurs without some invasion (either knowingly or unwittingly) being attempted to enact unconstitutional measures, and the Courts and the Attorney-General are kept busy replying to requests from the legislature regarding the constitutionality of proposed legislation, as well as laws already on the Statute Books. An instance in point is the bill of Senator Schofield this year, which made its annual appearance after having been turned down two or three times heretofore, upon the ground of unconstitutionality, and the same objection having been raised in the Senate at this session. The bill in itself was most commendable and Senator Schofield has shown that his heart is in the right place in the repeated efforts which he has made to get through a constitutional soldiers' gratuity bill. The government of Massachusetts is a government of laws and not of men, and the greatest of all her laws is the Constitution itself, for that of all her laws cannot be repealed. If the Courts therefore declare that the Soldiers' gratuity bill is not constitutional, Senator Schofield will have to bow to the contention of Senator Harding who has protested that the bill was not constitutional. It will be recalled that the appropriation of $100,000 made by the legislature to the earthquake sufferers, another very commendable act of the General Court, fell on constitutional grounds.

So it will be seen that all of the individual cases before the General Court where there is a contention as to their constitutionality, stand or fall in the last analysis, upon the judgment of the Supreme Court, which brings us to the pre-eminent declaration in the bill of rights that laws shall be equitable and impartial, "that every man may at all times, find his security in them."

Who killed cock robin? The query that once agitated the juveniles of two continents was deluged with replies that came from all quarters of the animal kingdom, and settled for all time the cause for the lamentable death of the golden-breasted bird that had filled the bosoms of all his kind with justifiable pride as he poised on the lawn of Mother Goose and watched for the advent of the proverbial worm. Not so readily came the answer to the question of who killed the Bucket-Shop Bill? As one listened to the well modulated voice of Speaker Cole last Friday, when he formally introduced the report of the committee on Rules, on the investigation of the House, and in impassioned tones moved that the consideration of the entire subject be postponed until the following Tuesday, which motion was followed by the reading of the report by the Clerk, no intimation was given of the momentous question, who killed the Bucket-Shop Bill. That bill, a most meritorious measure, had been duly executed by a decisive vote, there is no more doubt than there is about the defeat by the House of the Merger Bill, another meritorious measure. It will be interesting to observe, by the way, how future sessions of the General Court will come around to the principle embraced in the Merger Bill. Nothing is settled until it is settled right.

The investigation report proved what it was unnecessary to prove, namely that the legislature is not corrupt, in spite of the reiterated assertions of Lawson and Raymond to the contrary notwithstanding. A Boston paper said editorially the other day:

"We may conclude that bribery is not general on Beacon Hill and that the recent sweeping charges of corruption have been made without evidence to substantiate them."

Farther on in the same editorial the paper says that:

"The committee's defence of its policy of secrecy is not justified by the results obtained. All that the committee has done is to establish the accuracy of published statements at one or two points, while leaving the general field untouched."

The main point in that general field is, who killed Logan's cock robin.

Anyone who has watched the career of William F. Dana since he has been in legislative life at the State House could not have been surprised at his selection by Governor Guild as a successor to Judge Maynard. Senator Dana, even in the House, disclosed the qualities that are desirable to find on the bench and in the Senate he has more fully developed those qualifications. Always fair and impartial in his views as expressed upon matters of legislation; fearless without being forward in his declarations, he has uniformly elicited approval from his associates, even to the extent of hearty applause in the recent unseemly attack, when he so justly resented the imputation of a cheap Boston politician. Mr. Dana will carry with him to the Superior Bench the respect and well wishes of all persons at the State House who recognize character and merit in our public servants, and who see in the retiring president, an example that they hope may be duly taken notice of by his successors.

Just because the children of Israel hung around in Egypt so long it was denied to Moses to go over into the land flowing with milk and honey, and he only had the comfort of going up on to Pisgah and looking upon the Promised Land. About these days the feelings of Speaker Cole must be akin to those that filled the bosom of Levi's grandson as he realized that he was denied the privilege of going over into fair Canaan, because the people had been so dilatory. The Legislature loved the beanpots of Boston as the children of Israel loved the flesh-pot of Egypt, and not all the urging of its Moses could hurry them toward the Promised Land. Just these late June days are reminding the Speaker that the possibility of a short session is disappearing, he is called upon to climb Mt. Beacon as his people are picking their teeth while they reluctantly turn away from the Bean-pots, and look only upon his Canaan. Many people think Moses was not altogether to blame and a good many give the Speaker credit for doing the best he could with the people who loved the suttler's tent better than the work shop on Beacon Hill.

If the men who write long distance editorials on the legislature and legislation should now and then breathe the air on Beacon Hill and touch elbows with law makers, they would be less ready to use careless language regarding things and men, of which they know so little. An exaggerated illustration of this habit is found in the assertion of T. W. Lawson (though not an editor) that seventy members of the House have been bribed on the Bucket-Shop Bill. Of course no such wild declarations find their way through an editorial office not even that of the Boston American, but it is safe to say that few editorial writers in Boston know too much about what they are talking when they seek to enlighten their readers about affairs on Beacon Hill. Probably they know what little they do about these subjects from the representatives of their papers, who are endeavoring to fill the shoes of former representatives at the State House, of the great dailies of thirty or forty years ago.

A Western Massachusetts farmer, who has been a member of the Legislature for the last year or two, and who has been in the daily habit of crossing the Common from the Adams House to the State House, remarked recently, as he stood watching the men who were spending more time than labor in rolling up expense in taking care of the pasture where Governor Bernard used to pasture his cows, said:

"If it cost me as much to run my farm as it does Boston these few acres, it would be covered with mortgages so thick that I couldn't mow the grass."

The reference in this column a week or two ago to the shadow of a falling curtain upon the stage on Beacon Hill was only a mirage, which is said to be caused by viewing objects remote from the point of vision; to be suspended in the air, as it were. Prorogation is at present suspended in the air and the falling curtain has had a hitch up among the flies. The stage manager says it is the same old hitch there.

Lawn Party

The Ladies Circle of the Union church of Waban gave a lawn party on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, June 14th, on the lawn of Mr. F. W. Webster, on Windsor road. The attendance was good both in the afternoon and evening, and the tables where fancy articles, homemade candies, lemonade and ice cream were sold were well patronized. In the evening the lawn was prettily decorated with Chinese lanterns and colored lights. A Fairy Pantomime was given by eight young girls of the church, and the scene was enlivened by the music of a hurdy gurdy, the contribution of Mr. Webster. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all present and the ladies realized about seventy-four dollars which will be devoted to their charitable work. The last meeting of the Circle before adjourning for the summer was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Strong, on Thursday afternoon.

Bailey - Robinson

On Saturday, June 9th, at high noon in the Winter-hill Universalist church, Somerville, a large company of friends assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Carrie Maude Robinson to Lewis Herbert Bailey, of Newtonville. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Robinson, of Bartlett street, and a popular member of the Alpha Phi club connected with the church. The groom is at the head of the manufacturing department of Little, Brown & Co., the Boston publishers.

There was a profusion of daisies about the altar, with a background of palms and laurel. All the decorations were the work of the bride's friends in the Alpha Phi club. Bunches of daisies ornamented the pews reserved for the relatives.

J. Herbert Thompson rendered a fine program of nuptial music while the guests were assembling, and promptly at noon the aisles were ribboned off by the ushers, all well-known Boston business men, Fred H. Loveland, George M. Angier and Henry G. Halladay, all of Newton, Horace H. Soule, Jr., of Brookline, Philip L. Brown, of Belmont, and Charles Wells, of Roxbury. They were bountiful of bride roses.

The bride and groom entered the church from the left aisle, and as they made their way to the front were preceded by the ushers.

The bride's gown was of white satin with lace trimmings. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers.

The couple were unattended. The double ring marriage service was performed by Rev. Francis A. Gray, and the couple left the church as the notes of the recessional sounded on the organ. They proceeded to the home of the bride's parents at 44 Bartlett street, where they received 175 of their friends, under an arbor of asparagus ferns, laurel, daisies, and syringa blossoms. The dining-room was adorned with the pink wickelia blossoms and other early summer flowers. In the hall laurel and daisies were also used. The Boylston orchestra furnished music during the reception.

The couple were generously remembered by their friends, with massive pieces of silver, elegant cut-glass, choice pieces of linen and lace, pictures, antique mirror, and other articles of furniture.

They left on a two-weeks' trip to New York city, the Hudson, and the Adirondacks. After October 1 they will be at home at their future residence, 523 Watertown street, Newtonville.

Much Public Interest

The Circumstantial Evidence League reports from its headquarters, 110 Tremont street, Room 73, great public interest in the movement started by the League to change the laws in Massachusetts relative to the death penalty. All letters received requesting information, offering assistance, or applying for membership, are being acknowledged as speedily as possible. The officials who are devoting their entire time to the work, ask the indulgence of the public as the tremendous interest shown was not anticipated, and it is impossible with the present facilities to keep pace with what bids fair to be a great popular movement.

LARGEST CLASS

Ever Graduated from Newton High School

Oration by Max L. Holmes and Full Program of The Exercises

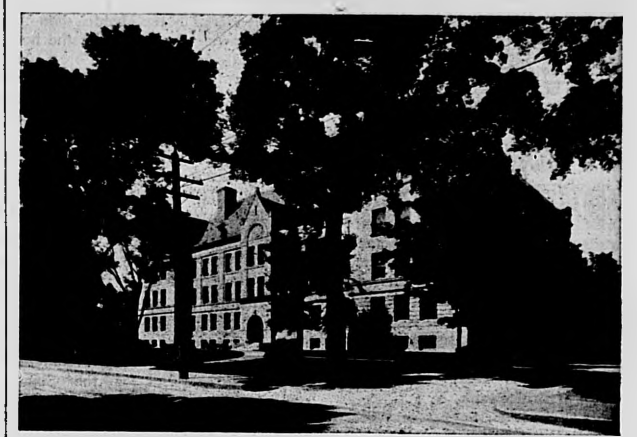

The commodious assembly hall of our beautiful High School was crowded to its doors and even overflowed into the corridors, with the many friends and relatives of the largest class which has ever graduated from the school. While the program was a long one it was so evenly balanced with vocal and instrumental music to offset the essays and orations that the effect was not at all tiresome.

The musical program in fact all through was the subject of much favorable comment. Mr. Henry's singing was particularly pleasing, the songs being well chosen and rendered with excellent expression. Miss Spaulding's violin play-to the pupil standing highest in scholarship for the entire four years course. While Miss Frost was selected, she was closely pressed for the honor by Miss Selma Smith and Mr. Edwin C. Tolman.

The program and list of graduates follow:

ORDER OF EXERCISES.
Pian Solo, Octave March Kowalski
Prayer by the Rev. Richard T. Loring.
Response, "Holy, is the Father," Schubert Graduating Class.
Salutatory, Mildred N. Frost.

HIGH SCHOOL.

ing was smooth and artistic and that of Mr. Sampson was also well rendered. The class hymn had a swing and rhythm to it which was most enjoyable.

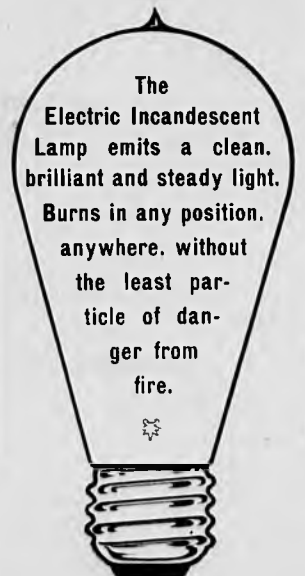

The class orator was Max L. Holmes and we give his thoughtful paper in full in another column. The salutatorian was Miss Mildred N. Frost of Newton Centre, and her effort as more than the usual perfunctory address and received much favorable criticism. The honor of delivering the salutatory is always given

Goldthwait - Richards.

Miss Edith Dunmels Richards was married to Mr. James Walter Goldthwait of Evanston, Ill., at the residence of her mother, 31 Austin street, Newtonville, last Monday evening, the ceremony taking place at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. A. F. Dunmels of Lowell, the uncle of the bride officiating.

The bride was gowned in white mesaline silk, trimmed with princess lace, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Clara S. Richards as maid of honor wearing pink pongee, and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The groom was accompanied by Mr. C. Albert Read of Salem as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held until 9.30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Goldthwait being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. T. Edward Parker of Lynn, the uncle and aunt of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Goldthwait will make their home at Evanston, Ill.

Heard - Ruggles.

The wedding of Mr. Nathan Heard, one of the popular young men of Newton to Miss Florence Wilhelmina Ruggles of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, took place yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at the St. John's Episcopal Church of Lunenburg. The wedding knot was tied by Rev. George C. Wallis, rector of the church assisted by Rev. Vernon D. Ruggles, of St. Albans Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The bride wore a London gown of soft white satin, with tulle veil, fastened with orange blossoms and a pearl and diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and white roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel M. Owen of Lunenburg, who wore white crepe de chine and carried pink roses. Two of the bridesmaids wore pale blue, and two wore pale pink celine over white with large white Neopolitan hats, trimmed in corresponding colors, and carried bouquets of Kaiserin roses. They were the Misses Florence L. Heard of Newton, sister of the groom, Miss Alice Ruggles of Halifax, N. S., sister of the bride, and the Misses Olive and Geraldine Owen of Bridgewater, N. S.

Mr. Francis H. Staples of Worcester was the best man.

The church edifice was effectively decorated by a coterie of girl friends of the bride.

A largely attended reception followed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Miles Owen, 97 Lincoln street, Lunenburg, the uncle and aunt of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Heard being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Owen and Miss Owen. The house was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and green and the ushers were Messrs. Charles Baker of Worcester, Mass., Robie S. Ruggles of New York City, Everett E. Kent and Alderman Thomas Weston Jr. of Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Heard will enjoy a months wedding trip and upon their return will reside at 137 Waverley avenue, Newton, where they will be at home on Wednesdays October 24th and 31st, and November 7th and 14th.

The groom is a well known and popular young man of Newton, and a member of the law firm of Crosby and Gregory of Boston. The bride is a daughter of the late Rev. John O. Ruggles of Halifax, N. S., and a great granddaughter of Gen. Timothy Ruggles, the noted Loyalist and President of the Stamp Act Congress.

Barber - Leonard.

On Wednesday June 20th, Raymond J. Barber of 19 Maple avenue, Newton, was married to Mabel Leonard of Norwood, N. Y., at the home of the parents of the bride.

The bride was beautiful in a dress of white organdie and lace and wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a spray bouquet of the same flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Minnie Dunlop of Norwood wore white over yellow, and carried yellow roses.

The flower girl and ring bearer were a niece and nephew of the bride. The rings were carried in a calla lily.

A novel feature of the occasion were the white suits of the men of the bridal party, the groom, his brother Fred, who was best man, and the ushers, Mr. Henry Sweet of Montana and Mr. Walter Pfeil of Philadelphia, members of the same college fraternity with the groom.

The ceremony was performed on the lawn, beneath three noble elm trees in the presence of a few friends. Here, in an altar covered with green and daisies stood the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. Joel M. Leonard, Presiding Elder of Lynn District. The wedding march from J. Lehman was played by Mr. Nelson Collins of Norwood. The sun never shone on a more beautiful sight than the white-robed bridal party as they walked up the daisy path from the house to the altar. The full Episcopal double ring service was used.

After the ceremony a large reception was held in front of the altar, at which the parents of the bride and groom assisted. Tables for refreshments were spread on the lawn.

Mr. Barber graduated this year from the Mass. Institute of Technology, where he took the mining engineering course. Mrs. Barber is an accomplished musician, having been organist in the Newton M. E. church, while studying music in Boston.

The bride and groom were heartily remembered by their friends. Among the many gifts were a cut-glass punch bowl with a dozen glasses from the M. I. T. chapter of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, two checks for $500 each, a silver service, and a piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Barber will spend the summer at Lake Ozonia, in the Adirondacks, after which they will settle in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Clark Dead.

Mrs. Caroline Tyler Clark, widow of the late Charles P. Clark, formerly president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, died Friday at her home in Brookline. She was 70 years of age. Mrs. Clark's husband was receiver for the old New England railroad after which he became president of the New Haven system. Mrs. Clark is survived by two sons Mr. C. Peter Clark of Buffalo, formerly superintendent of the New Haven railroad and now general superintendent of the Buffalo & Susquehanna road, and Mr. Edward L. Clark 2d. It had been her wish that her funeral take place from her former home on Pleasant street and Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the service was held and was largely attended by relatives and friends who gathered to pay a final tribute of love and respect to her memory. Rev. Theodore J. Holmes, formerly pastor of the First church officiated and selections were rendered by the Mendelssohn quartet. Following the service at the house, the burial took place in Forest Hills Cemetery. At this service Rev. Samuel Tyler of Cincinnati, O., and Professor Edward Y. Hinks of the Andover Theological School were the officiating clergymen. The pallbearers were Mrs. Clark's two sons, C. Peter Clark and Edward L. Clark, 2d her grandson, L. P. Clark, and a nephew, Rev. Samuel Tyler, and two sons-in-law, E. G. Buckland and Charles A. Blatchford.

Church of Sacred Heart.

In the church of the Sacred Heart at Newton Centre, Tuesday evening, the graduating exercises for the Sunday-school children took place, and beside the 500 children present there was also a number of relatives. There was an interesting program preceding the awarding of the diplomas to the graduates and prizes were also given.

An opening chorus number rendered by the class of graduates began the evening's exercises at 8 o'clock, and this was followed by a piano solo by Margaret Sullivan. Succeeding numbers were: Violin solo, Robert Howley; essay, "The Life of Christ," Julia E. King; piano selection, Mary White; violin solo, Rachel de Rusha; essay on Catholic doctrine, Mary L. O'Kane; violin solo, Claire de Rusha; song, "To Thee, O Country," graduating class.

The valedictorian was Miss Annie C. Leary and Rev. Fr. Denis Wholey, the pastor, made an address of congratulation to the class.

Prizes were then awarded. Miss Julia E. King and Miss Mary L. O'Kane receiving the gifts, while honorable mention was awarded Annie C. Leary, Margaret Mullaney and Harold McMahon.

The graduates were Julia E. King, Annie C. Leary, Mary Mullaney, Catherine McHigan, Alice Gould, Delia Burke Grace McClellan, Mary Morgan, Mary L. O'Kane, Harold McMahon, Francis Daley, Robert Barry, Daniel H. Murphy and Henry Burke.

THEATRES

Majestic Theatre—The extension of the engagement of "The Tourists" which will begin the fifth week of its Boston stay next Monday at the Majestic, is something unique in the annals of Boston's summer theatricals. Ordinarily the hot weather curtails the engagement of those shows that brave the elements of June. For once, however, a summer show has won out on sheer merit, and instead of its summer stay being shortened it was found absolutely necessary to extend it even at the cost of cancelling an all-summer run at the Lyric Theatre, New York City. There are four features in "The Tourists" that go to make it the success that it is. First of all there is the music, which was written by Gustave Kerker, past master of the art of creating earpleasing melodies. There are nineteen numbers and they cover almost every variety of composition from concerted ensembles to plaintive little love themes. Numbers like the rajah's entrance, the conspirator's chorus, the finale to the first act and the opening of the second are of excellent musical value. On the other hand, compositions like "It's Nice to Have a Sweetheart", and "That's the Time" are essentially "catchy tunes" which fairly glow themselves to the memory. Another feature that has attracted more than passing attention is the cast—it comes nearer to being "all star" than any that has been here in a long time. The list of names includes Richard Golden, Julia Sanderson, Alfred Hickman, Vera Michelena, William Pruette, Phil H. Ryley, George A. Schiller, Howard Chambers, W. H. Denny, Albert Froom, Della Niven, Anna C. Wilson, Mabel Wilbur, Edna Chase, and Edna McClure. The book by R. H. Burnside is full of bright lines and comedy situations. The last feature but by no means the least is the girls, who are among the most attractive seen here for many a season. "The Tourists" will remain but a little while longer at the Majestic.

Castle Square Theatre—Humor and pathos to the accompaniment of exquisite music will rule at the Castle Square next week. For the fifth week of the summer opera season, the management will offer a double bill consisting of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore" and Mascagni's masterpiece of musical tragedy, "Cavalleria Rusticana." Both of these operas sprang immediately into popularity, and both have retained their hold upon the public. The younger generation can, indeed, scarcely credit the tales their elders tell of the furor with which "Pinafore" was received some twenty-five years ago. It was brought to this country immediately upon its production in London, and for several seasons more, in New York, Boston and other American cities it was sung again and again to crowded houses. Indeed, here in Boston, it was on the stage of several theatres at once, and there was a time when morning, afternoon and evening performances at the same house were insufficient to satisfy the public demand. "Cavalleria Rusticana" also is of apparently never-ending popularity, and many are the great singers that have sung its leading roles. At the Castle Square next week Miss Clara Lane will sing the part of Santuzza, and J. K. Murray, and George Tallman will also be in the cast. "The Bohemian Girl" will follow during the week of July 9th.

Tremont Theatre—Harry Bulger, who next Monday will begin the sixth successful week of his engagement in Henry W. Savage's summer production at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, "The Man From Now," is the talk of the town. Nothing in the musical comedy line has scored so positive and instantaneous a success as has this production, staged with all the elaborateness which generally characterizes the Henry W. Savage productions, and no play has so teemed with broad humor and good fun as does this one. Mr. Bulger has been well fitted by Messrs. Bangs and Klein with his part, and Manuel Klein who provided the score, has evolved some new and entrancing melodies which are the favorites of the city. Mr. Bulger, in his merry characterization of the good-natured tramp, is pleasing every moment he is on the stage, and he works with such a defiance of weather conditions, that he has imbued his entire company with a desire to play and romp as children do; and, as this is evidently the sort of a play that the summer patrons are anxious to behold, he is giving satisfaction to crowded houses at every performance. Mr. Bulger has three song hits, "There isn't anything that can't be cured," "The Irresistible Tune," and "College Chums," all written in that vein for which Mr. Bulger is noted. The company Mr. Savage has surrounded his star with is an exceptional one, including as it does, Helen Hale, Walter Lawrence, Frances Demerest, John Keefe, Hattie Arnold, Lucy Tongue, Charles Meyers and George O'Donnell, and the world's premier singing and dancing chorus. This chorus of Beauty is a veritable sensation in Boston, for it is composed of extremely young and vivacious young women, and they all know how to sing and dance as well as how to look pretty. There is room for doubt as to whether or not its equal has ever been seen in any Savage or other musical production here. The regular matinee in vogue at the Tremont, Wednesday and Saturday, will be given during Mr. Bulger's stay in Boston.

Keith's Theatre—The variety and excellence of the vaudeville program arranged for the delection of patrons of Keith's for the week of July 2 is way above par containing a host of newcomers and many others who have not been at that popular theatre in months. Edwin Stevens, one of the most popular and versatile comedians the "legitimate" stage boasts of, will be remembered by theatregoers hereabouts for his clever interpretation of Col. Villers, in "Sweet Kitty Bellaires." Mr. Stevens will present a delightful half-hour interlude which he calls "A Night Out" in which he will be assisted by Miss Marshall, and which affords the clever comedian excellent opportunities for the display of his versatility. Emma Carus, who has not been seen at Keith's in three years, is another favorite in this city and will be identified at Lady Peacock in "Woodland" when that musical comedy was in vogue here. Miss Carus is one of the cleverest comedienne the varieties boasts of and is sure to repeat the big successes which have been hers in the other cities of the Keith circuit. The surrounding program is a notable one including Julie Ring, of the famous Ring family and a former Boston girl, and company, in the comedy sketch, "A Quiet Life"; Palfrey and Hoelker, clever comedy and trick bicyclists; Jack Hillson trio, in a great comedy singing and dancing specialty; Delmore and Oneida, Japanese porch artists; Gorman and West, in a comedy and singing specialty; Buck Brothers, comedy acrobats, and Alexander, pleasing singer. The delightful programs of popular music by the Fadettes are evidently more pleasing than ever for tourists from all over the country as well as music lovers hereabouts always drop in to pass a pleasant hour. The coming week Mrs. Nichols will have a new program of selections, and an entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph.

Street Railway.

"Officials of the Boston & Worcester Street Railway are today preparing their petition to the Railroad Commissioners for approval of freight and express rights over their entire line between Boston and Worcester. The last local grant that is necessary was made last evening, when the city of Newton gave the company the freight and express privileges that have long been in controversy there.

The petition for the Railroad Commission's approval will have to be acted on by the full board before freight cars may be started; but since Chairman Jackson and Commissioner Bishop are now abroad, and will not be at home again until after the middle of July, there will be some delay in the institution of the new service.

Ten cars will be needed to do the work, so the company expects, and four of them are already on hand, ready to be started. They are of the ordinary express pattern of box car, with vestibules at either end, double tracks, reinforced floor, and with sides blank except for two small barred windows and a wide sliding door for receiving and delivering the cargo."—Boston Transcript.

The company is about to order to have built as soon as possible, ten express and freight cars which will be fully equipped with motors and trucks. The company will inaugurate a separate freight and express department which will be in charge of an experienced man in that line. The territory covered by the Boston & Worcester St. Ry. Co. should make the freight and express business an important factor in its gross and net receipts.

The six new semi-convertible cars built by the Brill Company are expected to arrive this week and will immediately be put into service. They are the longest street cars run in New England.

Commencing last Saturday the Boston & Worcester Trolley Air Line has put on fifteen minute service for the summer season between Boston and Worcester.

Gold Medals.

At the graduating exercises of Our Lady's School last week Thursday evening, the assembly hall was crowded with the friends and relatives of the graduating class. The chief interest centered in the awards of the Archbishops medals for the best essays of Christian Doctrine. This competition is open to all the parochial schools in the diocese, and over 400 entered. The medals were again awarded to pupils of Our Lady's School, Thomas Hanon receiving the Archbishop Williams medal, Frank Leo Thomas, the 2nd and Sarah Drennan the 3rd, these two being given by Archbishop O'Connell. The medals were given them on Monday at the Archbishops residence in Boston. This is the second medal of the kind that Frank Thomas has won. On Thursday evening, these additional medals were given, The Father Gillette medal to Martha Muse of the 9th grade, and other medals to Margaret J. Drennan of the 8th grade and Elina Gaudet of the Commercial course. Diplomas were given to Frank L. Thomas, High School classical course. Commercial Course—Elina Jane Gaudet, Julia Helen Chaisson, Mary Magdalen Delaney, Nora Mary O'Sullivan, Angela Veronika Kerens, Mary Louise Pillion, Jos. Patrick Hickey, Esther Gertrude Sullivan, Mary Helen McCarthy, Elizabeth Loretto Murphy.

Grammar Course—Martha Jane Muse, Ellen Frances Gildea, Gertrude Elizabeth Farrell, Mary Josephine Daly, Margaret Mary Cullinan, Daniel Jos. panied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.Notices of all local entertainments
to which admission is charged must be paid for at regular rates of 25 cents per line
in the reading matter, or $1.00 per line in the advertising columns.The attendance at the Read Fund picnic this year again calls attention to the close margin of the cost to the amount allowed under the will. "Newton Corner" has covered a wide territory in the past.The re-election of Dr. Spaulding as superintendent of schools was expected and generally desired. In the two years
Dr. Spaulding has held this position he has won the confidence and esteem of teachers, parents and pupils by his tact,
intelligence and splendid executive ability.While there has been considerable complaint over the collection of delinquent poll taxes during the past few months, it should be borne in mind that persons who want pay the small sum of $2. for the privileges of citizenship in this beautiful city, ought not to receive much sympathy when they are made to pay.The School committee are still firm
in their opposition to the Manning lot for a new school at Nonantum. It is a great pity that the Nonantum district
is not directly represented in that body,
as the local point of view, sometimes,
has an advantage over the long distance
and theoretical standpoint. The GRAPH-IC's suggestion of the Bemis land on Chapel and California streets might be a compromise solution of the difficulty.

SCHOOL BOARD

There were four absent at the regular meeting of the School committee on Wednesday evening, although most important business was transacted.On recommendation of the Superintendent, the compromise plan between one and two sessions recently tried at the Wolcott School at Waban was scheduled continued during the coming school year. The Superintendent reported that it gave general satisfaction. The Misses Burr, Sewell, Manning, Randall, Jackson, Page, Wakefield, Chapin, Fairbanks, Janes, Willis, Kimball, Burbank, and Amisen were reappointed kindergarten assistants.The resignations of Grace E. Burroughs and Mary B. McIntyre of the High School, Marjorie Huse and Mabel
H. Gray of the Williams, Ethel V.
Knight of the Burr, Mary E. Coyle of the Wolcott and Louise Lenter of the Pierce were accepted. These new teachers were appointed for one year. Cora
W. Rogers, Harriet True and Jeanette
Moulton at the High, Ina M. Harden and Ivy A. Norton at the Pierce, Emma
M. Davis, Olive A. Paine at the Emerson, M. Inez Lawless at the Williams and Sarah Shaw at the Mason.An order was adopted after disapproving of the selection of the Manning lot for the Nonantum school, on the grounds that "it is not large enough to perpetuate any playground, a much needed adjunct to a new school building in Nonantum, and it is directly on a busy thoroughfare." The order also indirectly favors the selection of the Stearns lot
where "somewhat three times as much land can be bought at a somewhat less total cost."The Secretary was instructed to have the school census taken at an expense of $250.A petition from Louis S. Walsh, Superintendent of Schools of Archdiocese of Boston and others to remove from the text books in the High school,
two books, entitled, "An Introduction to the Study of the Middle Ages" and
"Medieval Europe" both by Ephraim Emerton, on the ground that these books contain false statements and injurious appreciations of the history and doctrines of the Catholic Church and are permeated with the author's Unitarian ideas, with request for prompt action
under threat of legal proceedings, was laid on the table.An order was adopted granting the Newton Centre Woman's Club permission to use the kindergarten room and basement of the Rice School and a small room in the Mason school from July 9 to August 20 for purposes of a vacation school.Dr. Frank E. Spaulding was unanimously re-elected superintendent of schools for another year.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

Six weeks more and the "boys" will be making tracks for the old muster field at So. Framingham. It has been some time since the 5th has encamped there.
Five years, having elapsed since the last tour of duty was performed in that place, since that time the annual tour
have been held at Lakeville, Duxbury, Virginia and Westfield. As the scheme is this year to hold regimental camps
in order to compare the work of the different regiments, it will be interesting to note the improvement, which has been a steady growth in Col Oakes command.Next Wednesday, July 4th, the company will hold a shoot at Lexington.
Capt. Condit intends to qualify the majority of his company before camp and it looks now as though he would accomplish his purpose.Last Monday night a drill in "Advance Guard" work held, and was executed very intelligently, the men showing a very good knowledge of this important part of field work, and executed
it with due regard to distance and positions.

Oration by Max L. Holmes.

In treating of a reform movement in
any single branch of industry, politics,
or other phase in the life of a people, we oftentimes confine our thoughts to comparatively narrow lines. It, however, we look further, and seek for the cause and connections of any important change of this nature, they can nearly always be associated with a group of reforms
which includes every one of our five activities, religious, social, political, financial, and athletic, which make up our modern life with all its tendencies toward
the strenuous and its powers for the simple, and we are swept at once into a class from which the majority soon emerge weary and ready to shift the burden of reform to the shoulders of someone else. Periodically, however, there arises a small body of men who lack neither strength nor courage to carry through their work to the end, the few who are willing to spend their entire lives in providing for the future prosperity of the many. Then it is that the country is swept by a reawakening
of the moral conscience.These men come generally from the ordinary walks of life. They are business-men, or lawyers, yet capable of handling with the same ease, questions
of religion and politics, of finance and social economies. And yet, despite the ease with which they handle difficult situations, theirs is no small task. The present revolution in politics is of surpassing magnitude. It has taken possession of all our largest cities, formerly overrun with graft and various kinds of political dishonesty. The good work has fairly begun, and as a train, slowly starting, gathers momentum with every turn of the wheel, so the cause under whose banner Hoch, Folk and Jerome are fighting, gathers new recruits every hour. Under the leadership of Roosevelt, a man not afraid to express public opinion, men flock together as working units, no longer hesitating to speak their minds. Where such a movement will end, no one can foretell, but that its result will be of the most crucial importance to our future, who hesitates to believe.Athletics has received its share of attention of late. True sport is being emphasized as never before, and the brutal elements of various games are being eliminated as rapidly as possible.The demand for the broadening of ideas in religion has become involved in the onward march of this movement
quality in the character of our nation.
Further than that, the people are wearied
of men who testify belief in one thing and preach another. They must stand close by their definition of religion and Christianity. We are realizing more and more that religion is so intertwined
with the other activities of our existence, that it must not be treated alone,
but must be considered in its proper relationship to these.Greatest of all, however, is the crisis
in the circles of finance which we are now facing. Money-getting has been regarded hitherto as a cold science into which no sentiment could be introduced.
Now we have turned over in the financial ledger the debit page, long since yellow and musty from disuse. Horrified at the crime therein revealed, we are bringing to judgment men guilty of conspiracy, fraud and public theft, who fall
under exceedingly ill grace from their guilted seats in society.What, you ask, has brought about such a marvellous change? Delving deep for the causes of this vast moral movement, they are found to be nothing hitherto unexperienced in the world's history, but periodically recurring forces which center in a common source, the conscience. It is not surprising that we have so-called prophets who can predict happenings far in advance. They are but students of sociology who possess the uncommon power of being able to trace the activities of these forces, and to time their return.What are these forces? The greatest is that of public intolerance. Public endurance is limited. Voluntarily blinding ourselves for a time to surrounding evils, we are at last roused into action
by sudden and unexpected wickedness.
We sit idly by and watch time-honored
sports become more and more commercialized, men earning a living therefrom under false pretence. We gaze while underdevelops more and more latent brutality. Then some too flagrant case of unsportsmanlike conduct is brought directly to our notice, and there comes a revolution in sport.There is always, however, in a period
of this nature, some incentive to reform
which is a product of the centuries,
which is the ultimate triumph of ceaselessly increasing liberality or some other evolved quality. Every generation leaves
some work for the next to complete.
Public opinion is content to wait for years, storing up evidence and power while in apparent inactivity. From this fact we can draw no conclusion but that any extensive reform movement is cumulative in its nature. Single branches of civil or moral laws may be followed by no immediate result, but when several cases have accumulated, then they are always sooner or later, severely punished
in some way. For instance, an athlete may not be apparently injured by some great strain or overexertion, yet often after several such, his constitution is impaired for life, and as it requires a long time for cumulative nature of public action to become apparent, so it takes great force to arouse public opinion. In other words, there is a great amount of inertia to be overcome. Years are necessary to overcome this inertia, but when the American people are roused to action, their force is incalculable, irresistible and overwhelming.Those who regard the recent exposure of guilty insurance officials as the cause
of the financial investigation and reform,
those who consider a particular declaration of some prominent minister the reason for the revising of those harmful,
narrow and prejudiced document known
as creeds, or who think football rules
are remodelled for some few unsports-manlike or brutal acts, are all sadly mistaken. These minor influences can all be retraced to the public conscience. Do not think me unliberal when I say that all reform is conscientiousness, arrived long after schedule time. For what is it which makes you, who have boys or girls, punish a disobedience against your inclinations, after passing by a former instance? It is your conscience, which says "I must do my duty by them, however much it hurts me." By "hurts" you mean mental grief. But when the public conscience says "hurts," it refers tothe time, strength, and money sacrificed to reform not only by the government,
but also by those heroic individuals who devote their lives to the service of others.The United States is as yet but a child in age as compared to other nations. This is at most only the second great wave of reform which has swept over the country. We are entirely without experience in facing a crisis of this nature wherein not merely our material,
but also our moral welfare is concerned.
Notwithstanding this fact, we have wisely refused to follow the example of many nations by experimenting with the common welfare. That would be a sacrilege—nay, more, an unpardonable sin,
to imperil the lives of seventy million human beings by wild experiments. The child has again been proven the father of the man, at least in statesmanship.
Our besighted leaders have not tried to remedy existing evils by negative methods, by making counter-moves. They have gone straight to the roots of matters by removing the causes, by positive methods. Who is the better physician—
he who cures your illness, or he who shows you how to prevent, how not to have the illness? Attorney Jerome, after driving out of office, grafters, ring-
politicians and hoodlars, is trying to pass laws preventing such men from ever again holding any public office. Not only is he trying, but he will succeed,
for has he not the entire American people at his back? And do we, whose forefathers were strong enough to throw off
the yoke of England, lack the moral courage to overcome and cast down that hundred-headed monster, the political machine?And in the struggle, our St. George's sword must be the law courts. We have found to our cost that the public as a whole cannot say to the trusts, "We'll bring you to terms by refusing to patronize you." We cannot fight them on their own ground. They control theMAX L. HOLMES, Class Orator.
(Photo by Moore)necessities of life. But in the law-courts,
where, under the principles of our government, a five dollar tax payer stands
with equal rights beside the one thousand dollar tax payer, we can and will prove them guilty of extortion, bribery
and public theft.And now the condition of affairs, and the absolute necessity of reform have been brought face to face with each and every one of you, that you cannot help
but realize it, you must see the demand
made on you. You may say, "The nation is strong enough to care for itself."
Not if each of us sits back and leaves
the work to the others. For as the success of a nation depends upon the success of the individual citizen, so is the success of this vast reform movement
dependent upon the individual effort made by each and every one of us. We,
members of the class of 1906, and you,
fathers, mothers and friends, have all a share of responsibility in the maintenance of the moral reawakening. Never again allow the conscience to slumber.
Perhaps you may protest, your own conscience has been alive to the necessity of reform. Nevertheless you are also responsible for your neighbor's doing his share. After performing our own duty,
we must do our utmost towards making others, by force if necessary, carry out theirs. We can never perfect ourselves,
but we can always better ourselves.
Thus there will ever be constant need of reform in some line or other. It must be continued and set upon a firm
basis which shall make it as perpetual an institution as is the constitution of the United States. Then some future Thanksgiving Day, when we are counting over our blessings, we shall be happy to number among them, the fact that the fire of our own moral conscience not only was kept alive in this great crisis,
but also through the energy of its heat,
has kindled into flame the consciences of our fellow citizens, so that out of the apparent demoralization of the present time there shall have arisen a noble realization of our highest ideals!

Read Fund Picnic.

A merry crowd of over a thousand children packed ten special cars last Tuesday morning at Nonantum square for the annual Read Fund picnic at Norumbega Park. The children were safely handled by a squad of police consisting of Sergeant Burke, and Officers A. M. Fuller, Conroy, Quilly, S. Z. Burke, Mariner, O'Halloran, Allen, Dugan and Hughes, and got away to the noise of horns, cow bells and tongues.

Arriving at the Park a stamper ensued for the merry go round and that long suffering machine was untidily burdened until noon and the call for lunch. Caterer Bova served a lunch of sandwiches, doughnuts, bananas, ice cream, cake and lemonade, the crowd being handled in three relays and there being enough for all. Between lunch and the hour for the stage performance visits were made to the Zoo and the other attractions of the Park and after an enjoyable theatre program the party again took their special cars and arrived home in safety about 5.30 P. M. The picnic was in charge of Master Frank W. Chase of the Bigelow school.

Eager-Stevens.

At Berkeley Temple, Boston, Wednesday evening, Miss Caroline Blanch Stevens of Newton became the bride of Mr. Sumner Withington Eager of West Newton. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock in the presence of a few hundred friends and relatives, by Rev. Allen A. Stockdale, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. William S. Kelsey, a former associate pastor.

The bride wore a dress of white laced-down, trimmed with lace, a long illusion veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her brother Mr. Eugene A. Stevens. The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Isabel Eager, sister of the groom, had a gown of white point d'esprit over Nile green silk, and carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Mr. Sidney B. Thomas of West Newton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs Peter C. Ross of Brighton, John P. Stevens of Boston, Henry T. Richardson of Brookline and Joseph N. Lovell of West Newton. An informal reception followed in the church parlors, the decorations being laurel, mock orange and foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Eager will reside at 147 Charlesbank road, Newton.

Carter-Waterhouse.

The New Church on Highland avenue, Newtonville, beautified with palms, ferns, hydrangeas, and peonies, was the scene of a brilliant wedding last evening, when Miss Annie Isabel Waterhouse, the daughter of Mrs. Francis A. Waterhouse of Newtonville, became the bride of Mr. Richard Burrage Carter, son of Mrs. Helen B. Carter of the same village. The bride wore a gown of white messaline, with Brussels point lace and her maid of honor, Miss Leslie C. Carter of Newtonville wore a dress of pink liberty silk. There were no bridesmaids.

Mr. George P. Moten of St. Paul, Minn. was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs Philip W. Carter, Winthrop L. Carter, of West Newton, W. Walcott Carter of Newtonville, Malcolm Lang, S. R. Wrightington, F. W. Fosdick of Boston, Gifford LeClear of Waban and Percy A. Hutchinson of Cambridge. A reception followed at the Waterhouse residence which was decorated with greenery, hydrangeas, peonies and pink roses. After a wedding trip to Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Carter will reside at 201 Highland avenue, Newtonville, and at home to their friends on Nov. 8 and 12.

St. John's Day.

Gethsemane Commandry Knights Templar observed St. John's Day last Monday, as the guests of Cambridge Commandry. Under command of Eminent Sir Dr. W. F. Jarvis, 125 words formed part of the parade at Cambridge and then took the steamer South Shore for Hotel Pemberton where an enjoyable dinner was served. Six Commandries united for the occasion, and as each had a band, there was music all day long. After dinner, the steamer carried the party on a trip to Minot's light, thence across Massachusetts Bay to Manchester and home along the south shore. A superb ship of a suitably engraved silver match box was presented to each Sir Knight.

Union Services at Newtonville.

During the month of July, beginning next Sunday, July 1st, instead of the Sunday following as has been announced, the Central Congregational and Methodist churches will hold their union services in the Methodist church building and Mr. Stocking will preach.

Serious Accident Wednesday Night.

Miss Mary V. Healy of Curve street West Newton while crossing Washington street near the West Newton engine house, was knocked down by an automobile owned and driven by Mr. Chas. S. Demmon of Newtonville. Miss Healy's dress caught on the machine and she was dragged some distance before it could be stopped. She was removed to the Newton Hospital where her injuries were found to be a broken leg, a broken arm and a fractured skull. Miss Healy had started across the street to meet her brother and evidently became confused, turned back again directly in front of the auto, which was attempting to pass back of her.

Newton.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Mount Holyoke College Mrs. Dennis B. O. Bourdon of No. 1 Billings park, was elected a member of Trustees.

Last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Wagner and the Lasell "gym" the young people of Abundant were invited by Prof. Bragdon and Mrs. Chas. Wagner for a social evening.

From the house the guests went up to the "gym" where Charles Wagner and Miss Venett Herron led the grand march. Miss Gertrude Bourne played for the dancing upon the piano.

Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Bragdon acted as matrons. During the intermission Miss Van Hollan sang "Smiling Susan," "We Won't Get Home Until Morning" and a German lullaby.

At eleven o'clock the dancers adjourned to the "annex" where the matrons and friends served them with ice cream and cake. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all, and after bidding goodbye and a happy vacation to the hostess, they gave three hearty Abundant cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Wagner and Prof. and Mrs. Bragdon.

Mt. Mansfield.

There is a mountain in northern Vermont known to moderns as Mount Mansfield, because it is in what was once
the town of Mansfield, which town long ago was divided between Underhill and Stowe. The old Indian name of the mountain is said to have been a lost
word signifying "Nose and Chin," on account of the fancied resemblance of
the horizon outline of it to an upturned
human face, whether viewed from the east or west. The resemblance is so strong that it takes but a little stretch
of the imagination to trace it, the nose
being near the south end and the chin
at the north end. To be sure, the nose appears like an exaggerated pug, and
the chin is pretty massive, but if you consider that the head is well turned back and the chin proportionately elevated you have it quite clearly.

The summit of this highest peak of the Green mountain range is within easy reach of anyone who is strong enough to climb into a carriage. Few mountain peaks of any height can be ascended without a vast expenditure of physical force—so great an expenditure that many constitutions that might have been kept fairly strong with proper care,
have been wrecked by it, the "spirit"
having driven the "flesh" unduly.

It costs but two dollars to make the round trip by carriage from Stowe to the Summit House on Mount Mansfield, and the Summit Hotel rate is only two dollars a day. A Mount Mansfield surprise and the views from this matchless
Vermont mountain cost not a cent.

The scenes spread before the visitor
to the mountain top need not be described, even if it were possible; how, on a clear day, one may see the White Mountains sixty miles to the east; the Adirondacks marking the western horizon, with Lake Champlain in the foreground to the west; Montreal to the north; the twin giant, Camel's Hump,
with a tumbled sea of smaller mountains, to the south; and a wonderful nearer landscape on all sides. Perhaps you will be caught there in the mist,
and be unable to see more than a few feet, and then you can stand on the brink of some precipice, of which there is no lack, and listen to the mysterious and solemn murmur that comes up from the depths; perhaps you will see what the writer saw, a sea of clouds, white as the underside of a freshly sheared fleece
of wool, stretching away from your feet
to the west, covering Lake Champlain
and the whole world back to the purple Adirondack line on the horizon, a sea
of clouds, whose billows were always changing with solemn stateliness. No one ever saw exactly the same scene
twice, for the variety is as infinite as eternity, but whatever one sees will be worth seeing from daybreak, when the world rises slowly from darkness, to night, when it sinks back again, slowly
and solemnly, as if eternity had plenty of time.

Mansfield is a rich field for the geologist, for there are abundant markets of the great glacier and the eternal grinding of the mills of the gods. Huge stones are scattered over the summit, some of them triggered up with a big rock, as if some company of giants had pried up
one side and chucked a rock underneath
for it to rest on. There are great masses of loose rocks that the glacier evidently unloaded or got tired of pushing; Titanic forces have been at work here,
tumbling rock masses as big as houses
about as if they were pebbles. There is no end to this sort of thing, and if the mist were at its thickest there is plenty under foot to interest one who has the gift of seeing "sermons in stones." Birds sing around the summit, too, the white-throated sparrow being much in evidence, as well as the junco, the myrtle warbler and many others which a bird expert will find no difficulty in identifying. The flora is interesting, too, many varieties growing here, at an elevation of 4,500 ft; perfect ferns no longer than your finger nail, which, on the lowlands, grow rank and big, and many rare shrubs, plants and trees, and the air is so laden with the healing balsam
that you actually taste it.

If you have never been on a mountain
and have any desire to do so, and if you are feeble or constitutionally tired then go to Mansfield. Nobody can tell you anything about it; you must see it for yourself to get any idea of it.

Blakemore - Alden.

A simple home wedding without bridesmaids or best man, was that which united Miss Priscilla Endicott Alden
and Mr. Arthur Walker Blakemore, two popular young people of Newton, at the Alden residence, 547 Centre street, 101
Tuesday evening. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. Adelbert
L. Hudson of the Channing church, officiating, the bride wearing white satin and Point Duchesse lace. A reception followed until 10 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs.
Blakemore being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John Eaton Alden and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Blakemore.
The ushers were Messrs O. Weld Richardson of Boston, Stillman P. Williams of Roxbury, Frederick B. Taylor and Raymond A. Blakemore of Brookline
and John T. Alden of Newton.

Rev. George A. Thayer of Cincinnati,
O., assisted Rev. Mr. Hudson in tying the nuptial knot.

Mr. and Mrs. Blakemore will reside
at 38 Bennington street.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

Like the crash of contending armies,
or the thunder-bolts of the angry heavens came the close of legislation last week, for, as the investigation closed,
the reputation of men crackled as smitten glass, while other men with fear and trembling awaited the coming of future events as one dreads an approaching evil.

Taken as a whole, the session which has just closed will compare favorably
with recent gatherings at the State House. To be sure, it has enacted some reprehensible legislation, and engaged in some dubious transactions, but the sum and substance of its legitimate
work will commend itself to thoughtful and intelligent observers. It has torn down and it has builded, and its addition to statutory law will have to be hereafter judged by the amount of usefulness that it may contribute to the public good.

The glaring inconsistencies of the session were the passage of the Touraine Bill, as a piece of special legislation,
and the passage of seven matters which were afterwards vetoed, as illustrating carelessness in legislation. The credible side of the winter's work has been first of all, in point of importance, and last of all in execution, the bribery investigation which brought to a close the labors of the session, although two or three matters were necessarily taken up after the investigation closed. In spite of its many errors, the investigation has brought many good results, which, let us hope, will be lasting in the conduct of affairs on Beacon Hill. It was a bitter pill but the pungency will pass away, so far as the House is concerned, while the good effects will remain to strengthen future bodies as they apply themselves
to the important work of making and amending statutes.

A clearer vision of the seriousness of the duties of a legislator; the relations of the press to legislation; a truer comprehension of the lobby, and a better measure of the viciousness of the enemies of the Massachusetts legislature,
has been obtained as the outcome of this painful experience. Let us hope that future members of the general court will profit as they shall be told the story of the investigation; its inception, its progress and its conclusion on June 23rd.

Many incidents and happenings mark
the progress of the debate in the House
over the committee report and recommendation, and long before the conclusion it became manifest that it would have been better to have had the hearings public, to a degree at least, enough
so to afford the accused parties an opportunity to participate in the proceedings. Of course there can be but one opinion regarding the justice of the action of the House as a result of the investigation, and yet it must be conceded
that there are extenuating circumstances.
There are certain conditions existing at the State House which undoubtedly account, in a measure, for the bribery agitation on the Budget Shop Bill. It would be a very difficult thing to fix upon the primary causes which lead to these conditions, but the conditions themselves
are too apparent to be lost sight of.

What led Gethro, Swig, and others to place themselves in the position in which the investigation left them? That question, of course, cannot be answered in a single paragraph, yet, if one were to undertake to so answer, it might be as follows: The careless and indifferent manner in which legislation is placed upon the Statute books and the lack of seriousness which marks the average legislator. The business man, who is temporarily a member of the General Court, would never think of allowing his business to be conducted as he sees the business of the State carried on. No more universal maxim is accepted in commercial life than is found in three words, "business is business." It is one of the clearest cut propositions in the language, and no more important affair
engages the attention of men in the business world than the affairs of state, yet
we find legislation, from the committee hearing to the Blue Book, marked by about as slipshod and careless a manner
as could be well imagined. It can be understood what effect such methods must have upon such minds as are too often found in their tank and file of a legislative body.

The sensational statement issued to the people of Massachusetts by Ex-Representative Gethro Saturday night is absolutely without significance as it stands. Of course if he should furnish hereafter documentary proof of his allegations, the matters would assume a more serious aspect, but the words of Gethro can have hereafter no weight as they could not be taken in a court of law.
He opens his statement with a frank and shameless avowal that he is a liar, and that he has rendered himself liable to conviction as a perjurer. It is said that he has furnished the District Attorney
with a list of twenty-two names of members who are as guilty as he, but it is safe to say that they never could be convicted upon his unsupported testimony.
The statement itself could never have been written by Gethro and there are certain earmarks about it to indicate that it was edited, at least, by one of the contributors of Everybody's Magazine.

One is led, as he contemplates this whole bribery business, to the conviction that Governor Guild ought to send in at least one more message to the legislature, calling attention to the importance of regulation methods at the State House. We have numberless commissions, whose duties are to regulate public service corporations and interest themselves in looking after the public welfare generally. How would it do to have the Governor recommend a recess committee to advise ways and means to improve the character of service under the gilded dome?

Any High School pupil who has reached the age of fifteen years, and who is unable to pronounce the name of Chevalier de St. Sauveur can yet be on a par
in that respect with the House of Representatives, for during a long debate
which occupied half of the afternoon one day last week on the bill authorizing the erection of a monument to the memory of that French officer, every speaker confessed his inability to mention the subject by name and Speaker Cole himself assured Chairman Ward that he could speak for the second time on the measure, if he would not undertake to pronounce the name. One or two members in the course of their remarks, referred to "the Frenchman with the un-pronounceable name." It would seem almost incredible to find a body of two hundred and forty men assembled in Massachusetts who had among their number anybody who would stumble
over pronouncing the name of Chevalier
de St. Sauveur, but if there was anyone in the House that day, and there was a very full attendance, who could have risen in his seat and relieved the different speakers in their dilemma, the possessor of that secret power hid his light under a bushel. It would be almost a contempt of court to publish the names of the members who took part in that debate, for the list contains the names of college graduates.

The report was again current about
the State House last week that the Hon.
William Sarsfield McNary was going to decline a renomination to Congress, but there were few who took the trouble to put the report into their scrapbook. Mr.
McNary doesn't belong to the class that was brought up on the declining bottle.
About the time that William Sarsfield lets go in Washington, watch to see Augustus P. of Hamilton lay aside his robes of office. It was under the gilded dome that both these gentlemen discovered that they were built of congressional timber, and gently broke the news to their constituency. It is apparent that there are members of the present legislature who have made the same startling discovery regarding themselves.

The corrupt practice bill, which fell between the two Houses a few days ago,
was a curious product from the first, and
every amendment that was added to it, increased its singularity. Its evident purpose was to legislate honesty into political affairs as they relate to commercial life. The bill was born too good, and of course was doomed to an early demise.
Like its author, it laid claim to a sort of superiority by nature, but it had a birth
mark that pointed to the legislative centery, where it was duly interred. "No flowers" and no complaints.

The last in the series of concerts will be held at the Newton Boat Club, Riverside, Saturday evening, June 30, at 7:30 p. m. The American Watch Co.
band, John M. Flockton, conductor, will

ers: Sousa, Kela Bela, Hall, Hazel, Herbert, Allen, Dalbey, Moret, Rollinson, Francis, Blanke and Blou.

EDGAR J. BLISS.

Mention the name of Hathaway to a resident of Cambridge and surrounding towns and the first thought is bread;
not merely bread, but excellent bread,
for the word excellence explains the success of the progressive firm of C. F.
Hathaway & Son.

To the residents of this section it is unnecessary to dwell upon the quality of the products, for they know from many years of experience that if it is made by Hathaway, it is pure, wholesome and good.

Since 1875 when the business was established, many additions have been made to the plant, made necessary by a steadily increasing business.

The most modern machinery and infact everything that would tend to improving their products have been added to the factories.

Hathaway's Celebrated Cream Bread
enjoys a most natural popularity, and
for on other reason than its goodness.
Twice each day the grocers are furnished with a supply of this fine bread,
fresh from the ovens, and while Cambridge is sleeping a large force of expert bakers are busily engaged preparing the supply of good things for the morning deliveries.

Only the best of everything is good enough for the making of Hathaway products, and no money nor pains are spared to maintain the high standard of quality.

In a word, the secret of the success of this firm is quality.
They also maintain a plant in Waltham, which is in a very flourishing condition.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C., June 23, 1906.

Now that type of canal to be built at Panama has been settled, it would seem that there is nothing in the way of quick action. The President is reported to have told the commission, "Now cut loose and dig." This is what the whole country will be expecting of them, and with all the money that has been spent in preparation, and this country has not been niggardly, it would seem that the real work ought to go on. There is one serious contingency. The railroad interests are as much opposed to the canal as ever. They cannot hope to defeat it in the long run, but there are ways still in which they can obstruct and delay. They may be depended on to hamper appropriations whenever they can, to gouge the government all they can when it comes to selling supplies, for the same men who control the great trans-continental roads are the dominant factors in the great industries from which the Canal Commission will have to draw its supplies. They will also be on the lookout always for the least breath of scandal in the management or the disbursements in Panama. And if they could only stir up a scandal and a long winded official inquiry into doings on the isthmus, it would suit their purpose and hinder the work more effectively than anything else. Little doubt is expressed at the War Department however that the work is in such shape that it can now be pushed effectively. And it is believed that the organization is such that will produce the best results from a reasonable expenditure.

In all probability the Interstate Commerce Commission's investigation into the coal and oil carrying roads is concluded for the summer. After hearing the last of this week Mr. Jas. G. Gardner of the Erie Railroad, the Commission adjourned the hearings without fixing a day for resumption. This was taken to mean that there would be no more hearings till fall. For the past three months the commission has had to largely neglect its regular work while carrying out the mandate of the Tillman-Gillespie joint resolution, and it has accumulated plenty of evidence to keep it busy all summer collating and arranging it in form of a report. Some of the conditions that have been revealed have been scandalous. There has been all sorts of graft and crookedness discovered among officials both high and low.

But the last witness heard, Mr. Gardner, said a word for the railroad ownership of coal lands that was one of the most important said on that side during the entire hearing. He pointed out that the very existence of a railroad depended on its fuel supply, first on having a steady supply and then on getting it at the lowest figure so as to curtail the heaviest of all its operating expenses. He added some "hot air" on the subject of the public getting the benefit of the saving in this direction, but that question is rather beside the mark. What he did point out however was that the road he represented as a coal expert owned and operated four coal companies and made no secret of it. They were able to draw from these mines about half of the three million tons used annually. He said that without them, the road would be almost crippled and that they were looking for more coal lands and would buy present rate, they would in the course of time. He pointed out further that the roads coal consumption was growing all the time and that if it kept up at the present rate, the y would in the course of the next generation, be using 10,000,000 tons of coal yearly and by this time the present mines would be about worked out. He said therefore that the ownership of coal lands by railroads, for fuel purposes at least, was justifiable and that it was a necessity that would have to be reckoned with in framing any law on the subject.

It has been definitely settled that the President will leave for Oyster Bay within two days after Congress adjourns. He has had a strenuous winter and a more strenuous spring and he is about tired out or as near it as such a glutton for work ever gets. The Roosevelt children are already safe at the summer home under the care of the governess and the servants and the President will follow them with Mrs. Roosevelt as soon as he can get rid of the national legislature.

Flower Day.

The eighth annual distribution of flowers by the Boston Branch of the Massachusetts Floral Emblem Society to the poor children of Boston, will take place July Fourth, on Boston Common. That this feature may attain the success it has met in past years, the Society invite the co-operation of florists and all others interested. Flowers sent to the North or South Terminal Station, care of Armstrong's Transfer Co. will be delivered free. See that packages are plainly marked Boston Branch Floral Emblem Society. Contributions of flowers or money may also be sent to the Treasurer, Lue Stuart Wadsworth, 19 Greenwich Park, Boston.

Flowers may be sent to the tent of Boston Branch on the Common, Tuesday, or early Wednesday morning, July 3rd and 4th.

Members and friends are invited to attend the distribution. July Fourth, 1906, 11 to 12 o'clock.

Norumbega Park.

Norumbega Park has enjoyed no little degree of popularity in seasons past because its zoological garden contained so many fine specimens of wild and domestic animals. Life having the appearance of being perfectly contented and well cared for and so encompassed in their enclosures that they seem very much as one would find them in their native haunts. The grand floral canoe parade which was to have been held last Saturday was postponed until the coming Saturday afternoon on account of the rain and the same arrangement has been made to have the head of the procession pass Norumbega Park just at the close of the vaudeville program in the grand covered open air theatre. The Norumbega Park Company has contributed a handsome canoe and paddle as one of the prizes for this carnival and it has been on exhibition on the restaurant veranda for the past week or two where it has attracted much attention.
